His Last Hope Realized. [From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.] In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhosa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhosa Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

Drift of Opinion.

How often men pass their oppor tunities because of the false idea that small opportunities are not worth while. Men frequently forego delightful pleasure trips because they haven't time to go anywhere worth while. It is a mistake. If you have just one or two days to spare-and there is no man who cannot get a day, now and then, you can take a trip; not to Europe to be sure, but there are worse places than county-wherever you may live. The first Hartford man struck out. but the next three filled the bases or errors, and Dever was hit by a pitched ball forcing in a run. Then two struck out. It was three straight in the second, but in the third Bartford bunched three hits and scored a run, making the score 2 to 0.

The Quincys got two men on bases through errors in the fourth and one cored, and they were blanked in the ext two. Dunn hit a long fly in the fifth to left field and two crossed the plate before it was declared a foul. One man was also left on third in the next inning.

The visitors added two in the fourth on three hits and an error, and two in the fifth on Dever home run, Morris two bagger and a single.

Again in the fifth and sixth the Hartords batted heavy and scored 2 and uns, making the totals 9 to 1.

Dunn went in to pitch for the Quincys in the seventh and the visitors did not make any more runs. In the three innings six men struck out and only one safe hit was made.

The Quincys meanwhile played a plucky uphill game, sending eighteen your own State; than even your own innings. Unfortunately two were left on bases in the seventh and two in the ninth. Covered Up Shortage For Years

Dover, N. H., June 1.-The bank commissioners of New Hampshire announce treasurer of the Strafford Five Cents faulter to the amount of $15,452.43. The officials of the bank have placed the facts in the hands of Attorney General Eastman. Mathes has an accident insurance policy for $7500 which he has will also be placed at the bank's disposal. In addition he was under $50,-000 bonds furnished by a Baltimore guaranty company. Mathes, who had poned.

President Brown of the bank first had his attention called to the irregularities when complaints began to come in from depositors that they had more money on deposit in the bank than their passbooks gave them credit for. Mr. Brown went to Milton and asked the treasurer about these discrepancie. and the latter admitted to him that he had taken in all $15,400, which was more thorough examination of the depositors' passbooks. Mathes said he first began to take the money in 1890. About that time a friend gave him $1000 with which to speculate, the profits to be shared jointly. He speculated with it and lost, and i

HARRY ELKES KILLED New Cycle Track at Charles River

Park Receives Baptism of Blood Cambridge, Mass., June 1.-Harry lower of the United States, was kliled and Will Stinson, another well known pace follower, and F. A. Gately, a well known motor-steersman, were seriously injured in an accident at the initial meeting at the new Charles river track. The track is a five-lap track and the principal attraction was a 20-mile motor-paced race between Elkes, Stinson. Walthour and Moran.

In the fifth mile Stinson's tire burst and Walthour's motor went wrong and Elkes went to the front. His time for the five miles was 6m. 21 1-5s, beating Lowell, Mass., June 1.-The strength the world's record. In the seventh mile Stinson broke a chain of his machine. Elkes was then well in the lead, his time for 10 miles being 12m. 303-5s., still well ahead of the world's record. At 15 miles Elkes time was 18m. 4s., another world's record. In the first of the 16th mile Elkes' rear tire exploded, when on the back stretch where the track is banked at an angle of about 33 degrees. He tried to stop the machine and in doing so was thrown over the handle bars, his wheel sliding down the steep embankment directly in front of Stinson's motor, which was manned by Gately. The heavy motor struck Elkes, throwing Gately and the machine completely over him, while Stinson, who was following, fell in the bunch. The track attendants rushed to Elkes, found him his head. Stinson cut severely about the head and face, while Gately's foot was split open by contact with the machine, the great toe of the right foot being nearly amputated.

Elkes was removed at once from the track, but was dead before he left the grounds. Stinson and 'Moran were taken to the training quarters, where their wounds were dressed by an emergency surgeon, and later they were removed to the Cambridge hospital by the police.

Arrested For Assault Salem, Mass., June 2.-The arrest of Everett K. McDonald, a Boston ex pressman, following an altercation with a waiter in a Front street restaurant last night, so aroused the sympathy of a crowd which was attracted by the trouble that a collection was taken up on the spot, a bail commissioner secured and the man released and allowed to continue his journey home. McDonald had been to Beverly with his team and on the return went to the saloon for a lunch. He was not satisfied with the food served and in the argument which followed George Washington, a colored waiter in the lunch room, received a blow in the face. The proprietor then interfered, had McDonald ejected from the place and caused his arrest. A number of persons present during the trouble claimed Mc Donald was not the man who struck Washington and so aroused the sympathy of the crowd that they followed to grant the new scale of wages adopted the officer and his prisoner to the police oy the Marine Engineers' Beneficial station. Bangor on the question of this city oining with Brewer in the purchase of the property of the Bangor Bridge company was almost 9 to 1 against purchase. In March, 1902, the vote on the same question was: Yes, 1665; no, 910. The matter will come up in the law court June 10, when arguments will be made on a petition of the bridge company for a writ of mandamus to the vote of 1902, paying four-fifths of the purchase price.

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held Monday evening. After the reports of the treasurer and other officers, the nominating committee reported and the following gentlemen were elected directors: for three years. G. H. Brown, E. D. Gourd, W. H. Mitchell, A. D. Albee, H. B. Bailey, W. F. Cummings; for two years, E. King, N. G. Nickerson, Dr. E. R. Johnson, A. N. Weeden, G. E. Thomas, F. W. Crane; for one year, K. L. Tappenden, L. H. Turner, W. T. Cumming, G. H. Page, J. B. Cornish and Quincy. W. T. Isaae.

An amendment was introduced providing that the board of directors be increased from eighteen to twenty-four. The association adjourned to meet again Monday evening, July 6.

The directors met immediately after adjournment of the Association meeting and elected H. B. Bailey as president; E. D. Gourd as recording secretary; and W. F. Cummings as treasurer.

Gainesville, it is stated, can take care

The physicians who have assisted in every conceivable manner.

The local physicians who gave first aid to the injured say the sights were horrible beyond description. Gainesville has only 12 local physicians and their services were found to be en tirely inadequate to the situation.

At a meeting of physicians, news paper men and citizens of Gainesville, a relief committee was formed, with James R. Grain of Atlanta as chairman. Supplies will be rushed into the stricken city as rapidly as possible. Gainesville feels able to take care of the immediate needs of the suffering, but To treat these eruptions with unless supplies are received much distress is likely to result, as the families visited by death and mutilation were almost without exception dependent upon their daily labor for support.

The property loss, it is now estimated, will reach about $300,000.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Sparrow's Revenge

One day the squirrel was feeling in a bad humor, which is not nice in little squirrels any more than it is in little boys and girls, and when the sparrow was trying to take a little nap on a twig of the tree the squirrel shook who have tried to drive wagons laden the limbs so hard that the poor sleepy head could get no rest. The sparrow agreed to this, and the squirrel hurried down the tree trunk. Now, it happened that the sparrow had a nest in the top of the tree, and down to the squirrel Mr. Sparrow picked out the biggest egg in the nest.

"Throw them straight!" cried the squirrel. "I'm going to catch them in my teeth!" And he opened his mouth as wide as he could.

Then the sparrow dropped the egg. Oh, my! Oh, me!

It struck right square in the squirrel's mouth, and the shell was crushed into a thousand pieces. The white of the egg and the yolk of the egg splashed all over the squirrel from head to heel, and the worst of it was that his eyes were filled with the egg and he could no more see than a blind man.

Then the squirrel ran away into the tagious diseases. People of all classes grass, and the sparrow laughed and are huddled together in houses not said, "That serves you right for treating me bad." Then he closed his litthe eyes and took a nice long sleep. of diphtheria is reported from the

It is utterly impossible to form any stimate of the number of dead in Kansas City. There have been manifold stories of how boats laden with people have been seen to sink; there have been reports without end of bodies seen floating on wreckage, of men with their household effects against certain death in the swift current and gone down in the flood. The majority of these stories lack proof, however, and even if true, the proof may never be had. There is no possible way of getting at the names of the dead, and no chance of forming any estimate that however, that the number of fatalities

ANOTHER COAL STRIKE

Among the Probabilities of the Near Future

STAND OF THE OPERATORS

In Refusing to Recognize Members of Miner& Board of Conciliation Brings Matters to a Crisis-Union Will Adhere to Its Present Attitude

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 3 .- The executive boards of the United Mine orkers in session here have endorsed the selection of their three district residents on the board of conciliation athorized by the strike commission, nd if these members are not recognized by the operators the executive oards contemplate calling a convention of mine workers to declare a general uspension of work until their members are given recognition.

The district presidents, as a result of their meeting, issued the following statement last night on the dispute: "At a joint meeting of the executive boards of the anthracite region here the members selected to represent the mine workers of each district on the conciliation board reported that the representatives of the operators re fused to recognize them or the mine workers' credentials, or accept them es members of the conciliation board. They reported that the operators objected on the ground that the mine workers' representatives were ap pointed by their organization as it exists in each district. The award of the commission relative to the manner of selecting the members of the conciliation board provides as follows:

" That is to say, if there shall be a division of the whole region into three districts, in each of which there shall exist an organization representing a majority of the mine workers of each district, one member of said boards of onciliation shall be appointed by each of said organizations and three other ersons shall be appointed by the oprators, the operators in each of said stricts appointing one person." "The district boards are still of the pinion that they appointed their repsentatives as provided for by the sec of the award and voted unani ously to readirm their former action he district officers have been exceedigly anxious to have the conciliation oard form and meet for the purpose of djusting many grievances which have ccumulated and to this end have been bending their energies. The officers have advised, where grievances grose, that the men would not strike, and where strikes occurred ordered the men back to work pending a decision by ne conciliation board, which they oped would soon be formed in no rdance with the commission's award. "Two questions were under con sideration by the meeting-one is to make application to the national president of the mine workers to issue an order for a general suspension of work throughout the whole anthracite region to continue until the operators agree to adjust existing grievances and live up to the award of the anthracite strike commission; the second is that a delegate convention be called to consider the advisability of taking the above ac-

Another meeting will be held to decide as to whether a suspension of work shall be ordered.

A district officer says that every man will come out of the mines if he is ordered to do so. "The 30,000 men in the Schuylkill region who were ordered back to work," he said, "will not hesitate to come out again, and there are neute grievances in every region which will cause a suspension if such a step is decided upon. The district officers have counselled the miners to remain at work pending the settlement of the trouble by the conciliation board, but if this board cannot be organized there is nothing else for them, but to quit."

INVESTIGATORS' FINDINGS

Untimely Consultations the Point of Guilt of the Gloucester Senator-Charges on Other Matters Deemed Not Proved at the Hearing

Boston, June 8.-The special committee of the senate appointed by President Jones under the order offered by Senator W. T. A. Fitzgerald and adopted in the senate on May 8, to investigate statements publicly made by George J. Raymond, a Boston storekeeper, alleging atttempted bribery and blackmail in connection with the merchandise-in-bulk bill, made its report in the senate yesterday afternoon. The report was unanimous. Senator Harry C. Foster of Gloucester was the senator accused by Mr. Raymond at the hearings. The committee finds:

1.-That the senator from the third Essex district, Mr. Foster, by consulting with and advising a party whom he knew to be interested in legislation pending before the senata of which he was a member, in the manner and under the circumstances set forth and admitted in the evidence, a stenographic copy of which is on file in the state library, was guilty of indiscreet, imprudent and injudicious conduct.

2.-That the senator from the third Essex district, Mr. Foster, by introducing and recommending the employment of counsel to a party whom he knew to be interested in legislation pending before the senate of which he was a member, in the manner and under the circumstances set forth and admitted in the evidence, was guilty of conduct unbecoming a member of the Massachusetts senate and which merits its condemnation.

3.-That the charges as to all other matters before the committee were not The report, exclusive of the three foregoing paragraphs, is as follows: The special committee appointed by the senate to investigate certain statements and charges made by one George work may continue for a considerable and qualifications of members of the senate in their official capacity and charging corrupt and immoral conduct in relation to their official duties reports as follows:

The committee held in all five public hearings. All witnesses were duly summoned and examined under oath.

The privilege and immunity attaching to witnesses who testify before legislative committees tending in some degree to encourage an interested vitness to make irresponsible or unfounded statements suggested, indeed required the committee to confine each witness to testimony of occurrences or transthe graduating exercises of the law de- actions within their personal knowladhered to the rules excluding all testimony save that which would be competent under the established laws of evidence. The public was given full opportunity to present all such competent testimony. No testimony of misconduct was presented in relation to any one except the senator from the Third Middlesex district, Mr. Foster, which was concerring a transaction surviving appointee on the beach of that took place during his membership in the senate of 1902. The committee's jurisdiction lies within the field of its investigation, determination and report upon the conduct and qualifications of a member of the senate as such. The committee is of the opinion that it has not jurisdiction to determine and report upon the issue of any violation of the common or statutory law of the commonwealth, believing that the latter issue can be determined and adjudicated only in the courts constituted and established for government, has closed a treaty with the trial of such issues upon which such courts alone have jurisdiction.

It appears that Martin visited Mrs. Small Quincy. at Boston. Boston. at Quincy. early in the evening, while the latter was entertaining a young woman, and that he went out to get some ice cream. He returned a short time after and Mrs. Small refused to let him in. He then drew a revolver and fired through the door, the bullet striking the woman in the breast and inflicting a serious, but not fatal, wound. Young Martin ran out of the building. as he said, to fetch a doctor, but brought up in the arms of a policeman. He told the officer that a woman in the hotel had been shot by a man, but the officer detained him and sent him to the police station, where a revolver was found in his pocket. Heafterward admitted that he fired the shot.

The woman was taken to a hospital, where the bullet was extracted, and it is said that she probably will recover. Young Martin is a clerk in a grocery store also owned by his father.

Miners to Meet In Convention on June 15

CONTENTION OF OPERATORS

Ontlined In a Statement to the Press -Claim That Workmen's Representatives Were Appointed by Committee Without Authority

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 4.-The three anthracite boards of the United Mine Workers have issued a call for a joint convention of miners at Pottsville on June 15, for the purpose of determining whether or not a general suspension of work shall be declared.

The following signed statement was given to The Associated Press last evening as the operators' side of the controversy caused by the refusal of the operators' representatives on the conciliation board to accept the representatives of the United Mine Workers: "Referring to the official announcement of the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America as given in this morning's press, the contention of the operators' representatives elected to the board of conciliation is that the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America was not one of the questions submitted to the commission for decision; that Mr. Mitchell admitted this by appearing before the commission simply as a representative of the anthracite mine workers; that the award of the commission specifically asserted that the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America, as at present constituted. was inadvisable; that award No. 4, providing for the board of conciliation, lays down certain rules for the appointment of members of said beard.

"The representatives of the operators have been appointed strictly within the terms of said award, and there is no objection on their part to cordially accepting Messrs. Nicholls, Dettrey and Fahy as the representatives of the miners, providing that they are elected by a majority of the mine workers as specified in the award of the commistheir appearing as the official representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, appointed by an executive committee without authority for such an appointment.

"The operators' representatives feel from 69c. to $1.75 that it is highly important that the lat Bath and Gardiner. At Bath and formation of the board of conciliation be accepted by both interested parties as strictly in accordance with the award of the commission, in order that its rulings may be received without question and not be open to the criticism of having been made by a board not

When District President Fahy, the chairman of the miners' representatives on the conciliation board, was shown the statement of the operators' members on that board, he made the following statement to The Associated Press:

"There was no meeting of the stockholders of the coal companies called for the purpose of appointing the operators' side on the conciliation board, but the representatives of the stockholders, the officials of the company, met and selected their representatives. The mine workers selected their members, not by calling a meeting of all their members or stockholders, but by their organization, through their representatives as empowered by the rules and regulations of their organization which does exist as provided by the award of the coal strike commission. We raise no question as to the manner in which the operators selected their representatives and we at least hoped for the same treatment at their hands. Our undershalf stand on equal footing in every way on the board of conciliation."

MAINE FORESTS ABLAZE moke So Dense That the Sun Is Almost Obscured

Portland, Me., June 4.-Maine is burnng from one side to the other and in almost every section. Thousands of dollars' worth of property and valuable timberland are being destroyed hourly by forest fires and there is little prospect for changed conditions until rain has soaked the ground and woodlands. At least 30 fires have been reported and many others are raging.

The losses are especially the vicinity of Houlton, where a num ber of towns were threatened with destruction. The fire line at Bemis and Rangeley lakes extends from 10 to 12 miles and in some places is over two miles in depth. Other bad fires were Houlton the fire departments were on duty all night either fighting the flames or on call with horses and apparatus ready for an alarm. Not for years has western Maine been covered by such dense smoke as is pouring over the cities and towns of Cumberland and York counties. In Portland artificial light was necessary indoors the most of yesterday afternoon. The sun was almost obscured and appeared a carmine hue. Late in the afternoon cinders began falling. Never in the history of the state bare the woods been drier than at the present time. According to an official report only three-quarters of an inch of rain has fallen in Maine for eight weeks. The railroad comparies and land owners are unable to obtain chough men to protect their property and citizen volunteers are gladly received to help swell the fighting force. In northern Maine a number of special trains-were sent out last night, to be followed by others as fast as men are secured. None of the towns care to lend their fire-fighting apparatus, as calls are expected at any moment.

Thousand Men Fighting Flames Burlington, Vt., June 4.-Dispatches to the Free Press show that probably standing is that miners and operators | 1000 men are fighting forest fires in Vermont and yet thousands of acres of valuable timberland have been burned over and there is little prospect that the fires can be checked until rain occurs.

Conditions In Iowa

Des Moines, June 4.- The work of caring for the 5000 destitute food sufferers is still taxing the local committee to the atmost, but the committee has reaffirmed that there is no need of outside assistance. At Atlantic two families were discovered cooped up in their homes by the flood. For five days they had been compelled to sit on tables with no drinking water and practically nothing to eat. The river continues to fall rapidly.

Gainesville Recovering From Shock Gainesville, Ga., June 4 .- This city has practically recovered from the stupefying effects of Monday's terrible storm. With about 60 of the dead already buried and with the work of relief proceeding rapidly and methodically, the business of the community is going on as usual. The latest tabulation indicates that the death total will be between 85 and 90, the previous estimate of 100 given being somewhat

Good Afternoon

It has been known to a few for some weeks that the birthplace of President John Adams might be reproduced or an enlarged scale for the Massachusetts building at the Worlds Fair at St. Louis. Others have been suggested including the old Fairbanks house at Cambridge, the Old State House in State House on Bunker Hill.

Architect C. H. Walker, who will Wednesday that nothing whatever had workers together with the Lord. been decided as to the building which which the building is to be placed.

A Boston paper reports Mr. Walker to have said "It is recognized of course ful consideration to the matter that not important enough to be reproduced for such a purpose.'

Perhaps Mr. Walker is not familian with the birthplace of John "Adams, but that it is known to him as the "old Adams hosue." The Fairbanks house is noted mainly for its age, but the Adams house is more than an old house t is an historic house, the birthplace of the first Vice President of the United States, the first President from New England, and the only President from Massachusetts except his son ouse. John Adams was one of the Commis sioners to France in 1778, also an of the State government of Massachu setts. He was a commissioner at the treaty of peace with Great Britain and American Ambassador to the Court of St. James for some years. The birthplace of John Adams is mecca which attracts people from all over the country, and they enjoy its quaintness, its very large open fireplaces, the hinged mantle which shows the construction of the huge chimney, the room where John Adams was born, the brick showing the age of the house etc., etc. Westerners who never expect to visit Massachusetts would take pleasure in a reproduction of the birthplace, and Massachusetts people who that firm. certainly arbitrary. There seems to have been no attempt at conference on the part of the city, and no attempt to ascertain the profit of the company. An attempt to make a low contract is commendable, but is it wise for the city to force it at the expense of in lividuals who are taxpayers?

Further, the Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is a local company, which is endeavoring to give the best of service. We are told only two or three per cent of the stockholders are non-residents, and some of these formerly lived in Quincy. It is a home industry with a large number of small stockholders who are not receiving big dividends. Neither are the officers paid fancy salaries. The company will stand investigation, and should have

The daily paper is a resume of the world's wickedness, its afflictions, its crimes its waywardness, and its horror stricken tales, having an influence that is highly sensational and working evil among all classes of readers. But the country weekly or home paper deals with the best and most respected and loved subjects that the heart craves for. It does not confine itself to telling of murders, thefts, scandals and other detestable things that wound and debauch by the reading. Its mission is to do good among home people, and carry messages afar, even to the uttermost parts of the earth, where a daily would never go. In those far away places the home paper bears messages that are worth their weight in gold. Can you magine how closely the paper is read, even to the advertisements, and then begun and read over again?

[From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.] In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was "In opening this state campaign are among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his trave'ing about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

Demonstrated In the Ohio State Convention

WINS IN CLOSE CONTESTS

Makes a Speech In Praise of Roosewelt and His Administration-Notifles Democrats That They Will Be to work, but the union asserts that none Run Over If They Get In the Way

Columbus, O., June 4.-The opening sessions as well as the preliminary meetings of the Republican state convention show that the claims of Senator Hanna's influence with the party in Ohio are well founded. It is conceded that his friends control almost all of the 21 congressional districts. The closest contests were for members of the state central committee on which there are 17 Hanna men.

It is generally known that Herrick, who will be nominated for governor without opposition, joins Hanna in the desire not to dictate the nominations for all the state offices, and at the same time no fighting is wanted on the floor of the convention. If possible the conferences will result in a settlement of all differences, but there is no assurance yet of such a situation.

The auditorium was packed when Chairman Clingerman of the state central committee called the Republican state convention to order. When Senator Hanna was introduced as temporary chairman the demonstration was long and loud.

In beginning his address, Senator Hanna congratulated the Republican party of Ohio upon its splendid representation in the convention. He reviewed at some length the developments of Ohio's first century of statehood and sketched the progress and development of the state during the last 50 years, recalling the wonderful natural resources which by the energy and indomitable will of the pioneers had been used to build up the western empire, Israel Zangwill, the famous Jewish and declared that the Republican party

Herrick Nominated For Governor and Harding For Second Place-Hanna Word" Only For Head of Ticket

Columbus, O., June 5 .-- The Republian state convention closed with much alliteration in its battle cries. At the convention on Wednesday Senator Hanna said: "Hands off." While Senator Foraker was presiding the delegates added the cry of Hanna, Herrick, Harding and Harmony.

The ticket: Governor, Myron T. Herrick; lieutenant governor, Warren G. Harding; auditor, W. D. Guilbert, treasurer, W. S. McKinnon; attorney general, W. H. Ellis; judge of supreme ourt, A. N. Summers; school commissioner, E. A. Jones; member of board of public works, G. H. Watkins. "Hanna's year" he would not use his by the family. influence except for the head of the ticket, naming his neighbor, Myron T.

Herrick, for governor. The sentators friend, George B. Cox of Cincinnati, amed Harding for lieutenant governor nd Ellis for attorney general, beside eing a potential factor in nominating Judge Summers. Auditor Guilbert and others, especially McKinnon for treasurer, were strongly endorsed.

Of the three candidates for third terms, Guilbert was the only winner. Governor Nash and ex-Governor Bushnell had much to do with Guilbert's success, as Guilbert served under both of them. He was also deputy auditor of state under McKinley, and by both Nash and Bushnell was considered as indispensable, so that Herrick was said also to have wanted the benefit of his experience of 16 years in that office.

It is stated that while Senator Hanna would not give out the word for ex-Congressman Boothman for the second place on the ticket, or for other perthe soldier element represented on the notion of another old soldier, this mat ter of soldier representation wielded a great influence in other contests.

While Senator F a tker expressed his gratification over the ticket and the regratified over the unanimous adoption of a resolution which endorsed President Roosevelt's nomination as well as his administration.

It had been anticipated that Senators Hanna and Foraker would lock horns over the endorsement of Roosevelt's oublicans in this campaign more harnoniously than ever.

There never was more talk about fixing a slate in advance of a convention than this year, but the balloting indicated that such was not the case. for at least some of the minor places. At any rate Hanna and Herrick did not exercise their personal influence "ir giving the word" and left the hall before the nominations for minor places were made. In the "free-for-all" races that followed the convention was at times uncontrollable.

The resolutions commend President Roosevelt's ability and adherence to McKinley's principles and favor his nomination and the re-election of Hanna as senator; praise Governor Taft of the Philippines; favor three of the proposed constitutional amendments, maintenance of canals, better roadways, improvement of Chic rivers and tax reform. No change is wanted in the tariff or other national declarations. Certain planks insist on the enforcement of the amendments for negro suffrage or the reduction of the repre sentation of southern states in congress and the electoral college. The resolutions also favor legislation to stimulate local bank circulation.

President Starts For Washington Danville, Ills., June 5.-President Roosevelt delivered the last scheduled speech of his long trip here, the home of Congressman Cannon, last evening. The stay here was only 20 minutes long and he left for Indianapolis, whence he will go direct to Washington. The last day's trip was an easy one. Stops were made only at Lincoln, Springueld, Decatur and Danville.

Association Football.

A game will be played at Quincy Point grounds on Saturday, June 6 at 2.45, between the Quincys and For River Football club. The Fore River club has been thoroughly organized, and is composed of employes of the Fore River Works. They have been training bard for this game, and intend to beat the Quincys if possible.

Both teams play a good, square, clean game, and their meeting on Saturday will be worth going a long way to see. The Quincys play the Pan-Americans, the team that won the Association football championship at the Pan-American Exposition; on Saturday, June 13, so the game on Saturday June 6, will be a good chance for all lovers of this sport to guage the abilities of the players who will face the sonal preferences, he did ask to have Pan-Americans at Ward Three playground on the following Saturday.

Crops have suffered with the forests, and many buildings have been de stroyed. There is also heavy loss in the Rengeley lake region. Many houses have been burned at Gardiner.

In New Hampshire the fires have been solated, but still threatening. 'Two milroad bridges have been burned, one of them four miles from the Profile ouse and the Waumbeyk bridge, between Cherry Mountain and Jefferson. A violent fire is raging between Waterford and Littleton and on Kilburn crags. The situation has been considerably relieved by digging trenches in the path of the flames. The veil of smoke has lifted perceptibly all over northern New Hampshire.

Advices received from all parts of Vermont show that a large territory is suffering from forest fires. But few buildings have been destroyed, but a few small places are threatened. The largest fire reported is one in Danby, where it is said that 2000 acres of timberland has been burned over and is sweeping over still larger tracts. Reports of large fires in Essex county are received. Miles of territory have been burned over and fires are reported on all sides of Island Pond. Farmers are selling off their live stock, as there is little promise of sufficient feed to winter near the usual amount of stock. Crops that had come up have been nearly destroyed by frost. Chickamauga and Chattanooga. The word Chickamauga means "dull, sluggish stream," says the Chattanooga Times, and it is from the waters of the creek that the Indians, who were among the most daring and warlike of all the tribes in east Tennessee, got their names. The original interpretation of Chattanooga has long been lost. The general acceptation of the meaning of the word is "hawk's nest," said to have been suggested by the valley nestling in the shadow of the ridges and mountain. Others say that the word is derived from the name Clanowah, given by the Cherokees to small, warlike hawks that made their nests in the cliffs of Lookout mountain.

"Real Indian." A young woman recently received instruction in the art of Indian basketry and had made several copies of Indian baskets of which she was very proud. A friend who had been living in Ariwho showed the baskets with considerable pride.

"They are really very well done," commented the visitor, "but of course clean. they are not the real Indian baskets." "Why, Mrs. Sawyer," indignantly exclaimed the maker, "how can you say that when I just told you that I made them myself?"-Youth's Companion.

Turning over my business to an assistant, I walked the streets in the hope of meeting her. If good than to relieve the anxiety which was rapidly bringing me to nervous prostration. The first few days I scanned every newspaper, looking for a case of death that would correspond with the one I feared. I knew that the dose I supposed I had given the girl would act immediately. I did not see a notice of the death of a girl that would excite suspicion, though I saw notices of the deaths of a number of girls. After a few days the suspense broke me down so far that I was not to be comforted. My wife argued that the time had passed for me to hear of any violent death from arsenic, but I told her that the case would not likely be reported as it occurred. sembled in the streets. Though the artillery ceased firing during part of the night, the infantry fired all night long. The bombardment was recommenced at daylight, but as it was ineffective the Turks set fire to the village on all sides and commenced a general massacre, slaughtering mercilessly women, children and the aged. About 300 houses were burned and upwards of 200 persons, mostly women and children, were killed. Whole households were slain. One family of seven were slain and their bodies were heaped on the hearth. Not a living soul was left in the village. The survivors, many of them half burned or otherwise injured, fled. Some of the fleeing villagers were captured and had their ears and noses cut off before they were butchered.

The report adds that 1500 village's are in the mountains, without clothing or food. One band of these, consisting of 40 women and children, were caught by soldiers in a ravine and were killed after horrible treatment.

Gordon's Graceful Reminder

Atlanta, June 5.-General Gordon, commander-in-chief of the Union Confederate veterans, has issued general orders calling upon the people to contribute flowers for the decoration of the graves of Confederate dead at Camp Chase, Columbus, O., June 11. He re-2 8:24 C Third 18 1:44 minds the southern people for the hitherto most generous course of Collines 10:08 25 2:11 onel Kanuss of the Union army and of the broad-minded people of Ohio in minds the southern people "of the the broad-minded people of Ohio in decorating the graves of these Confederates independently and in erecting the monument which adorns their resting place. Such acts illustrate the spirit of fraternity and unity which is the surest guaranty of the republic's future progress and perpetuity."

Gainesville's Loss Summed Up Gainesville, Ga., June 5 .- The relief committee met last night and issued a statement as to the effect of the tornado. It shows: Total killed, 95; will die, 12; wounded, 261; number needing hospital treatment, 60; number now in hospital, 81; number houses totally destroyed, 100; number houses partially destroyed, 40; number persons homeless, 900. Over Agitation In the United States In Regard to Their Country-Proposition to Enlist Sympathy of Our Newspapers-Russia's Friendship

St. Petersburg, June 5.—The relations between the United States and Russia are much discussed here. The Novoe Vremya prints a signed leading article, headed "Russia and America," which time, enters the arena of the anti- kill." Russian propaganda, which finds favorable soil in its politically unripe popuprisons, the Manchurian open door, Kishineff disorders-all of these serve as a pretext for the anti-Russian meetings, so advantageous to Russia's enemies. While Secretary Hay's stubborn Anglophilism lends governmental importance to the claims to the various groups of American traders and missionaries in the Far East, our diplomatic agents actively in America must take a different course from the diplomacy of Europe. We must create a party and explain our designs and position, not only to Mr. Hay, but to the people also, which is always the same. They must act through the American press, which, notwithstanding its defects, seems to be not only the mirror, but the letter of American public opinion."

The editor of the Syroniatnikoff says: "Thrice in America have been found hearty Russian sympathies; but Russia remains dumb while the American papers are filled with all possible accusations against Russia, from English, German and Jewish sources. Alleged Instruction to Strikers Who Attacked a Car at Waterbury Waterbury, Conn., June 5 .- The prosecution in the cases of the eight striking trolleymen charged with the murderous assault on Conductor Merna and Motorman Morissette on the night of Feb. 26 caused a sensation in the superior court by placing on the witness stand Irwin H. Wolcott, proprietor of the pool room in which it is charged that the plot originated.

Wolcott told of the meeting of the eight men and 10 boys in his pool room. He continued with his story of the meeting near a lumber mill and of the trip to Faber's switch. The most sensational of Wolcott's testimony was to the effect that Willis Vandemark halted the crowd at a certain point and said:

"Now we may meet a lot of sheriffs up here. They may be on the cars. If any of you meet any of them, hold them off till the rest get away and then escape. Don't shoot, boys, if you don't "The United States, from time to have to, but if you have to, shoot to Organized Labor Against Military Boston, June 5 .- Secretary Weigel of Drivers and Bottlers' union 122 says that 90 percent of the labor unions reject applications for membership if the applicants are members of the state militia. This announcement, coming from an officer in one of the strongest unions in the city, was a profound surprise to those who heard it in the municipal court. Weigel was a witness in a suit brought by Fred Osal against the Burkhardt Brewery company, to recover $2000 damages accruing by reason of his discharge by the company in alleged breach of a contract under which he went to work during the brewery strike in this city.

Doctor's Legs Amputated

Portland, Me., June 5 .- Dr. Daniel A. Pletts of Brunswick was probably fatally injured late last night by being run over by a train at Deering Junction. He was feeling ill and went cut onto the platform of a car, when he had a fainting fit and fell. The wheels passed over both legs, almost severing them from the body. Both limbs were amputated at a hospital.

Rocked Boat and Was Drowned New Haven, June 5.-Earl Gibbons, aged 15, was drowned in Lake Whitney last evening. Gibbons and Charles Fisher hired a canoe and finally began to rock the frail boat. Young Fisher was timid, but Gibbons tried to reassure him and rocked the boat with force enough to capsize it. Fisher clung to the bottom of the overturned canoe, but Gibbons sank.

"Not exactly condole," corrected Liza apologetically. "'Tain't like as if he was dead now, is it?"

"Mighty near it," nodded Mrs. Simpson; "mighty near it. When a only son goes off and gets married, his mother's lost him pretty much the same as if he'd died and bin buried, and that's true as gospel."

Liza broke the pause, which began to show symptoms of lasting.

"How did it happen?" questioned

"How was that?" she questioned further. "I've heard say as how physical cultcher was goin' to be the renovatin' of the world, Susan. Surely it couldn't 'a' bin that what made him commit matrimony, could it?"

"That," snapped Mrs. Simpson, "and nothin' else."

There was a second pause, during which Liza endeavored to the best of her ability to digest the substance of this theory.

In the meantime, taking a stocking from the basket at her feet, Mrs. Simpson had thrust a ball into it, grasped it firmly at the heel and commenced to

There was silence for a space. "When he wa'n't doin' nothin' else," she resumed then, "he was breathin". Breathin'! So was I, but I was hard at work scrubbin' or sweepin' or washin' clo'es or dustin' at the same time.

"What's the world comin' to, I'd like to know," she sniffed, "when people take to stoppin' work to breathe?

"Things got from bad to worse. First I knew here come big packages from New York what Jonathan opened with a hatchet and grins and didn't lack much of meetin' at the back of his head. "Then one mornin' I found a letter on his table full of little pictures of men in the same sort of bathin' suits what Jonathan wore in every position under the sun exceptin' the position men occupy when they mow hay or chop wood in wood sheds, and it was from a girl.

A light broke on me. "'Jonathan,' says I, sharplike, 'be this a young woman teacher you've bin takin' your physical cultcher lessons from all this time?'

"Jonathan kind of hung his head and answers, 'Yes, ma, it be.'

"Then I gave him up for good." Mrs. Simpson took the darning ball out and laid the stocking across her knee, smoothing it thoughtfully with fingers that trembled a little. "The rest of the story is easy finished." resumed she. "'Twa'n't long before Jonathan he come to me and says: 'Ma, I'm goin' up to New York for a spell. LUMBER MEN LOSE HEAVILY

In the Maine Timber District, In Some Sections of Which Fire Still Rages-Adirondack Fires Spreading, Causing Suspension of Navigation

Boston, June 6 .- Hard fighting and the exhaustion of fuel seem to have stayed many of the fires which raged throughout northern New England and the general situation there is distinctly Additional reports of the havor created by forest fires continue to come in, but no estimate of the losses is posported, owingto the favorable condition of the wind.

In New Hampshire and Vermont the fires are apparently under control.

Reports from every section of northern Maine only confirm the first suspicions of tremendous loss to the lumbering and other-interests. In addition at least one town has been completely destroyed, hundreds of buildings have been burned in all parts of the state, at least two lives lost because of the fires, and much suffering, labor and inconvenience caused. Maine's lumbering interests are hard hit by this misfortune, following close on the lack of snow in the woods this winter and the drought which caused the loss of more than 25,000,000 feet of logs, representing a big financial loss. A report of heavy losses in the vicinity of Patten is received. This town has been completely surrounded by the fires at close range for 48 hours. ly son. Reports from different points about Vermont show that the forest fires are pretty well under control and that some over there, and 500,000 feet of logs that had been cut were burned.

Fire on Ragged mountain, Andover, N. H., is working toward the northern side, but it is believed to be well in hand. Smaller fires in Andover made hard work for the men. The wind there Is not strong.

There have been heavy losses in forest fires, many acres of woodland having been destroyed. A number of should strengthen would cause alarm.

Meagre reports indicate that the Adirondack fires are spreading, Navigation on the lakes is practically suspended, and the damage is very heavy. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had hundreds of fires, the smoke clouds making trouble for coasting vessels. In the latter province, the village of Musquash was destroyed. The loss of life so far reported is fortunately very small.

Do Things Right.

There is no question about it-it pays to do things right, and the sooner we set about cultivating this grace the better for us and all concerned. How often in our housekeeping we do things so poorly that they are constant eye sores until we take the time to do them all over! How much time we spend hunting misplaced articles or going around tidying things up after ourselves! How many nice dresses are spotted and spoiled because the wearer hadn't time to put on an apron or slip on a wash dress before going out to get lunch! Think of the time lost in trying to efface grease spots that might easily have been avoided!

This whole matter bears the same relation to economy of time that the buying of good material bears in relation to money saving. Surely none of us will argue that the purchase of cheap. flimsy goods is anything but an extravagance in the long run. Doing 15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy things right pays in cash; it adds to our comfort and leisure and smoothes out our wrinkled brows.

"In the end, the town having been divided into districts, with a special military command in each, the disturbances ceased on Monday evening. By this time the minister of the interior had ordered by wire the proclamation of martial law, and (an unprecedented fact) had sent the director of the police department to investigate as to the responsibilities of the local officials. In consequence the governor, the chief of the police and some other officials, were dismissed outright, many hundreds of rioters are in prison, and hard work in the Siberian mines awaits them.

"The minister of the interior has issued a circular to governors all over Russia, authorizing them to make immediate use of firearms in cases of anti-Jewish disturbances. The Russian government is the first to disapprove of such horrid acts of violence, but it cannot, in compliance with the requests of a radical and revolutionary press, give the Jews new rights of citizenship, as this would be sure to drive the Russian ropulation to new excesses against the Jews, who are hated by the peasants with such extraordinary force."

Fine Diplomacy Required

Washington, June 6 .- Secretary Hay will bring before the president today the Russian-American situation, both as regards the Manchurian and Kishineff incidents. The position of this government as to Russian affairs is extremely difficult and especially so because, it is stated, of the numerous resolutions adopted as to Kishineff affairs. The situation has called for the exercise of much tact. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, will see the president within the next few days and | prevailing disease. Russo-American relations will be discussed with the view to a frank understanding between the two governments.

Savages Note Things to Which Civilized Eyes Are Blind.

Savages are supposed to have keener senses, especially a keener sense of inn in an Italian hamlet. A girl in the sight, than civilized races. The author of "Idle Days In Patagonia" does not accept this theory. He believes that savages have no keener senses, but that they pay closer attention to what comes within the range of their perception. As an instance of quick response to an impression he tells the following story: On March 12, 1861, a company of hunters were camping beside a grove marriageable age and I have no dot to of willows in Patagonia. About 9 o'clock that evening, while they were seated round the fire roasting their ostrich meat, Sosa suddenly sprang to his feet and held his open hand high above his head for some moments.

"There is not a breath of wind blowing," he exclaimed, "yet the leaves of the trees are trembling. What can this portend?"

The others stared at the trees, but could see no motion, and they began to laugh at him. Presently he sat down again, remarking that the trembling had ceased, but during the rest of the evening he was very much disturbed in his mind. He remarked repeatedly that such a thing had never happened in his experience before, for, he said, he could feel a breath of wind before the leaves felt it, and there had been no wind. He feared that it was a warning of some disaster about to overtake their party.

The disaster was not for them. On that evening occurred the earthquake which destroyed the distant city of Mendoza and crushed 12,000 people to death beneath the ruins. That the subterranean wave extended east to the Plata and southward into Patagonia was afterward known, for in the cities of Rosario and Buenos Ayres clocks stopped, and a slight shock was also experienced in the Carmen on the Ric

STARTING POINT.

Henry H. Faxon Says Church Should Lead in all Moral Efforts.

Mr. George A. Sidelinger, Chairman Law and Order Committee, Quincy Point Congregational Church:

My dear sir: I am in receipt of a and Order Committee of the Quincy Point Congregational church, setting forth the purposes of the new organiza-A discount at $1 when paid in ad- tion. To express my hearty aproval of necessary expenses of the important work which you have in hand. I inclose a check for $100.

Your committee has the proper starting-point, -the church-which should take the lead in all moral efforts. In my early experiences of enforcing the liquor laws, West Quincy gave me more trouble than any other section of the city. The great improvement, in the character of that ward, has been largely due to the influence exerted by Father Roche in St. Mary's parish, and to the good work done by the Methodist church and its pastors for the moral uplift of their people.

Coupled with the agency of the church, in matters of reform, political action is indispensable. The best laws upon our statutes will be ineffective if their execution rests with officials who are not in sympathy with good government. Therefore, in order to make the work of your committee productive of the greatest possible good to the com- present year, and a daughter, Florence munity, I urge political activity an the part of your members.

Baldness Caused by Fear. Several carefully observed cases of falling hair from emotion have been recorded, but the following is probably one of the most curious: A normally healthy farmer, thirty-eight years of age, saw his child thrown out of a cart and trampled upon by a mule. He supposed it killed and experienced in his fright and tension a sensation of chilliness and tension in the head and face. The child escaped with a few bruises, but the father's hair, beard and eyebrows commenced to drop out the next day, and by the end of the week he was entirely bald. A new growth of hair appeared in time, but much finer.-London Answers.

Nor would we today if we kindly, but firmly, declined all invitations to drink wine or other intoxicating drinks. The world honors and admires the man who has convictions and stands by love me you ought to take out an acci- them rather than the one who weakly gives in to its temptations against his convictions.

3. The Rechabites teach the value of total abstinence. The Rechabites lived as they did to preserve their tribal character and to prolong their lives, "that ye may live many days in the land where ye are strangers." For national preservation and a long and happy life they took and kept the Rechabite vows, and they were amply repaid. Intemperance is one of our nasing and for the nation's fare the American people need to become more abstemious. And nothing today does more to assure happiness, health and longevity to the individual than temperance in all things. God also blessed the Rechabites for their faithfulness to the rules of their fathers, and in so doing He placed the stamp of His approval upon temperance. That He has stamped intemperance with His disapproval is evidenced by the evils that result from it. Let us therefore follow the example of the Rechabites. Let us decide to totally abstain from intoxicating drinks, and when the tempter says, "Drink ye wine," let us like them courageously reply, "We will drink no wine."

May Resist Operators' Stand

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 6 .-- Since the reported statement of Judge Gray taking sides with the miners in their contention that their first conciliation committee was legally elected, the miners have taken a new stand and prominent officials of the mine workers state that there will very likely be a suspension of work unless the operators recede from their position. The opinion of the chairman of the coal strike commission is regarded by the miners as a vindication of their position and has stirred them to insist on the recognition of their board as first selected.

Washington, June 6.—The grand jury reported an indictment against August W. Machen, former superintendent of the free delivery service of the postseveral days ago charged with sharing letter box fasteners.

The indictment was brought for vio- the announcement. lation of section 5501 of the revised statutes, the penalty for violation of which is a "fine not more than three times the amount asked or accepted or received, and by imprisonment of not more than three years."

The amount which the indictment states he received illegally is $18,987.79. Machen was in court with his attorneys when the grand jury reported and immediately gave bond in the sum of $20,-000 for his appearance in court. The trial will occur in October.

By securing an indictment against Machen before the day set for his preliminary hearing before Commissioner Taylor the government has scored a victory in that it has avoided the necessity of showing its hand at a preliminary hearing. The proceedings before the commissioner now will be abandoned.

Thomas McGregor and C. E. Upton warrants sworn out in Baltimore by Charles E. Smith and others, to defraud purchase of pouches from C. E. Smith of Baltimore. The complaint sets forth that McGregor and Upton agreed with Smith to obtain for him orders for many thousands of leather pouches such as are used by rural letter carriers. pouch; the actual value was less than the difference between 90 and 50 cents a pouch. CLOSE ACQUAINTANCE

[Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.] I had been in India for two years with Lowenback's men, and we had made many captures of wild animals. One day as we were beating up a foraway, and whenever I struck favora- few hours. ble ground I increased my pace to a run. I finally heard the elephants I suddenly realized that I was alone in minutes and then followed slowly on after the elephants, who were feeding as they moved along. I expected to be overtaken at any moment and was not in the least alarmed. I was gradually getting on to the heels of the herd when something occurred to alarm the

I was now within four miles of the village and on a plain path, but the sun was so low that it was twilight in the forest. I was going forward at a good pace when a huge hyena crossed my path, with a growl. Two minutes later there were yelps and snarls from every direction, and I realized that the night prowlers of the forest were astir. I was going bravely ahead and would have been out of the forest in half an hour more when the sun went down, and I had to almost feel my way foot by foot. The situation was anything but pleasant. If I climbed a tree I might be bitten by a snake lurking among the branches, and the mosquitoes would eat me alive in two hours ward was to guess at the right compass point, and I heard sounds to prove that wild beasts were prowling about in every direction. Williams had borrowed my match box or I could have made a torch. I had a heavy single barrel rifle, but no extra ammunition, and therefore dared not fire a signal.

I was picking my way slowly, feeling a beaten path under my feet, when of a sudden I felt myself falling. One cannot remember his thoughts in such emergencies. I may have cried out, but I do not recollect it. I remember that as I brought up on my head and shoulders I heard a fierce growling almost in my ear. I was stunned for a moment. When I pulled myself up Rev. F. W. Pratt will take for the to a sitting position I was at one end of an elephant pif, which was five feet wide, twelve feet long and twelve feet deep. As time passed he grew uneasy and kept up a continual whine. Every wild beast seeks its covert between daybreak and sunrise, and this instinct made the tiger restheard the report of rifles, and five minutes later the voice of Williams came plainly to my ears. I was watching the tiger through half open eyes when the face of Williams appeared over the edge of the pit, and he called out in horror stricken tones:

"I think I can explain the cause of many collisions which otherwise seem to be mysterious. They arise from the Edward Hall an employe of the N. fact that green and red are complecarries at night a red light burning on her left or port side and a green light burning on her right or starboard side. Yet vessels go crashing into each other upon nights when these lights must be plainly visible from their decks. And when the case comes up in court and an effort is made to establish the blame of the accident honest men swear directly opposite to each other and believe they are telling the truth.

"The captain of one ship, for instance, will swear that he saw a red appropriate to the occasion, the chorus light on his port bow and held his course. A little later he saw a green light there, starboarded his helm, and the collision followed. The men on the other ship swear that where the cap-Elizabeth Bowers, who has been in tain says he saw a green light a red light was burning.

"Now, how does this happen? It happens this way: The captain looks for awhile intently at the red light on the other vessel. Then for some reason he changes his line of vision, probably due to a bulging sail above the light, and, lo, he sees at once a green light, shifts his helm, and, crash, he goes into An appreciative audience gathered in her! A HORRIFYING SCENE

HUNDRED PEOPLE DROWNED

Vessel With Wide Rent In Side Made For Shallow Water, but Sunk Before Reaching It-Explosion of Boilers as Ill-Fated Craft Went Down

Marseilles, June 8.-Over 100 people are believed to have been drowned near here as a result of a collision between two passenger steamers, the Insulaire and the Liban, both belonging to the Fraissenet Steamship company Rev. E. W. Virgin of Dedham, a of Marseilles. The Liban sank soon fter the accident.

The Liban left Marseilles on her egular passenger trip to Bastin, Corsica, and was run down and sunk by the Insulaire off Maire islands. The collision was witnessed from the pilot boat Blechamp, which was about two miles distant. The Blechamp immediately repaired to the spot to render assistance. The force of the collision cut a wide rent in the Liban's side and she was already making water rapidly. Her captain saw their only chance was o run the steamer aground before she sank in deep water, and the Liban was headed full speed for the shore. But Organ Postlude. within 17 minutes of the collision, and while still some distance from shallow water, the forepart of the steamer plunged beneath the waves and a few minutes later she had entirely disappeared.

In the meantime the Blechamp, the steamer Balkan and other vessels had drawn near the sinking ship and were making strenuous efforts to rescue those on board. The Blechamp picked up 40 persons, many of whom were at the point of exhaustion and were only rerived by the attentions they received on board. The Balkan also rescued 37 assengers and up to the present it is known that in addition to the passengers

17 of the crew were also saved. The crew of the steamer Balkan de scribe the scene just before the Liban disappeared as a terrible one. As the vessel was sinking she was inclined to an angle that her the work of rescue most difficult. A tuass of human beings were clinging to the foundering vessel and uttering despairing cries as she went down. At the same time the boilers exploded and produced a horrifying spectacle. For a few moments the victims were seen struggling in the sea, then the waves closed over them and all was silent. Of about 200 passengers who were board the Liban it is feared that at east half were drowned. The Balkan launched three boats and the other succoring vessels did all possible to save the victims in the short ime that elapsed between the time of he collision and the sinking of the Liban. Thirty bodies have been recovered. The list of the passengers on board the Liban has not yet been issued, but shallbe. it is believed that over 240 embarked at this port.

It is stated that the Liban was putting out to sea just as the steamer Insulaire was making for the harbor. Maire island, which lies off the entrance to the port, hid the vessels from each other until it was too late to avoid collision.

Many of the rescued were bad'y inured in the collision. The Insulaire sustained considerable damage to her bows, but managed to reach port safely. thousands of people gathered cound the norgue, hespitals and on the quays throughout the evening. Thus far only four bodies have been identified.

The French steamer Liban was a 298 feet long and of 2308 tonnage gross. he was built at Glasgow in 1882. One of the survivors, a passenger, gives the following details of the disas-

"The weather was splendid when we steamed out of Marseilles harbor, and all the passengers were below at table when the screeching of whistles gave the alarm. On coming on deck I saw the Insulaire approaching us at full speed. The captain gave severa! orders, but no attempt was apparently made to change the steamer's course. Some of the passengers reproached the captain for his negligence in this matter. When the Insulaire crashed into us a great panic prevailed on board. Attempts were made to lower beats, but only one boat was got away, and in that I and a few others escaped to the pilot boat Blechamp. As the vessel sank, bow first, the passengers took refuge on the afterdeck, which was covered by

Boyle, it appears, was a Hannibal are practically paralyzed. witness to the crime, and was with Connolly when the assault was made. The alleged murderer is Ralph T. Coleman, a machinist by trade. Coleman has not yet been apprehended.

The murder is the outcome of a drunken spree. Connolly, Coleman and hree-masted schooner rigged vessel, Boyle were drinking together in a saloon on Friday night and just before 11 o'clock Connolly and Coleman left, followed by Boyle, who wanted Connolly to leave Coleman. On Methuer street the three men got into an altercation during which, it is alleged. Coleman drew a knife and plunged it into the back of Connolly's head, at the base of the skull. Connolly staggered across the street and sell on the spot where he was found shortly afterwards, while Boyle and Coleman disappeared. Boyle and Connolly were released but a week ago from the Cambridge jail, te which they were sentenced for 18 months from Lowell for larceny from the person.

St. Louis, June 8.—The flood stage today has broken all high water records at St. Louis since May 19, 1858, when the high water mark was 37.5 feet. The highest mark known here was Smith, and William Smith. reached by the great flood of June 27. 1844, when 41.4 feet was attained.

Just below St. Louis, and in the vicinity of the river Des Peres, is the little fishermen's settlement of Happy on the pastor's desk, and there were Hollow. The denizens live in flat boats for the most part and until today had been beyond the ravages of the flood. But the advancing water has invaded the tract and the inhabitants had hurriedly to move out.

Like a millrace the swollen Mississippl is surging past St. Louis. Two hundred people imprisoned at Black Walnut, 25 miles northwest from St. Louis, were in peril of their lives from the rising waters of the Missouri river. Word was received Saturday immediately or they probably would be

The Spread Eagle, moored at Alton. Ills., was hurriedly manned and started for the imperilled colony late Saturday right, but was forced to turn back at the Bellefontaine bridge. A private yacht here was manned by a company of policemen and started for Black Walnut as the craft sat low enough in the water to pass all bridges, but the swift cur rent had to be reckoned with. All steam was turned on, but the boat made n headway against the current and after vainly stemming the flood for several hours without making 100 gards the yacht returned to shore and the venture

FOUNDER'S DAY.

The Senior Middle Class at Thayer Academy Celebrate.

Founder's Day was observed at Thayer Academy, Saturday, June 6, at o'clock P. M. The exercises were in charge of the senior-middle class. The palms and birches.

The class, consisting of twenty-one music of Cuff's orchestra. The orchestra gave several selections during the exercises. One was especially note worthy, having a flute obligato.

The address of welcome was given by he president of the class, Willard Perkins Sheppard. It contained a short sketch of the life of the founder General Sylvanus Thayer. The class prophecy was given by

Mollie Gilbert Brown of Quincy. I was written in verse and caused much merriment as the members of the class earned their destiny. The address of the afternoon was given by Mr. Byron Groce of the Boston Latin school. Mr. Groce said he was glad to be behind the barricade of palms but wished to get near the hearts of the audience, which he succeeded in

After the exercises in the hall, the audience was invited to go to the front of the building to witness the customary planting of the ivy. After he ivy was planted the class cheer wa ustily given. The class and invited guests then

Fourth Annual Concert Notable Funeral of Rev. Francis A. Friguglietti Pastor of St. John's Church

Large Attendance of Priests from Neighboring Cities, and Societies Connected with Churches

ity, was not large enough to accommo- Mgr. Thomas R. Maguinnis. late all those who desired to attend the funeral services this morning of Rev. Francis A. Friguglietti, the beloved pastor of the church for 32 years. The interior of the church, usually so bright and cheerful in color, was shrouded in darkness, the heavy mourning draperies of black which were festooned about casting a gloom over the edifice. In front of the high altar, in a black proadcloth covered casket, opened so as to show the body at full length, lay all that remained of him who for so many years had labored for and watched over the people of Catholic faith in Quincy. The body was robed in the purple vestments, and in the hand was a gold chalice, while the altar was bright with many candles.

The casket containing the body was brought from the parochial residence to the church at 2.30 Sunday afternoon. The procession was led by Rev. John J. Casey carrying the cross, and was followed by the altar boys. Following the body were the clergy, Rev. John P. Cuffe, Rev. Julian E. Johnstone, Rev. William J. Foley, Rev. Francis Walsh of Salem, and Rev. Daniel C. Reardon of Middleboro.

As the procession entered the church, and the body was placed before the high altar, the clergy chanted the "Office of the Dead."

From that time on until this morning at 10 o'clock the body lay in state guarded by delegations from the three divisions of Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Knights of Columbus and Quincy Court of Foresters.

All through the long afternoon and evening there was a constant line of people passing down the broad aisle and out by the side aisle. These were by no means confined to those of Catholic faith for all religious denominations were represented in these who passed in front of the sleeping priest.

I The services this morning were can have your choice of over 100 keeping with the wish of Father Francis Houses and Lots, in all parts of the city. and at his request no eulogy was given. TODAY'S SERVICES.

This morning at 8 o'clock requiem mass was celebrated for the children by Rev. J. P. Cuffe. Mass was also elebrated at St. Mary's church at West Quincy at 7.30 by Rev. A. F. Roche. At 10 o'clock Rev. Fr. Ubaldus O. F. of the order of Franciscan, for which Fr. Francis was ordained, celebrated solemn high mass of requiem with Rev. Daniel C. Reardon as deacon, Rev. John P. Cuffe sub-deacon. Rev. Francis Walsh as master of ceremonies, and Rev. William J. Foley assistant master of ceremonies, Rev. H. J. Mulligan and Rev. P. J. Hurleigh as chanters; Rev. W. J. Walsh and Rev. Michael Duffy of the Brighton seminary, as accolytes; and Rev. Walter

R. Fagan as Chelsea as thurifer, During the mass the united choirs of St. John's church of Quincy, Sacred Heart church of Atlantic and St. Francis church of Braintree, sang "The Gregorian Mass." After the offertory, Mr. Thomas R. Donovan say, "O Jesu Deus Pacis." After the consecration, a quartette composed of James Lee, Maurice Kearns, John Sweeney and William Biganess, sang "Pie Jesu." At the end of the mass, Mrs. Mary F. Murphy sang "De Profundis"; and after the absolution service Mrs. Murphy sang the hymn to the Sacred Mysterious Fire Destroys Church Northampton, Mass., June 8 .- The Unitarian church in this city, Rev. F. H. Kent, pastor, was practically destroyed by fire, all that remains being a portion of the outer walls. The loss is piaces at $15,000. The church which was of wood, was built in 1824. The origin of the fire is a mystery, as there had been no fire in the furnace for several weeks. There are several theories as to its origin, but that it may have accepted. The society had just completed the raising of $6000 by subscription for making extensive repairs on the church during the summer. Forest Fires Subsiding

The Causes of the Fires, Conditions That Favor or Hinder Them, Damage to the Soil and Tree Growth Are Some of the Points Being Investigated-Annual Loss of Timber

In view of the recent forest fires that have been raging in Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, New York and Canada, the following article about the The bearers from three churches were: forest fire problem is of timely inter-

Last year within two weeks over Thomas H. McDonnell, Dr. J. M. $12,000,000 worth of timber and other property was destroyed by forest fires in Oregon and Washington, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial. This enormous loss occurred upon a restricted area and represents only a very small part of the annual loss from this source. Every timbered region of the United States suffers year after year from fire.

The annual loss is estimated at from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000. Forest fires have been regarded as almost inevitable, and few systematic attempts have been made to prevent or control them except in the states of New York, At the grave the committal service Pennsylvania and Minnesota, which have efficient systems of fire protec-

The bureau of forestry of the United States department of agriculture has this year undertaken a thorough study of the forest fire problem in several different regions. It has placed men in forest districts to study fires while in the process of burning. Instead of waiting until the fires are over and relying for information on local reports, as has been done heretofore, the fires are now being observed by the bureau's agents, and full data will be obtained as to how they were caused, how fast they burn, what conbeen incendiary is the more generally ditions favor or hinder them and just what damage they do to the soil and to tree growth.

Each agent of the bureau has been assigned to a district and is investigating all fires that occur within his territory. For example, one man studies the hair in hot weather, says a special mouldering in all parts of northern a lumber tract, another a farming disdispatch from Newport, R. caris Sets a Fashion In Simple and Seasonable Dining.

Drop the pink teas and the yellow linners and all such colored fads. They are no longer the style in Paris, says the Chicago Tribune. Those who give dinners and teas there have returned to the normal and sane ideas of eating naturally. Freak foods and freak decorations have been brushed aside together, and things of the season must be eaten in season.

It is now the fashion to have everything in season, the flowers as well as the food. Forced hothouse plants and vegetables are to be avoided as well as imported meats. Spring flowers are chosen for spring luncheons and dinners, just as summer flowers are chosen to decorate summer tables with the vegetables that are in season and consequently at their best.

The elaborate ribbon and lace accessories which formerly adorned tables are entirely dispensed with. The tablecloth is of rich damask handsomely embroidered, with the napkins to match, and decorated with a centerpiece of seasonable flowers encircled with a wreath of green foliage or vine. Masses of silver and gold plate are left on the sideboard.

Only one knife and fork are placed for each person and changed for others with each course, but the rows of knives and forks on each side of the plate are scaupulously avoided, together with all kinds of specially shaped knives and forks invented by the jeweler to create a want, but which are t be dispensed with. Even the oyster fork is made to resemble the ordinary fork as much as possible, and many smart hostesses do not even use a special fork for oysters.

As for the finger bowl, it has completely disappeared from all smart tables and is caricatured even in the salon under the title of "Julie's Bath," picture by Jean Veber showing a big fat woman washing her hands in a large finger bowl after dinner

> Congressman Johnson has left for Washington to see Secretary of War Root with the purpose of securing federal aid if possible. The congressman was forced to walk to Cowpens in order to board a north-bound train. No train has reached or left here since the disaster Saturday. Almost every bridge in the county is swept away.

> The destruction of property by the flood was far-reaching, and even yet a number of mill points, where it is feared damage has been done, cannot be heard from an account of prostration of telephone and telegraph wires. The town of Union, S. C., is totally isolated. The Lockhart mill, located below Pacolst, for whose safety fears had been expressed, is only slightly injured. A 200foot section of the southern rail vay bridge over Broad river, between Spartanburg and Columbia, has given way, stopping traffic between these points. Three other Southern bridges are gone, and several bridges that still stand are unsafe.

Following is a summary of the damage to the cotton mills: Pacolet Nos. 1 and 2, totally de stroyed; Pacolet No. 3, badly lamaged. These mills operated 60,000 spindles and 2200 looms; Clifton No. 3 mill at Converse, 51,000 spindles, totally destroyed; Dexter mills, 30,500 spindles half destroyed. Clifton mills, 27,500 spindles half destroyed. Glendale mills badly damaged; Pacolet warehouse totally destroyed and 3500 bales of cotton and 4000 bales of yarn swept down stream. At Pacolet a Presbyterian church, hotel, and a number of mili cottages were entirely destroyed. The property damage is in the neighborhood of $500,000.

Gloucester, Mass., June 8.-Just as the clock struck 2 yesterday afternoon, Howard Blackburn of this city, the premier trans-Atlantic lone voyager in diminutive crafts, boarded the America off the East Gloucester Yacht club and was off on his third voyage across the Atlantic. Many people were on the headlands adjoining to witness his departure. Blackburn was as unconcerned as if he was about to take a trip across the harbor, instead of a dangerous trip of 3000 miles across the At-

She carries a small fib and mainsail Owing to the light air at the time scheduled for the departure the craft was towed out to the mouth of the harbor and then, before a light southwesterly breeze, and with the dipping of "Old Glory," which he carried at the top of the little mast, he headed out into the ocean. He is bound for Havre, France, and from there will go through the rivers and canals to the Mediterranean, pass Gibraltar to the Western islands, thence to Porto Rico and Cuba. and through the gulf to the Mississippi, and up the "Father of Waters" to the St. Louis exposition, where he will exhibit his little craft. He expects to make the voyage in about 50 days, although he is provisioned for a longer time if necessity requires.

He has previously made two voyages across, and a third through the Great Lakes, and his friends are confident that he will accomplish his purpose.

DROUGHT AND LOCUST PEST

Interfered With Some Crops, but Suffering Much Less Than Expected -Loss of Cattle From Rhinderpest the Most Serious Feature

Washington, June 9.- The war department has made public a report re eived from Governor Taft, replying to statements made by Lieutenant General Miles, after his visit to the islands

"That there is a shortage in the isl ands of the usual food supply is undoubtedly true, but I have been sur prised to find thus far how little real famine or hunger there has been. I have not received a single call from a single provincial governor for rice for free distribution in the entire archipelago. The action of the commission in directing a proclamation by the civil governor calling upon the people everywhere to plant quickly growing food products had very wide influence in stirring up the people to provide against the coming of famine. "It is true that an unexampled drought in the islands has prevented this planting from being as productive as it otherwise would have been, and that the locusts, too, have interfered with some of the crops, but, on the whole. I have been greatly surprised to The dreamy, restful sort, 69c to $4 50 find the suffering so much less than we expected it to be. The most serious feature of the situation is the loss of cattle from rhinderpest. The fields of the islands are infected with reinderpest, so that cattle from the other islands to choose from, $3.98 to $25.00 brought here are almost sure to have the disease. It is necessary, therefore, that all cattle brought here shall be immunized by having a serum injected into their veins which will render them immune for three or four raonths, and at the same time by being inoculated with the rhinderpest virus, which renders them immune at least for five years and probably longer. We have made a contract for the delivery of 19. $3.25 to $7.50 000 carabao in the islands with the permanent immunization. ! am unable $18.00 to $30.00 to see that the government transports adapted to our purposes at perhaps one-fourth or one-fifth of the cost of op-98c to $3.50 erating the transports as proposed by the lieutenant general of the army. We have some 12 or 14 coast guard vessels which can transport rice quickly to $5,00 any part of the archipelego, and we can purchase rice in the Orient at a much cheaper price than we can bring corn or wheat from the United States. It is exceedingly important that we shall not pauperize the people of hese islands by unnecessary gratuitous distribution of rice. In anticipation of : corner in rice, we made a purchase of rice involving the expenditure of about $$00,000 gold. We succeeded in breaking the corner and keeping down the price of rice. We have sold the rice in various parts of the archipelago nearly at cost whenever the merchants in that neighborhood insisted on forcing the price peyond what was reasonable. The purchase of cattle and the landing of them in the slands are attended with the greatest difficulty, for the reasons I have stated. The price at which we have contracted for the purchase of the first 10,000 is $88 Mexican, delivered in Manila com pletely immunized. "I think generally the statement of facts in the report of the lieutenant general is correct, so far at least as the dreadful depression in agriculture by reason of the loss of the cattle is concerned. The danger from famine has not been as great as I supposed it was, and the lieutenant general was justified in supposing it was from the reports which he heard.'

> His Last Hope Realized. [From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.]

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhœa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

LONG DROUGHT BROKEN New England Forests and Farms Get

last night ended the 50 days' drought in corthern and southern New England and quenched most of the forest fires blackened wastes. Fitful showers came to different and widely separated ocalities during the afternoon, and at the setting of the sun the indications were not especially promising for rain. But with nightfall the wind swung around into the easterly section of the compass, bringing a "sea turn" and a heavy rain which drenched the entire travelled inward and brought relief to entire New England.

The drought just ended has been the longest and most severe for a great many years. Temperatures during the last 50 days have ranged from frost to midsummer torridi.ess, and damage has accompanied each extreme, frost having killed early vegetables and the hot lands until it was tinder fuel for fires which sprung up on every hand.

A plan of the old Hancock cemetery, which have turned vast areas into such as now being made by City Engineer Flood, is something that has long been needed. If there ever was a plan or any book of records showing the complete list of burials in this cemetery it disappeared years ago.

Many from out of town visit this historic spot every year, and it almost invariably happens that some one of New England coast line. The storm the party visits City Hall to inquire the location of some particular grave. In every case their query is unanswered, and is only solved by an almost endless search among the old headstones, the nscriptions on many of which are nearly effaced by the ravages of time.

The plan being made by the City Engineer will show every headstone and weather parched meadow and brush grave that can be located. Each of these will bear a number. With the plan will be an alphabetical index of names and the number accompanying the name will serve as an index to the

INVESTIGATION ORDERED.

Concerning Affairs at Institutions on Long Island in Boston Harbor.

Boston, June 9.—On recommendation of Mayor Collins the board of aldermen appointed a committee with full power to investigate the charges recently made against the manner in which affairs of the city's pauper institutions at Long Island are conducted. The complaint which resulted in this action was contained in a letter to Mayor Collins from Henry Dobbins, a member of the board of trustees. Upon receipt of this letter a conference between the mayor and the full board of trustees was called to be held at the mayor's office and at that meeting it was decided to recommend to the board of aldermen that an in vestigating committee be appointed.

In accordance with this decision Mayor Collins, in a message to the board of aldermen, requested the joint committee on pauper institutions to go to Long Island and hear all charges and all persons that might appear. This committee, consisting of 13 members, was at once appointed.

The letter from Trustee Dobbins to the mayor said:

"I wish to call your attention to the management of the Long Island pauper institutions and ask you to make investigations of the management and also of the poisoning cases of May 8, and other cases of neglect or abuse which may be presented for investiga-

"I also wish you to consider if it would not be better, in the interests of a pauper institution, to have a superintendent and an assistant superintendent who are not medical men, and also if it would not be for the best interests of the Long Island pauper institutions to reorganize the present hospital and abolish all clinical and pathological lectures and operations, unnecessary for the proper care of the sick paupers."

At the meeting in the mayor's office Mayer Collins asked Mr. Dobbins what he had to say. The latter replied that his letter asked for an investigation of all matters at Long Island and the abuses there. He told the mayor that if an investigation was ordered plenty of charges could be made, which would be substantiated by eye witnesses. He stated that he had received many letters containing complaints. He said: We are running what you might call a medical school. We are spending money that ought to go for the maintenance of the paupers. Just note the number of acctors that go down there! After some experience they leave when they can get a better place. Now that the New Jersey state building at the World's Fair will be a reproduction of Washington's headquarters as Morristown, the memory of John Adams should certainly be remembered n a like-way by Massachusetts. In this historic reproduction by New Jersey no vogue in Colonial days, and the decorations will embrace many Washington relics. The building will be headquarters for the New Jersey Commissioners, and a resort for visitors from New Jersey. A like use should be made of the Massachusetts building and the Adams birthplace reproduced would be hospitable and interesting.

CHAOTIC CONDITIONS

MANY NATIVES KILLED Prevent Accurate Estimate of Loss of Life and Property by Flood St. Louis, June 9.-So great an extent of territory is covered by the slood, so constantly changing are the conditions as the water creeps higher and renders the situation the more chaotic, and so unreliable are the various rumors of the devastation, that a substantiated summary of the losses of lives and property caunot be obtained.

The river stage is 27.5 feet and stationary. Twenty lives are known to have been lost. Over 200,000 acres of rich farming lands are under water. All of Venice and the greater parts of Madison and Granite City are also unler water and 25,000 people are rendered homeless.

Freight traffic is completely paralyzed and passenger traffic practically so. The shipping and manufacturing districts of East St. Louis for three miles along the river front are under from two to eight feet of water. Hundreds, and probably thousands, of head of stock are drowned. East St. Louis is now threatened with complete inundation, but St. Louis is flooded only along the water front. The entire property loss is estimated at $3,000,000.

Shock Too Great For Sheep Cherbourg, June 9.-The system of superimposed turrets on warships has been condemned by the naval commis sion. The final trials were to test the possibility of men occupying the lower turret while firing was going on from the upper turret. Four sheep were tied in the lower turret to represent gunners and after 10 shots had been fired three of the sheep were found to be dead. The fourth had broken away and sought refuge in the captain's cabin.

Senators Going to Alaska Washington, June 9.-Senator Dillingham of Vermont is arranging the details of a visit to be made to Alaska by a sub-committee of the senate committee on territories, of which he is chairman. The committee will leave Washington about June 20 and probably will be absent six weeks. The purpose of the visit is to make a general investigation into affairs in the territory with a view to making recommendations for legislation.

Watson was a joint publisher of a news bulletin issued in this city. In addition to running the paper he owned a barber shop which he has been trying to sell recently. He was the promoter of a patent medicine concern and the treasurer of what is known as the District Co-operative association, which takes its money from employes on deposits and lends it out again. Many of the office-holders at the district building are depositors in the association, turning the money over entirely to Watson, and getting his personal receipt in tiny books resembling bankbooks. Several months ago Chief of Police

Sylvester investigated Watson's rec erd and it is stated he found that Watson was sent to the reform school while in his minority on a charge of Watson's bail was fixed at $25,000. He spent the night in a police station. In a long statement, which he made to a reporter, Watson attributed the alleged shortage to careless bookkeeping and denied that he had been guilty of any embezzlement.

St. Louis, June 10.—The Mississippi

flood, which Monday night began to recede after reaching a stage of 375 feet, began a rapid rise yesterday, estublishing the bighest water mark ever recorded in St. Louis. The water crept up from 37.1 feet, steadily increasing until at noon the stage had reached 37.75 feet. From that time until last night the river remained stationary. What has caused the rise is problematical.

It is estimated that 8000 refugees have found shelter in St. Louis and vicinity. It is estimated that 4000 people are still living in flooded homes in Granite City, Venice and Madison. A supply boat has been outfitted and will make daily trips to relieve suffering.

The flood situation in East St. Louis is still critical. It was believed that the flood had been conquered and work on the levees was stopped, but the additional rise caused work on the levees to be resumed and all business was abandoned once more.

Reports indicate that both the Misouri and Mississippi rivers are falling above here. Heavy winds probably had much to do with forcing back water from lowlands into the channel and helped to cause the rise. For this reason it is believed that the flood crisis is over and today will see steady decline, which will continue until normal conditions prevail once more.

SCARED BY SEA GHOSTS.

Phosphorescent Glow Caused Herd of Cattle to Stampede and Drown.

In Mathews county, Va., the high winds recently whipped the waves of Chesapeake bay into fury, and, being accompanied by a high tide, much of the marsh ground was submerged, says a special dispatch from Richmond, Va. to the New York World. At this season of the year herds of cattle are turned out to fatten on the luscious growth of the marshes.

The high water was accompanied by a phosphorescent glow, and the flashing of the waves frightened the herd on the marsh so that it was stampeded Many of the cattle dashed into the waters of the bay, and, swimming straight out until exhausted, they were > Summer's Interpreter. Deep in the fragrant woods I heard The summer sing to me. And all the grove's green heart was With haunting melody.

So near she seemed I almost thought To see her face and press
The lyric lips whose singing brought
The hour such happiness.

With fey the branches lightly shook Their leaves to hear her voice Her music echoed in the brook And made the grass rejoice.

It thrilled the golden air around; Its rapture moved the bees,
Whose hum is heat turned into sound

High in their honey trees. But not until there fell a hush Did I the secret know;
'Twas her interpreter, the thrush,
That sang for summer so.

All summer in the thrush's throat,
The sweetness of the year!

THE CAMPHOR MONOPOLY.

How Japan Controls the Trade of Formosa, controls the camphor product of the world, and, according to the Tokyo correspondent of the London limes, the Japanese diet recently passed a bill extending the Formosan camphor monopoly to the whole empire. The Chinese yield has never exceeded 220,000 pounds, while the yield in Formosa has in recent years averaged over 6,000,000 pounds. In the rest of Japan the annual production is about 300,000 pounds.

To take full advantage of the situation the Japanese government four years ago placed the manufacture of Formosan camphor under its control and made the sale of such camphor a monopoly. Its objects were, it is said, twofold-increased revenue and a more complete control of the camphor forests. Japan claimed the Formosan forests as the exclusive property of the

NOT TO BE TRUSTED French General Places Little Confi-

Beni-Ounif, Algeria, June 10 .- Enhave come to make their submission to the French, offering to accept any terms. General O'Connor refused to receive them, saying he would only treat with the ameer or with the head men of the villages personally. As Figuig is independent and does, not recognize the suzerainty of the Sultan of Morocco General O'Connor will only see those whose authority is recognized by each tribe. The general is sceptical regarding the promises of surrender, owing to the fanaticism of the population. The raising of the standard of a holy war by any chief would lead to the promises being repudiated.

General O'Connor has decided to wait 24 hours, when, if the head men have not made their submission, he will resume operations. The inhabitants of Figuig are terrorized by the power of the French shells which reduced the town to a mass of ruins and they are particularly impressed by the fact that the French did not have a single man killed or wounded.

The Figuigians, who foresaw that the French would come up to the walls of Zenaga, placed fougades filled with gunpowder beneath the ramparts. When these exploded the Figuigians themselves were blown up

NEW LAND DISCOVERED

voys from seven villages around Figuig By German Antarctic Exploring Expedition

NAMED FOR THE EMPEROR

Covered With Ice, With Exception of Extinct Volcano-No Sickness, Accident or Death Among Members of Expedition During Journey

Simonstown, Cape Colony, June 10 .-The German Antarctic steamer Gauss has arrived here and will remain about three weeks to refit and then will proice. The expedition has been a great success and not a single casualty occurred among those on board throughout day she died. her stay in the Antarctic regions.

After sailing from Cape Town Dec. 7, 1901, the Gauss called at Herguelen island, where a party was landed. The vessel reached floating ice Feb. 14, 1902. and was icebound on Feb. 22 in lat. 66.30 and west long. 90. The expedition discovered a new land, which they named Emperor William II Land. It was covered with ice, with the exception of an inactive volcano. The expedition was icebound here for almost a year, the ship being fast in the pack ice. The crew went into winter quarters, and many scientific investigations were carried out during this period. Several expeditions with dogs and sleighs left the winter quarters, but found the season too advanced and their progress was hampered by fearful snowstorms and darkness.

The Gauss made her way out of the ce with northward flowing currents, and leaving the ice April 8 of this year, she proceeded to Durban, passing Kerguelen island and calling at St. Paul and New Amsterdam islands.

The expedition enjoyed good health and there was no sickness, accident or death among its members. Professor Drygalski speaks in the highest terms of the vessel, both at sea and in the ice and as regards its equipment. There were enough provisions on board to last the expedition another two years. There was no trouble with the dog teams.

The results of the expedition are briefly: The discovery of a new land in the Polar circle and innumerable investigations of interest to scientists. hearing. Specimens will be sent on ahead to

The expedition did not sight the British Antarctic expedition steamer Discovery, now icebound in the Antarctic regions, nor the ship Morning, which was sent to the Discovery's assistance.

QUARREL BETWEEN BOYS Has Its Sequel In the Indictment of a Woman For Murder St. Johnsbury, Vt., June 10.-A bill charging Mrs. Jennie Aldrich of East Hardwick with the murder of Mrs. Mary Massey on April 12 has been reported by the grand jury of Caledonia county. The case will be tried at this term of court. Mrs. Aldrich has been in the county jail under $2000 bonds since the assault.

The state, in the preliminary hearing, alleged that the Massey boy and the Aldrich boy became involved in a quarrel over the question of fishing in the stream which runs along in the rear of the Massey home; that Mrs. Massey interfered and that Mrs. Aldrich ran from her house, crept up behind Mrs. Massey, threw her to the ground, kicked her and beat her, and then, dragging her to the edge of a steep embankment, threw her to the bottom of the ceed homewards. The vessel shows ravine, 20 feet below. Here, for sevoutward signs of her experiences in the | eral hours, Mrs. Massey remained in an unconscious state, but eventually, regaining her senses, crawled to her home on her hands and knees. Bear Looks Pleasant

There was a dancing bear belonging to a traveling showman who was to have his photograph taken. The man set his camera up in the middle of the road and the master handed a long pole to the bear and told him to stand up straight and hold perfectly still for a few moments.

The bear did just as he was told to do, but the man was dissatisfied and walked around and around trying to find a better position. "Hurry up," said the master.

"Very well, I'll soon be ready," answered the man. But somehow or other he could not get things in shape, and the bear was getting more and more restless all the time. After awhile, however, he said he thought that everything was all right, and he said to the bear:

"Now, look pleasant, please!" And that was more than the bear could stand. Mr. Bear took a firm hold on the pole that he held in his paws and made a dash for the man. Right upon his nose he cracked the man and sent him umbling over on the ground.

"Hold on, there; don't hurt that man!" cried the master. And with that the bear started after the master. This fellow fell on his knees and begged not to be hurt.

"Very well," said the bear. "But you must do one thing - you must both stand up here together and look pleasant while I take your pictures."

They agreed to do this, and the bear stood up and kept them standing there for three hours. Then he said he thought he had better go to dinner. He trotted off into the woods and never did return. - St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Tariff Issue Dropped In British He further exonerates all the officers of House of Commons

the Government and Relieves Chamberlain of Necessity of Resigning-No Serious Differences In Cabinet

London, June 11 .- By a dextrous and extraordinary speech, Premier Balfour last night temporarily smoothed over the differences in the cabinet, relieved Colonial Secretary Chamberlain of any necessity of resigning, and for the moment averted a crisis which threatened the Unionist party. This Mr. Balfour accomplished without committing the government either to protection or free trade, though the effect of his speech will generally be taken to mean that the tariff issue is to be shelved for the present. Henry Chaplin's amendment, which gave rise to the most interesting debate of the present parliament, was defeated by the overwhelming majority of 396 votes, composed of Unionists, Liberals and Irish members. The minority who supported Mr. Chaplin's amendment were New York, June 11.-The Jewish almost all followers of the government, Daily News has received the following while many others of the Conservative cablegram from Warsaw: "The gov-

It was 10:30 last night when Premier Balfour sprang to his feet to reply to the taunts of the opposition, and appeals from his own party.

In a whimsical vein, Mr. Balfour explained that the only reason that the corn tax was put on was because the government wanted money, and the only reason it was taken off was because the government wanted money no longer. Reverting to the charges of vacillation made against him, the premier declared that he himself, though a believer in free trade (which statement met with loud appiause), did not regard it as a fetish, and he had absolutely an open mind regarding the necessity for any himself had an open mind. He admit-$\diamage \diamage \d ted that differences of opinion existed within the cabinet, but these were not serious enough to cause the resignation of any member.

Mr. Balfour made an impassioned allowing the premier to retain an open so superior to all party issues. The system and no tax on food was ever imposed without the full assent of the working classes. They were confronted, however, continued the premier, by three great phenomenons: Huge tariff walls against the united kingdom, the growth of the trusts, and the desire of the colonies for closer fiscal union with the mother country. These factors could not be ignored. He maintained that the method of starting a public discussion was the only way to deal with them, though he did not commit himself to Mr. Chamberlain's more advanced program. It would be folly and rashness, he said, to interfere with the great system which had been in operation for so many years without the most careful examination and without due regard for history and the traditions of the past, while at the same time they could not ignore those new problems which the ever-changing face of industrial life presented for decision and the action of statesmen.

This non-committal speech and appeal, nade with all the eloquence and so successfully, for an open mind not only in the cabinet, but in the Unionist party, brought a constant salvo of cheers. Throughout, Mr. Chamberlain sat the behind the leader of the house, beaming with satisfaction.

With the exception of some irreconcilable malcontents, the Unionist party is greatly relieved by the outcome of from the stage of Sander's theater. the debate, all the members expressing gladness that the crisis is passed, though at the same time believing that the same cabinet cannot long continue to embrace such opposites on the fiscal policy of Great Britain as Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Chancellor of the Exchequer Ritchie.

Fighting For Oil Fields Berlin, June 11.-The competition beween the Standard Oil company and the Disconto Gesollschaft of this city for the purchase of the Roumanian oil wells is keeping the German press busy. The statement is published here that the German concerr has obtained great concessions on the condition that the Berlin bank regulate the Roumanian finances. The individual owners of the oil wells are said to be dissatisfied at these arrangements. They wish permission to sell their property to whoever will pay the highest price. The owners favor the Standard Oil company because the latter, it is said, will spend $20,000,000 in the acquisition of the oil fields. do everything possible to save the city. Not a wheel of industry is turning in East St. Louis. The smokeless chimneys of manufacturing plants stand lifeless while the flood whirls at the foundations. The vast railroad yards are outlined by hundreds of half-submerged cars and here and there stand locomotives only half visible. Huge grain elevators stand surrounded by a veritable sea.

To the south, beyond the railway yard, are thousands of homes, mainly humble cottages owned by laborers and containing their all, submerged to the eaves. In northern East St. Louis the description is repeated, but not on so large a

Along the river front to the west a levee of sand bags from two to six feet high and two miles long keeps the river out.

Without warning the river suddenly began to rise. The city was made safe along the river front, but suddenly a new danger menaced. Word was received that the Illinois Central embankment skirting the river along the southern boundary of the city was threatening to give way. Couriers were sent on horseback and afoot to shout warnings to the inhabitants of the southern half of the city. Carloads of sand bags were rushed to the place and work was hurriedly begun. Accustomed to warnings of impending danger, the inhabitants did not leave their homes. Higher and higher crept the water until a thin stream began pouring over the embankment and suddenly it broke.

When President Roosevelt selected Robert J. Wynne for First Assistant Postmaster General the politicians were aghast. "Why he has no political influence," they said. But he has done the President and the party more good than an army of politicians.

One not familiar with St. Louis and icinity naturally thinks that ill-fated street. East St. Louis is a part of the big western netropolis of St. Louis, but the former is on the east of the Mississippi river and the latter on the west, and as the river is the boundary line between the states of Illinois and Missouri, there is no chance of their ever being united. The situation is much the same as New York city and Jersey city. East St. Louis is, or was. a city of 29,655 population by the census of 1900, about a fifth larger than Quincy. It is connected with St. Louis by two high bridges, and all the railroads from the east, north and south centre there and cross the river. Early in May the Mississippi river was so low that the Monitor Arkansas which participated in the World's Fair dedication was unable to return to the Gulf of Mexico. Then there was over 80 feet headway for steamers under the Eads bridge, but oday the river has risen nearly forty feet, and steamboats are unable to pass Decorator and Paper Hanger. under the bridges. His Last Hope Realized.

[From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.]

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and atterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhœa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was race, doughnut race, etc. The winners given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. MAINE'S FOREST FIRES Resulted In Loss, From Stump to Saw, of About $10,800,000

Bangor, Me., June 11 .- Reports comnorthern Maine indicate that the estimates of damages by the great forest fires have been far too low rather than exaggerated, as many at first thought. While detailed reports have not been LARGE DEBTS LEFT BEHIND received from all sections, John Cassidy of this city, one of the foremost lumbermen of the state, basing his estimates opinion that the total loss on standing timber alone will exceed $10,000,000. Mr. Cassidy says that at least 300,000 acres of timber had been burned over, upon which, at an average of 3000 feet to the acre, stood about 900,000,000 feet WOLLASTON PARK-C. E. Hosmer, cor. of timber. The stumpage is worth from $2 to $4 per M, and at an average of $3 per M the owners would lose in stump-age fees not less than $2,700,000. But, says Cassidy, the actual loss by value of the stumpage. The loss to the various industries, from stump to saw, must be considered, and taking it all toto four years' cut on the Penobscot river, Eva Boover's Presence of Mind Haverhill, Mass., June 11 .- Mrs. Herbert Scannell had just left her house when an oil stove exploded. Boston, June 11.-William G. Reed, formerly one of Boston's leading lawyers and Republican politicians, has been missing from Boston for more than a month and none of his many the timber fires is far greater than the friends appears to know his present gether he sets the loss to the people on and by many it is alleged that this is $00,000,000 feet, or $10,800,000. The the chief reason for his present absence timber destroyed is an amount equal from Boston. His indebtedness is said to exceed $100,000 and during the past and more than a year's cut in the entire two years many civil suits have been brought against him, everything that his creditors could lay their hands upon having been attached.

Up to the present time nothing of direct criminal nature bas been brought against Reed, although last March inspectors connected with the bureau of criminal investigation made investigations in regard to his dealings in certain mining properties, as the result of complaints that were made to Chief Inspector Watts by people who claimed to have been his victims. However, the police were unable to secure a warrant frightened to make her escape. The for the arrest of Reed, as the result of the investigations showed that the dealings were more of a civil than a criminal nature.

The information that Reed is missing Lynn, Mass., June 11.-A man who from Boston came as a big surprise to gave his name as Sidney Laraby ran many of his friends and acquaintances, amuck on Munroe street late last night although it was generally known that and although no one was hurt more he had not been seen around his old

Mr. Reed was formerly prominent because of the fact that he was law partner of ex-Mayor Curtis. He be came known as a promoter by organizing the Hub Brewing company, which afterwards went into the hands of a receiver. A great many politicians and liquor dealers bought stock in the company and when the company collapsed many people lost much money. Subsequently he was interested in fully half a dozen mining schemes. In connection with all these mining ventures Reed organized companies and in many of them he became the treasurer. He prevailed upon his friends in both the business, legal and political world, to peared at Chebacco pond a year ago this invest their money, but in nearly every case the investments proved unprofitable, and Reed's own possessions went along with theirs.

Until recently he had occupied with his family (a wife and two sons) the handsome residence at 207 Bay State road, Back Bay. The property was valued at $30,000, but Reed had only a small equity in it, as it was heavily mortgaged. The mortgagee recently foreclosed, and the property is to be sold at public auction for unpaid taxes.

Mr. Reed's oldest son has been attending Harvard university recently, but inquiry at that institution revealed the fact that he is also absent from the city, and the interpretation put upon these facts by those interested is that the entire family has gone away. Reed is a graduate from Dartmout?

college and a member of a number of leading clubs.

A TRIPLE MURDERER Mrs McKnight May Have Caused the Death of Fifteen Others

Kalkaska, Mich., June 11.-After two week's work Prosecutor Smith has secured the confession of Mrs. Mary McKnight to the cold-blooded, premeditated murder of her own brother, John Murphy, Gertrude Murphy, his young wife, and their 3-months-old baby: She said: "I did'nt inte id harm to any of them. The haby woke up and cried while its mother was gone and I mixed up a little strychnine in a glass with some water and gave a spoonful to the baby. When Gertrude came home and found the baby dead she got awfully nervous. She came to me and said: Mary, can't you give me something to quiet me?' I said that would, and I gave her one of the capsules. She had spasms right after that, and I suppose that it was the strychnine that killed her. John was feeling bad one night, a couple of weeks after Gertrude died. He came to me and wanted something to quiet him. I whereabouts. It is a well known fact had two or three of the capsules on my that Reed is financially embarrassed dresser and I told him to go and get one of them. I thought it would sooth him and then I thought that it would be for the best if he were to go anyway. He helped himself. Then he went to bed, and bye and bye he called me. Mother came too, and he began to have these same spasms. I suppose that the strychnine was working." The whole of the confession was given voluntarily and Mrs. McKnight signed it after Presecutor Smith had written it out.

Eight other persons besides the three to whose murder Mrs. McKnight confessed, investigation shows, have died in the past 15 years under circumstances that are thought to be very suspicious. All of the eight were either relatives or intimate friends who died while living with Mrs. McKnight or while she was at their house. All are said to have shown symptoms that are now believed to indicate strychnine poisoning.

VERDICT REACHED

n the Case of William Stearns, the Alleged Winchester "Slugger" Cambridge, Mass., June 12. - The trial of William H. Stearns, the alleged Winchester "slugger," is concluded in the Middlesex superior court and it is expected that a sealed verdict will be re-INOURY IS WIDENING turned today. The jury retired at 4:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon for consideration of the evidence, and remained secreted in their room until about 10 o'clock. They then left the court house for their homes. Had there been a disagreement and in the absence of special instructions from Judge Lawton they would have been compelled to remain in ession until some decision was reached.

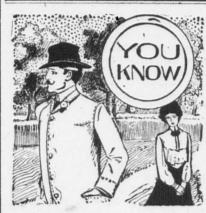

Two events of importance characterized the closing day of the trial, one, the appearance of the defendant or the stand as a witness in his own be-And Similar Employes In New York half, and the other, which came in the nature of a surprise, was the presentation of records by the prosecution showing that Stearns has thrice before faced a court of justice. In one instance the charge against him was breaking and entering. Stearns' counsel objected strongly against allowing these records to go in as evidence, but he was overruled.

In rebuttal, Miss Bolton, one of the omplainants, again appeared on the stand and denied that she ever told Mrs. Stearns, the defendant's wife, that while she thought Stearns was the man who assaulted her, she was not sure.

Alleged Violation of Postal Law New Haven, June 12.-G. H. Gill credit man in one of the largest de partment stores here, has been arrested on the charge of putting unmail able matter in the postoffice. A letter addressed to Gill's wife, from whom be has been separated, was put into Gill's postoffice box. It is alleged that he remailed it and wrote on the face of it: "Postmaster at New Haven: This woman has deserted and is living with another man in Whitneyville." It is said that Mrs. Gill lives with her father in Whitneyville.

Cheated Coal Buyers

Boston, June 12.-John H. At the start the Columbia gave evidence for the first time this season of the sailing qualities that had made her a cup defender. In surprising fashion she drew out from under the Reliance's lee, dropping the new boat astern, but to windward. For a few moments it looked as if the faithful defender had recovered her form of two years ago, for the first tack had placed her to windward of the other boats. Then she began to drop astern, though holding her windward position and, after half an hour's sailing, tacked and stood away to the eastward, while Reliance and Constitution kept on their tack southward. Meanwhile the contest between the Reliance and Constitution was close and spirited.

In the first five minutes the Rellance began to outfoot the Constitution and to work out from her position under the lee bow of the older boat, so that when the Constitution tacked at 12:21 the Reliance had got the coveted windward berth. By splendid seamanship and pinching his boat into the wind until ber jibtepsail fluttered Captain Barr had worked the Keliance 400 yards to windward of his rival. Failing to work cut of a position in the lee of the Reliance the Constitution went about and when the Reliance promptly followed, tacked again, only to fall into line with the leader, but farther astern than before. She lost a minute in the effort but was no longer in danger of being blanketed by the Reliance.

Captain Barr then resumed his tactics of pinching his boat into the wind and the splendid racer responded to his seamanship. Inch by inch she worked up to windward, until after a little more than an hour from the start, and halfway to the turn, the Constitution was in the wake of the new boat and hundreds of yards astern.

The wind had freshened to seven knots and suddenly hauled from southeast to south by east. The Reliance and Constitution could fetch the turn in one long slant, but the Columbia suffered severely by making her early turn She was three miles off to the eastward of the others and could not fetch better than two miles leeward of the turn.

Under a growing wind the Reliance was footing fast, with occasional spurts of froth flying from under her bow and adding length by length to her lead over the Constitution. Approaching the turn she was nearly half a mile ahead.

Fifteen minutes before the Reli ance reached the mark the Columbia came about and headed for the turn. The Reliance had beaten the Constitution 5m., 27s., and the Columbia 11m.,

Turning the mark all the boats broke out balloon jibtopsails and spinnakers, and a pretty spectacle they made of it, with their tall triangles of billowing canvas towering over their lean hulls and long bows, the Reliance leading the procession to the finish line a mile ahead of the Columbia and half a mile ahead of the Constitution.

On the way home the wind hauled more to the south and spinnakers were taken in. The Columbia carried hers longest and lost by it, but the Constitution's fine reaching qualities, almost held her place, although the Reliance gained slightly on her and nearly two minutes on Columbia on the home run. The mask divorcing one personality from the other no longer subserves its purpose, for a jury in the criminal session of the superior court Thursday afternoon, before Judge Bishop, found that Wales was the man who did business at 54A Warren street, Charlestown, under the name of Jones. Imprisonment now stares him in the Only 40 minutes were necessary for the jury to deliberate, and on every one of the 21 counts in the indictment, charging the accused with larceny, it found him guilty.

For two weeks he held forth in Charlestown as a public benefactor, offering coal for sale at $10 a ton, when it was retailing at $12 and higher prices. He pretended to represent three philanthropists, who wished to realize enough on the coal to defray expenses.

From far and near persons wended their way to his office, each bent on taking advantage of the beneficence of the three men, whose names the accused refused to divulge, but who, it has appeared, were mythical.

All had sought out his office becaus of an advertisement in the newspapers luringly setting out the offer to relieve the people suffering by reason of the scarcity of coal. He did relieve his customers, not however of their suffering, but of their money.

For two days the case was on trial and witness after witness related the circumstances incident to dealings with the prisoner.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Sughrue said there never was a time when the poor were in greater distress than last winter, and it would have been thought that every man would have kept his hands from any attempt to injure them. The offence of the defendant by comparison made the burglar and the thief gentle men and good fellows, and he was no fit to be associated with men in state prison. There was not any place devised in which this man would fit said the prosecuting attorney.

The City and the Company Should Get Together.

But little has been done toward a renewal of the street lighting contract. Treasurer Faxon of the company says day. 'Chas. C. Hearn is giving the people of Quincy a great opportunity to obtain a reliable remedy at small cost if it cures and at no expense at all if it does not cure.

5-9-12-16 will have to furnish more lights.

The order as passed by the City Counil called for a contract for one year. This it is understood the Light Co. object to. It is also intimated that Fourth Annual Concert Mayor Bryant would be willing to drop this clause and to execute a contract for three years if a ten per cent. reducduction is granted.

Commissioner Knowlton, in an interview, said he was considering the matter of street lighting and if no agreement was reached that some other method of street lighting would be adopted.

The Kitson light such as were used n City Square Thursday night cost $60 per year, burning all night, against $75 for electric arc lamps, burning on the noon schedule.

There is also a gasolene lamp which s being considered to take the place of the incandescent electric lights. This lamp will cost $8.50 each per year, burning on the moon schedule against $18.50 now paid for the incandescent lamps burning under the same schedule.

The four lights erected on Hancock street Thursday were to show how they would work, They were not all in readiness to burn that night, however, and only those two near the First church were lighted. They gave a brilliant illumination in spite of the JOB PRINTING heavy fog.

PAYING TELLERS' ERRORS.

These Officials Are Usually Ready to Rectify Mistakes. A bank officer, referring in a recent address to the responsibility of paying tellers, declares that the idea that such whom he has cashed a check if he had not made a mistake? As the narrative usually runs the self satisfied money counter behind the desk is inclined to become indignant and replies in a pompous and abrupt manner that he had devoted much of her time during never makes mistakes. The consider ate party then states that the amount paid him exceeded that named in the check, but the teller still maintains that there can be no error either way as he never makes mistakes.

> Justus von Liebig. Von Liebig was skillful in correcting popular delusions on scientific subjects.

A notable example of this may be found in the overthrow of the once much discussed theory of "spontane ous combustion," a comparatively modern error, dating, it seems, only from after Lavoisier had explained the real nature of fire, which was from time to time put forward with success in the defense of persons on trial for murder Mrs. Harry Russell, Miss Fay Hitch- and received its last support from cock, Mrs. Charles A. Price, Miss Charles Dickens. His success in this direction throws a pleasant light on the progress of civilization. One wonders what would have been the fate of King, Mrs. Harry L. "Imaginativa" occupies the place now given on the charts to "ideality;" "fantasia" takes the place of the modern "marvelousness," "estimantia" of "constructiveness," while "cogitantia" is given instead of "hope." Obrenovitch Rule Prevailed In Servia Nearly a Century

As Well as Queen, Her Two Brothers fully Planned and Executed by Men of High Rank, Acting In Concert With the Army-Prince Karageorgewitch, Pretender to the Throne, Proan Unenviable Record-People Generally Approve Action

Belgrade, June 12 .- A military conspiracy, which subsequent events in the early hours of Thursday morning her two brothers and several ministers, were assassinated.

Prince Peter Karageorgevitch, the pretender to the throne, has been parliament, which has been summoned to meet on June 15

The revolution was executed without any opposition on the part of the people of Belgrade, and the capital and the ountry remain tranquil.

While the main outlines of the event which took place within the royal alace are known, details are conflictng owing to the extraordinary secrecy with which the plot was contrived and carried out. The chief conspirators were all men of high rank, who acted in concert with the army. The participation of the latter in the assassinations, which blotted out the Obrenovitch dynasty, which has ruled Servia, with a short intermission, for nearly a entury, is mainly due to the attitude of King Alexander and his consort towards the officers of the army, whom he always treated with scant courtesy. His desire to remove the war school from Belgrade to Shebatz gave the officers of-

The house is elegantly furnished, though the prince is not rich and keeps only a woman servant and a valet. He has several times proclaimed himself heir to the Servian throne, but has no entourage, as his poverty is known and the presence of a court would have excited suspicion.

Russian money was undoubtedl; used in the revolution which, according to general belief, was planned here. It is recalled that when the Austrian empress was murdered by the anarchist Lucheni in this city in 1898, Prince Karageorgevitch openly applauded the deed. He is extremely popular here with all classes.

The prince usually visited Vienna and St. Petersburg every year, but 1ecently the prince has been several times to Vienna and has also visited St. Petersburg, where his son is at school. He is still considered to be a member of the Montenegrin royal family, into

CRISIS HAS PASSED First Reports of Flood Disaster at

East St Louis Were Exaggerated East St. Louis, June 12.-The crisis of the flood situation in this city has passed. Boat crews which were occupied in rescuing victims of the flood now devote themselves to saving property and bringing to higher ground belated refugees who previously had not believed themselves in immediate danger. Since the disastrous break in the Ilinois Central levee the flood has made no dangerous breaks. With the river stationary at 37.9 feet, the probability of a recession of the river level and the proven strength of the Broadway embankment, an extension of the calamity is not expected. There is a general disposition to accept minimum reports of loss of life rather than the first exaggerated stories One prominent undertaker avers that there has been no loss of life directly in the flood, although there have been deaths due later to the overflow.

The work has been and will continue to be the caring for the refugees. The supply of food seems ample, but the efugees lack bedding, but it is believed that this will be supplied by tonight. The city is under quasi-military rule though Mayor Cook and his chief of Decorator and Paper Hanger. police are the guiding heads.

Demand of City Employes St. John, June 12.—The laborers employed by the city on street and water department work decided last night to strike unless their demands for increased pay be granted by Wednesday next. They ask $1.25 a day for those now receiving $1 and $1.50 for those paid $1.25 at present. They recently formed

ARBITRATION REFUSED

Union Cooks and Waiters at Chicago Go on Strike

LEADING HOTELS CRIPPLED

Proprietors Were Willing to Arbitrate, but Unions Would Not Consent-Efforts of Strikers to Organize Sympathetic Strikes Have Failed

Chicago, June 13 .- The strike in the hotels of Chicago, impending for the last three weeks, has materialized, and 25 of the leading hotels of Chicago are badly crippled in all departments. All the hotels are running, however, and the proprietors declare that the establishments will remain open for business at any cost.

The proprietors have agreed to submit nearly every point at issue to arbitration, but to this the unions will not consent. They insist that their demands for higher wages and shorter hours must be granted before they will arbitrate anything, and insist also upon the absolute recognition of the union.

The unions also demand that the members of the Hotel Keepers' association came to the officers of the employes' organization as individuals and not as members of any association.

The strikers have made efforts to divert supplies from the hotels, but have not been successful to any extent. They have hopes of bringing to their aid the members of the Teamsters and Engineers' unions, in order to keep food out of the hotels and to deprive the establishment of a supply of hot water. Present prospects are that they will be disappointed, for President Young of the Teamsters' union declares that his organization will not declare a sympathetic strike, because the cooks and waiters have placed themselves in the wrong in refusing to accept the offer of arbitration. The officers of the Engineers' union make the same declara-

Pickets surround every hotel in which the strike has been declared and details of police are patrolling the sidewalks around the buildings. All the hotels are open as usual and the proprietors are confident that they will be able to care for all guests that may ar-

The members of the Restaurant Keepers' association met last night and took action that is practically certain to shut up a number of their establishments. They decided to offer to submit all differences to a board of arbitration to be composed of seven members-three from the unions, three from the restaurant keepers and the seventh man to be chosen by the six, the decision of this board to be binding. All employes who will sign an agreement to accept this proposal will be allowed to remain at work and those who refuse will be asked to leave until such time as they shall be willing to accept arbitration. The unions already have refused to accept arbitration.

Union Stamp Surrendered

the cutters and stitchers formerly employed by Harney Bros., who came out on strike last January, was held last night, and voted to call the strike off in that factory, inasmuch as Harney Bros. have surrendered the stamp of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union. The same conditions that led to Harney Bros.' action are said to exist in all other factories where operatives were placed by the B. and S. W. U. Many of these operatives failed to pay dues to the union, and when the union demanded that three men be discharged for this cause Harney Bros. refused to discharge them, and their surrender of the union stamp followed.

THE LAWSON FLYER.

Mr. J. E. Miles, engineer of the "Lawson Flyer," is the brother of Mrs. Thomas Killian and Mrs. David Buhanan of Union street, South Braintree. The following is taken from the Boston Sunday Post:

One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortright. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

Topic.-Gold or God.-Luke xviii, 18-30. In the sermon on the mount Jesus said, "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." In these words the Master clearly lays down the principle that it is absolutely impossible for any one to have two supreme aims in life. This principle is one the force of which is easily recognized. can be supreme, and all else will revolve around it. This principle applies to God and money. It is absolutely impossible to give the supreme place to both God and money. Many would like to do it, and many have tried to do we have an illustration in the rich young ruler who came to Christ. "God life, but Christ soon convinced him that it must be God or gold. Both cannot have the supreme place, and all must therefore choose between them. Since it cannot be God and gold, but must be God or gold, there should be no question as to which should be given the first place. Money is not to be despised. Its possession is not to be lightly esteemed. Honestly obtained and properly used, it is and can be a to make it the master and everything else the servant, is a false and disastrous basis of life. God should always be given the first place and everything else in life made secondary to Him. raelites in the wilderness! To how many money is everything, although they may not realize it! It was so with the rich young ruler. Little did he imagine perhaps what a hold his riches had upon him until Christ put him to the test. True, he left Christ "sorrowto keep the commandments and had one stroke Christ had revealed the fact that deep down in his heart the supreme place was given not to God, but to gold. STEARNS' SENTENCE

topic For the Week Beginning June Slugger Will Be Free In Eighteen Years If He Behaves

Cambridge, Mass., June 13.-As the penalty for having committed an assault upon two young women at Winchester in the night time, William H. Stearns, a young man of Charlestown, was sentenced to the state prison for not less than 18 or more than 22 years. The sentence was imposed by Judge Law-When the announcement was ton. made the defendant broke down and wept under the strain of it. His wife screamed when the sentence was announced and was led from the room in a fainting condition.

The trial of Stearns was pursued with great interest because of the brutal nature of the attacks which were made upon the women. The complainants in the case were Miss Annie Bolton and Miss Annie Burke, both of Winchester. Each was assaulted on the night of April 21. Miss Burke was attacked in a lonely street, knocked down, and struck in the face. Her clothing was partly torn from her body. Her cries for assistance brought a neighbor, who rescued her. In the meantime the assailant disappeared. Later on in the night Miss Bolton was struck down in another section of Winchester and seriously bruised by the man who attacked her. Soon after the time of the assaults, Stearns was arrested on suspicion. At the jail to which he was taken both Miss Bolton and Miss Burke positively identified him as the man who had struck them. These identifications constituted the feature of the case of the government.

A Connecticut Murder Mystery Middletown, Conn., June 13.-X murder which at present is wrapped in the deepest mystery occurred at Middlefield. The victim is Mrs. George Smith, the wife of a Rockfall factory employe.

She came to her death by the powerful blow of an axe which nearly severed the head from the body. A thorough investigation by the police has failed to throw the slightest light on the mystery which surrounds the case. The crime was discovered last night by a boarder at the Smith house. 'The victim was 24 years old. The five boarders who lived with the Smith family worked in the woolen mills with Smith.

In the palace itself the revolutionaries had two important partisans in the king's bodyguard-Colonel Maschin, Queen Draga's cousin, and the king's personal adjutant, Lieutenant Naumovics. Two officers of the high military academy appeared at the appointed time, 2 a. m., at the gate of the palace, where the king's adjutant, Panajotovic, who was in the conspiracy, handed them the keys to the garden gate, which is always kept locked. First, stepping before the guard at the palace, one of the two officers called "throw down your arms." A fight ensued, with shooting on both sides, in which several persons were wounded. The revolutionaries then entered the front garden without hindrance and reached the courtyard of the old palace, where Lieutenant Naumovics was iron door leading to the front room on the first floor. By this it was seen that the palace was carefully closed and that danger was suspected. Hurrying up stairs to the first floor, the revolting officers attracted the attention of the palace attendants and the royal couple by the noise of shooting. The revolutionaries pressed forward, when suddenly the electric light gave out. All stood in darkness. In the greatest excitement and feeling their way, the revolutionaries climbed the stairs and got into the dark antercom to the king's apartments. Here they found candles and lit them. This seemingly slight circumstance was decisive to the whole action. Without light they could not have found the victims, who tled from their sleeping apartment through corridors and numerous rooms and might have escaped, but part of the officers with burning candles and others with pistols commenced to search for the royal couple. Geneva, June 13.-The new King of Servia received his early education in Belgrade. Later he went to school in Pesth and Temescar, and, besides repeated visits to Russia, spent several years at the small court of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro at Cettinje. While there he became the suitor of the latter's daughter, Princess Zorka, and married her in 1883. She died seven years later. The issue of this marriage are three children, a daughter of 19 and two sons, aged, respectively, 15 and 13. Since 1891 Prince Peter has been residing in Geneva. Because of his dissipated and spendthrift habits Prince Peter quarreled with his father-in-law graces of Alexander III of Russia, from whom he received large gifts of money on several occasions. Since the accesawaiting. He opened the lock of the sion of the present czar, Nicholas 11, however, there has been a sort of reconciliation with St. Petersburg, and the finances of Prince Peter were put and kept on a sound basis, but he has been notoriously poor. one-half kilometers in thirty minutes. The Lebaudy air ship is similar to the form adopted by M. Santos-Dumont, but is twice as large, the length being about 177 feet and the greatest diameter thirty-three feet.

The casing, which weighs over three-quarters of a ton, consists of two thicknesses of cotton tissue, between which there is a thin layer of india rubber. It is capable of resisting a pressure equal to 1,700 kilograms, though its weight does not exceed 330 grams per square meter. The seams are covered with india rubber bands, fixed with a solution, and the entire cover has been several times varnished with a special substance termed ballonnine.

The car of the balloon is constructed of steel tubes bound together with piano wire. A cloth covering has also been fixed in such a way that it can be opened out and utilized as a parachute in case of accident. A forty horse power motor supplies motive power to two screws placed on either side of the car.

ENGINEERING

In a gorge of rock little more than 200 feet wide the United States government has decided to construct a dam of solid masonry at the Tonto insectivorous birds, such as the phæbe basin site that will create in the valleys of the upper Salt river and Tonto creek in Arizona the largest artificial lake in the world.

From it the now arid plain will be irrigated and millions of gallons of water will be secured for every acre of lower valleys tributary to these streams.

Water power will be used in generating electricity for the construction of my situation, and it just happens that I | the dam. Great quantities of lime and clay in the vicinity will be available for the hydraulic manufacture of cement, to be used in the bottom and sides of the reservoir.

The great basin will impound storm waters in sufficient volume to reclaim and liberally irrigate approximately 200,000 acres of land. The cost of construction will amount to $2,500,000. The length of the artificial lake is estimated at thirty miles, and the average width will be about ten miles.

Chimneys of Concrete.

One of the latest uses of the combination of steel and concrete for building purposes has been exemplified at Los Angeles, Cal. An enormous chimney for the power station of a number of electric roads was constructed of that material. The height of this chimney from the base (which was fifteen feet below ground) was 180 feet. The lower portion was eighteen feet square, outside measurement, but at an elevation of fifty-one feet the structure assumed a cylindrical form and had a diameter of fifteen feet two inches. In order to give greater strength to the structure twisted steel bars were arranged in the concrete, both vertically and horizontally, in accordance with a wellknown patented system.

Animals and Poisons.

Certain substances which are deadly in their effects upon men can be taken by the brute creation with impunity, says the Family Doctor. Horses can take large doses of antimony, dogs of mercury, goats of tobacco, mice of hemlock and rabbits of belladonna, without injury. On the other hand, dogs and cats are much more susceptible to the influence of chloroform than man, and are much sooner killed by it. If this invaluable anæsthetic, had been first tried upon animals we should probably have never enjoyed its blessings, as it would have been found to be so fatal that its discoverers would have been afraid to test its effects upon human beings.

> A Little Way In Cooking Bacon. Some of the best cooked bacon I ever saw was served daily among other breakfast dishes. The rashers were cut with mathematical precision and laid in a large baking tin, overlapping each other, so that each strip of lean was on the fat of the rasher underneath. The tin was then placed in the oven and left till the meat was cooked. The bacon neger varied in appearance, the lean being beautifully tender and the fat cooked through, but not chippy. Every stranger always asked how the bacon was cooked and why it never looked done too little or too much.

A FLASH of LIGHTNING

Elwin L. Sabin

Copyright, 1902, by Edwin L. Sabin

ORMAN PAGE reluctantly rolled from beneath the covers and with his feet groped on the floor beside the bed for his bath slippers. The rain was falling furiously, and the wind seemed to be increasing. Annoyed by the consciousness that a parlor window was up, he had lain as long as he had dared, hoping that the storm we did slacken and relieve him of the naverally of rising.

Even had not this duty of shutting windows devolved upon birt by right. he was quite certain that tonight he must be the one to attend to the matter or it would not be attended to at all. Assuredly his wife would not bestir herself after the words of the preceding evening. Hardly!

While lying awake he had gone over and over the things that had been said -the assertions, the rejoinders, the reckless threats. He smiled grimly. Yes, misunderstandings had accumulated and now had culminated. Whichever was the more to blame-and of the two it was not he-it was better that they cease association; separate for a time at least. He was sensitive and she was sensitive; he was proud and she was proud: he was stubborn and she was stubborn; discord was caused by mere trifles, yet trifles which appeared insurmountable

So finally had come the parting of the ways. He would go on by one path and she would go by another. He would not utter a word of protest or appeal. He could live without her, he reflected angrily; he had lived thus for many years before he met her, and he simply would drop into his old bachelor role.

Now he found his slippers. His soles invested, he stood, and, lifting his bath robe from the foot of the bed, where he had thrown it upon retiring, he wrapped it around him. He began to advance cautiously, for the blackness was murky, and he could not see an inch. However, his route was comparatively straight and unobstructed, and he had in his mind a clear picture of the position of the articles of furniture in his room and in the parlor.

He did not catch a sound from his wife's chamber, the other side of the could, and she had been led into asportieres. She might be awake and listening for him to move, but of course Oh, he was so irritating, so masterful, she would not indicate it. Or possibly she was not awake. With a little tugging of his heartstrings, he recalled that she must have sobbed herself into exhaustion and sleep.

Hands outstretched to warn him of immediate obstacles, he proceeded until he encountered the wall and, skirting it, in an instant more had reached the door to the hall. He fumbled blindly for the knob. His fingers clasped it, and he twisted it carefully. His irresistible desire to avoid noise did not spring on account of his wife exactly, but somehow he was seized with an inexplainable dread of noises amid that inky quiet, a quiet only intensified by the rain and the low rumble of artillery as the tempest legions marched adown the horizon. Covering their withdrawal, upon the field of battle behind them the floods were descending in torrents.

It was as if in front of his eye an instantaneous camera shutter had opened and closed, leaving an image indelibly fixed on the retina.

Stunned into an icy horror, not shifting a muscle, his hand upon the door knob Page stood and strained his ears Nothing met them save the irregular, gusty beat of the rain.

Thus at last her married life had gone the way of so many other married lives of which she had read and heard. The prophecies of cynical and imbittered acquaintances had come true-that she would discover she had loved the ideal and had married the real. The dreams of her girlhood had been beaten to death. Well, as an end to the bickerings welcome the separation. She would prove to him that she was not dependent upon him, not in the slightest. She would answer defiance with defiance. Worn out by her turmoil of resentment and grief, she sank asleep. She awakened with a start, sitting up in bed, every nerve on the alert. A thunderstorm was over the city. How long it had been in progress she did not know, but wind and rain combined were lashing roof and pane. The atmosphere was surcharged with electricity. She was quivering; a weight seemed to be upon her.

As she endeavored to collect her scattered senses her thoughts flew to the parlor window. She must go and shut it, for the rain was from that direction. ORIGINAL PACKAGE LAW

Suddenly a wave of wild wrath up- On Bay State Statute Book Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Will Be Repealed

At a Hearing on the Subject, While Advocates Gave Reasons For Closing Loophole Discovered by Liquor Dealers in No-License Towns

Boston, June 13.-A bill to repeal the "original package" clause of the existing law, which has been found a loophole by which liquor apparently may be sold in no-license towns of Massachusetts, was reported to the legislature by the committee on liquor law, in conformity to the special message of Governor Pates. It is very brief. It merely says that section 33 of chapter 100 is repealed, and that the act takes effect on its passage. The bill was filed in the house shortly after a hearing which was more perfunctory and humdrum than had been expected.

The special communication from Governor Bates, as to the necessity for Page fancied that he could detect the legislation repealing the law on which was based the decision as to the legal-His faculties were concentrated until ity of selling, in no-license communiit seemed that his head must crack ties, imported liquors in the original package, was the subject matter before the committee on liquor law. Attend-Oh, for a chance to put himself upon ance at the hearing seemed to be limited to advocates of repeal of the law in which the liquor dealers of Lowell, in heavy cane was in the opposite corner. particular, have found a loophole. Opponents, if any there were, kept discreet silence.

Melvin M. Johnson, attorney for the allied temperance interests, said that Another lightning flash so brilliant the existing law in its present interpreand unexpected that it blinded him as | tation created a discrimination against the citizens of Massachusetts in favor thunder peal close following and jar- of Canadian brewers. Should there be any discrimination at all, it should be in favor of the Massachusetts citizen-or even in favor of the man who has money invested in the liquor business here in this state; but no discrimination is intended. The present state of things is due to a mistake. A law has been carhave been repealed, and which would have been repealed, had it been brought to anybody's attention. That it had not been stricken off the statute book was due to an oversight.

For the Anti-Saloon league, Clinton Gowdy said that for 13 years there istence. It is not consistent with the state's policy in dealing with the liquor traffic, and it stands condemned by jail charged with the defaication of public opinion. An emergency has certain moneys placed in the custody of "Oh, Norman, I was so frightened! I arisen. The law should be repealed.

There is only one side to the question. The people of Lowell, said Secretary Fanning of the Anti-Saloon league, voted against license at the last election by 600 majority. Through the law the will of the people is being defied. For the repeal of this law 160 petitions have been filed with the governor, and 100 with the committee. Mr. Fanning submitted to the committee as evidence a bottle of beer put up by a Montreal brewer, which he had bought in no-license Lowell as an "original package."

Rev. Mr. Allen, speaking for the Lowell Law Enforcement league, said that when the city voted license the liquor dealers were given every chance to carry on their business without interference. When it votes no-license the law should be enforced equally well. Relief should be afforded in the interest of fair play, and of law and order.

Rev. Martin D. Kneeland, secretary of the Sabbath Protective league of New England, Rev. Mr. Beale of the Congregational Ministers' association and Rev. W. H. Albright of Dorchester | showed no land. spoke in favor of repeal.

This closed the case for those who wished to speak in favor of striking the objectionable law off the statute book, and as no one responded to an inquiry whether there was opposition to repeal, the hearing was declared closed. Mr. Fanning of Lowell asked for the return of his "original package," but Senator Dyar, chairman, ruled that, having been put in evilence, the exhibit must remain. The committee immediately went into executive session. When it rose it had voted to report the bill, which was at once sent to the house clerk.

The Mississippi Is Falling

St. Louis, June 13.-The river continues to fall steadily, but those who expect to see a sudden decline will be disappointed. The heavy pressure of water against the Broadway embankment in East St. Louis probably will destroy a large section of that street. in some places portions of the street have caved in and last night a large section went down. The water is sweeping through Broadway steadily in large quantities and sooner or later will inundate all that portion of the city south of Missouri avenue.

THE CUP CHALLENGER

And O her Vessels of the Lipton F.eet Have Arrived

LOOKS LIKE THE COLUMBIA

And Is a Far Handsomer Craft Than Either of the Other Shamrocks-Fair Weather After Leaving Faval With Exception of Gale on June 12

New York, June 15.-Safe and sound, after a rather rough passage from the America's cup, the Shamrock III, is now lying at anchor off Tompkinsville, S. I., where she arrived in company with the steam yacht Erin, which had towed her most of the way across the Atlantic, and by the Shamrock I, towed by the British tug Cruizer. The 156 men who manned the yachts and their convoys are all well, and there were no accidents to mar the passage.

Between Gourock and Fayal, Azores, where the steamers stopped for coal. calms and squally weather were encountered. The Erin and her tow became separated from the Cruizer and the Shamrock I before reaching Fayal, but they never lest sight of each other after leaving there. The weather was fairly good, except on June 12, when the yachts were caught in a gale from the arrest. southeast and, while it blew very hard and a heavy sea was running, the yachts shipped very little water and no damage was done. The tug Charles E. Matthews, in charge of H. H. Davies, Lipton's American representative, met the yachts at daylight 20 miles east of Sandy Hook lightship. Pilots Conley and Johnson were put on board the Erin at sea and the Matthews towed the Shamrock III to quarantine, the Shamrock i being towed by the Cruizer. The yachts passed Sandy Hook lightship soon arter 6 o'clock Sunday morning. They were saluted by every vessel that passed them, all the way to the quarantine. When they arrived there the crews of the vachts gave three cheers for each other as they stood lined up on deck. Both the yachts flew the pennant of the Royal Ulster Yacht club.

The new challenger is a far handsomer craft than either the Shancrock I or II. She looks not unlike the Columbia above the waterline and her beam seems greater than either of those yachts. She tows easily, making very little broken water at the bow, and leaving a clean wake. Her captain, Robert Wringe, says she behaved splendidly under all conditions of weather during the passage across the Atlantic. She is rigged as a sloop, with a short bowsprit and a topmast over a short, stout lower mast.

The Sharrock I has the same rig with the addition of a jigger mast aft. The latter steers with a tiller, and the former with a small wheel.

THREATS OF FIREBUGS Appear to Have Ben Made With Intention of Carrying Them Out

Haverhill, Mass., June 15.-The prophesy of the Manchester, N. H., incendiaries made to Chief Gordon of the Haverbill fire department and to the Haverbill Gazette that fires would be started in this city within a week of the receipt of the letters signed by Three Good Socialists" apparently has been fulfilled. The fire department was called to the heel shop of William A. Mitchell, where a fire, undoubtedly of incendiary origin, was found to be in progress. This blaze was subdued after slight damage had been done. About five hours later another alarm called the firemen to a dilapitated building which was used as a storehouse. Here the entire building was enveloped

The storehouse was situated in the hard fight of one hour's duration.

Chief Gordon states that he believes both fires to have been started by the thinks that other fires will follow. Another battleship has been awarded to a New England firm to build during the next four years, for the Vermont will be built at Quincy, by the Fore River Ship & Engine Company. The vessel will be the largest ever built in New England and will be exceeded in size only by the 18,000-ton war ship now building in England. Two sister ships will also be built-the Kansas at Newport News, Va., and the Minnesota at Camden, N. J.

The ships of the Vermont class, as they are officially designated, are to be 450 feet long on the waterline and 456 feet 4 inches long over all, which is about 15 feet longer than our next largest battleships-those of the New Jersey class, of which the New Jersey and Khode Island, building at Fore River are nearest to completion.

The moulded breadth is 76 feet 5 and one-half inches and the extreme width outside the armor, 76 feet 10 inches. With a depth of 46 feet these gigantic steel hulls will draw 24 feet 5 inches of water, when two-thirds of the stores and supplies are aboard.

There are seven decks in the Vermont-the upper deck, which is the superstructure; the main, gun, berth and protective decks; and upper and lower platforms, which are occupied largely by magazines and storeroom six turrets-big ones forward and after, and a smaller one at each corner of the centre of a congested tenement district. superstructure-will carry the heavier The flames were extinguished after a pieces of the armament, which is to be the most formidable ever put affoat.

THE TOBACCO PLANT.

Its Origin, According to a Quaint Legend of the East.

The prophet was taking a stroll in the country when he saw a serpent, stiff with cold, lying on the ground. He compassionately took it up and warmed it in his bosom. When the serpent had recovered it said:

"Divine prophet, listen.. I am now going to bite thee." "Why, pray?" inquired Mohammed. "Because thy race makes perpetual war on mine," said the serpent. "But thy race, too, makes perpetual war against mine," was the prophet's rejoinder. "How canst thou, besides, be so ungrateful and so soon forget

"There is no such thing as gratitude upon this earth," replied the serpent, "and if I were now to spare thee either thou or another of thy race would kill me. By Allah, I shall bite

"If thou hast sworn by Allah I will not cause thee to break thy vow," said the prophet, holding his hand to the serpent's mouth. The serpent bit him, but he sucked the wound with his lips and spat the venom on the ground. And on that very spot there sprung up a plant which combines within itself the venom of the serpent and the compassion of the prophet. Men call this plant by the name of tobacco.-"Tobacco In Song and Story."

Wind and Temperature.

The wind does not affect the thermometer, as any one may find out for postponed until some day this week on himself by a simple test. Take two account of the wet condition of the dry bulb thermometers of exactly the same kind and hang one of them where it will be exposed to the wind and the Miss Drake and Miss Thomas, teach- other where it will be sheltered-say, -and after allowing them to hang thus for a few minutes you will find that they register the same. And yet the person who stands near the thermometer that hangs in the wind will feel the cold more sensibly than the person who stands near the sheltered

The wind is simply air in motion. and air in motion is no colder than the same air in a state of rest. We feel colder in the wind simply because its blowing over us takes the heat away from the body by causing a more rapplause. At the close of the entertain- id evaporation from the skin. There is no evaporation from the dry bulb of a thermometer, and therefore the wind does not affect it.

> Thomas Carlyle and His Wife. As a married couple they were indeed to be pitied if the world had therefore half the world was dark to them. No man can be a "sage" who comes to the essentials of life she is open to the retort, How do you know? And so it was with the Carlyles in their unsatisfying world of literary eminence. Pity them, gentle reader! When they shut the doors of their several bedrooms at night a mouse might not squeak or a fly buzz but they must start full awake in the blessed dark and moralize, the one on eternity and the other on Thomas. - London Outlook.

EWEN'S HOTEL IS BURNED

Because Proprieter Refused to Accept Five Thousand Dollars to Repudiate Testimony Against Slayers of Lawyer Marcum

Jackson, Ky., June 15 .- The burning of Ewen's hotel yesterday is not only considered as incendiary, but also as accessory to other acts of intimidation in connection with the pending trial of those accused of the murder of J. B. Marcum, who was an attorney of the contestants for county offices now go along with assassination. The burning of the Ewen property not only has caused renewed fear for both life and property, but also has increased the general doubt of conviction of either of the prisoners.

for the prosecution in the pending trials of Curtis Jett and Tom White. He testified that he saw Jett as he advanced with pistol in hand to fire the last shot into Marcum's prostrate body, as it lay in the courthouse doorway. Through fears for his own safety, he testified that he did not dare to allow Sheriff Callahan and County Judge Hargis to know what he had seen. When it did become known, he was first a prisoner in his home and then he fled the county until he could have the protection of troops. His house had been under guard of soldiers for several weeks, and as a more stringent precaution against assassination he slept in camp at the provost marshal's head-

Several days ago a man visited him t his home and made him a proposition that if he would repudiate what he had related on the witness stand, saying that he testified to what was not true, because of the excitement which he was under, he would be given $5000 by a ertain prominent citizen, and that if did not accept this offer he would be

SERVICE IMPROVED

Chicago Hotels Apparently Getting Upper Hand of Big Strike

Chicago, June 15.-Although no progress has been made toward settling the hotel and restaurant strike still there is noticeable improvement in the service offered by the different establishments where the employes have quit work. All the hotels are open for business and with few exceptions succeed in taking care of all guests that apply for accommodations. The places of the strikers are being filled as fast as help can be imported from outside cities and several of the hotels announce that by tonight they will have a full force of employes.

Offers by the Hotel Keepers' association to submit the controversy to arbitration are still spurned by the strikers, and it is declared that the work of closing up all the places where the proprietors refuse to sign the new scale will be continued.

The new condition of affairs comes as a thunderbolt to the majority of the walking delegates, who had expected that about 50,000 out of the 120,000 men who bad been out of employment since May would be able to assume work today.

prevails in Belgrade and absolute quiet is still reported throughout Servia. The streets of this capital bear an animated appearance, being crowded with officers, women and large numbers of students who have arrived from abroad, it is believed, with the object of demonstrating in favor of Prince Peter Karageorgevitch as king.

Some Republican tendencies are noticeable among the students who have studied in France and Switzerland. These latter, however, are quiet overshadowed by the opinion of the majority and there seems to be no doubt that the national assembly will pronounce in favor of a monarchy and elect Prince Karageorgevitch. The newspapers continue to point out the impossibility of the establishment of a republic and advocate the election of Prince Peter in order to assure a brighter epoch in Servian politics.

The foreign diplomatists in Belgrade continue to maintain an attitude of strict reserve.

SENTIMENT FOR STRIKE

Not Lacking In Convention of Anthracite Miners

THE COMMISSION'S AWARD

Not Lived Up to, In the Opinion of President Mitchell, Who Hopes to Find Honorable Way Out of Calamity-Anti-Strike Talk Disapproved

Scranton, Pa., June 16.-The special convention of the United Mine Workers of the three anthracite districts, called from 69c. to $1.75 for the urpose of dealing with the refusal of the operators to recognize the conciliators appointed by the joint executive board, opened here with President Mitchell presiding and 640 delegates in attendance. The conciliation Fancy Stocks, Choux, White Mull Ties, Wrist matter and all other grievances the different districts want to have considered were referred to a committee on resolutions, composed of seven delegates from each district and the three district presi-

> The committee met last night and will later present a report for revision or adoption. The sentiment almost unanimously expressed in the motions and speeches was in favor of the convention contenting itself with endorsing the action of the executive board and leaving it to the operators to accept the three district presidents as conciliators or take the consequences of their refusal. Not a few of the delegates declared openly for a strike to enforce acceptance of the district presidents' credentials as they now stand.

In opening the convention President Mitchell made a brief speech, reviewing the events that have transpired since the close of the strike and making suggestions as to what plan of procedure the convention should follow.

Several delegates spoke in favor of having the district presidents report what had been done at the conciliation board meeting, but this was voted down as unnecessary, the convention call having outlined all that the presidents would have to report.

President Mitchell said: "What the told in a nutshell. The operators rethat the commission did not mean what to choose from, $3.98 to $25.00 it said. The committee said that if there was a majority organization existing in all three districts such organization should appoint. The word 'ap-98c to $2.89 point' is used twice. No mention is made of the word 'elect.' The operators say that meant something else. As I un-Per foot, 9c to 18c derstand it the three representatives of the operators are not agreed as to just what the committee did mean. We don't propose to allow the operators to be the sole interpreters of the committee's award. It was written in plain English, and we understand the English language quite as well as they. Besides, we have an authenticated interview from Judge Gray, in which he says that the appointment might be nade by the regularly constituted officers of the majority organization, and that certainly means the three executive boards."

Secretary Hartlein followed with a spirited speech, in which he provoked resounding cheers by declaring: "I can see a six months' strike in every one of your faces to get what we are entitled to."

A colored delegate, William Tarr of Shamokin, arose to protest against Secretary Hartlein talking strike. 'We've had enough of strike. We've had our belly full of it," be declared. 'What we're here for is to avoid strike."

Tarr was interrupted frequently with cries of "put him out" and the like, and when he had been induced to subside a delegate arose and fomally made a motion to eject him from the hall. President Mitchell smiled and went on with the business.

Time and again motions were made which, though differing in form, were all substantially in favor of having the convention endorse the action of the joint executive board in selecting the conciliators, but President Mitchell each its sentiments and leave it to the committee on resolutions to frame the sentiments in proper order and then take action. This advice was heeded. The

TRAIN'S OBSTINACY

Health Officials of Stamford Stamford, Conn., June 16 .- George Francis Train, who has been isolated at the city pest house suffering from come a source of worry to the physicians. He positively refuses to eat or drink anything and has not spoken a word since noon yesterday and cannot be induced to do so.

The trouble was caused by the efforts of the health authorities to disinfect the pest house preparatory to Train's removal. All the clothing of the patient was burned, as was also a large number of letters and some manuscript which had been written by him during his illness. During these proceeding Train became furious. The physicians in charge say that Train will be removed to the home of his daughter today. Mr. Train, angry because of the proceedings, insists that he shall not make the trip voluntarily. The physicians have met this stand by anno incing that the patient will be removed even if it is necessary to use force to carry out their plans. Meanwhile Train's condition is not being improved by his refusal to take nourishment.

Mayor Bound to Hold the Reins Burlington, Vt., June 16 .- Mayor Burke, who is acting chief of police since he displaced Chief Brownell, last night suspended Patrolman Rivers on the ground that when he was appointed by Mayor Hawley on April 25 he was neither a taxpayer nor a voter of the city. It is understood that other suspensions are to come. Mayor Burke also ordered all work stopped on the new Carnegie library, claiming that the contract price did not include many necessary things which would make the cost of the building many thousands of dollars more than the $50,000 given by Mr. Carnegie Professors H. K. Palmer and W. H. Wright of the Lick observatory have gone to South America to observe stars near the south pole of the heavens and that are invisible in this latitude. The object is to find exactly in what direction the sun and all its stately company of planets, moons and comets are moving in space, and with what speed.

Many stars north of the celestial Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Loud leave on equator have been measured, and the Wednesday for their summer home in ing roughly toward the bright star Vega, in the constellation of the Lyre, with a velocity of between twelve and thirteen miles per second. By making an extensive series of observations of southern stars it is hoped that these values can be determined with greater accuracy. The expenses of the costly trip are defrayed by Mr. D. O. Mills. The instruments sent to Chile consist of the thirty-seven inch reflector, a Cassegranian, and was made by Brashear. This is furnished with a three prism spectograph for photographing spectra of the observed stars. Besides these, there will be thermographs, hygrometers, barographs, cameras, etc. The observational work will be confined to "line of sight" determinations

Why the Sun Is Hot.

A very simple calculation will show that if the sun were of the nature of a white hot ball it would cool off so rapidly that its heat could not last more ability it has lasted millions of years, says Professor Simon Newcomb in "Astronomy For Everybody." Whence, then, comes the supply? The answer of modern science to this question is that the heat radiated from the sun is supplied by the contraction of size as heat is lost. It is well known that in many cases when motion is destroyed making several improvements on his is radiated from streams of matter constantly rising from the interior, which radiate their heat when they reach the surface. Being cooled, they fall back again and the heat caused by this fall is what keeps the sun hot. It has been calculated that in order to keep up the supply of heat it is necessary that the diameter of the sun should contract about a mile in twenty-five years or four miles in a century.

The Comets' Tails. The matter of which a bright comet is composed is volatile. When a bright comet is carefully scrutinized with a from time to time slowly rising from its head in the direction of the sun, then spreading out and moving away Theo C. It frequently The Merrymounts will play two games happens that when a comet is first discovered it has no tail at all. The latter begins to form when the sun is approached. The nearer the comet approaches the sun and the greater the heat to which it is exposed the more rapidly the tail develops.

The formal motion that Prince Peter Karageorgevitch be elected King of Servia was moved by a Radical deputy named Naschics. Immediate'y a shout arose from the assembly of "Long live Karageorgevitch." Each member was then called by name and rose from his seat and gave his vote for "Peter Karageorgevitch." There was absolute unanimity, no other name but that of Prince Karageorgevitch being pronounced. The result was greeted with loud cheers and then the minister of justice hastened to the balcony over-

"Peter, the first of the dynasty of the Karageorgevitches, is your new king. You are congratulated upon the unaninous vote of your representatives."

The crowd responded with cheers. At the same time a royal salute of 101 guns was fired.

The proceedings closed with brief speeches by President Velimirovitch and Premie: Avakumovics, who congratulated the national assembly upon its unanimous choice. The deputies then streamed forth from the palace, the soldiers on guard marched away and in five minutes the space in front of the palace had resumed its normal aspect.

The day's proceedings, on the whole, were characterized by singular inusly, how proud he is of his work.

legiance, it was obvious that they were ditions. in complete ignorance of what they were doing. They swore allegiance to a constitution which has not vet been formulated. The utter vacancy in their faces showed that they would as readily have taken an oath of allegiance to the ezar or to the emperor of Austria. Servia, having no nobility, is governed by the military and official classes, whom the masses blindly obey.

The town is full of unsavory gossip concerning the late queen, and there is not a scintilla of sympathy for the murdered royal couple.

At 7 o'clock last evening a telegram to the government arrived from the new king. It ran:

"The splendid proofs of devotion from my beloved people, my faithful army and patriotic government have deeply touched me. From the botom of a true Servian heart I thank providence, v hich has vouchsafed me to ascend the throne of my famous ancestors. I beg you to accept my royal acknowledgment with the assurance of my particular good

This apparent unanimity, however, was not reached without a contest. An informal meeting of the skupshtina was held yesterday and lasted over eight hours. The public were excluded but. according to the accounts given by various members, the proceedings were lively. The adherents of a Republican form of government were compelled to fall back. A wordy battle raged long, and means more effective than ejoquent are graduate of the Massachusetts Institute said to have been employed to persuade the opposing elements into acquiescence.

The Servian constitution of 1888, which the national assembly has taken as the basis of the new constitution, is the most liberal of all that the late King Milan gave his subjects, it having been granted when he was exceedingly unpopular. It was drawn up eral articles, which included, it is said, by the Radicals and is said to t ean the original folding bed and a safety perpetual tenure of power for that lamp for use in mines. party. The new king is said to have accepted this constitution, but the whole Latter is very vague and the fact that this question was not settled before King Peter was elected is the occasion for Karageorgevitch Dynasty Be- much dissatisfaction in the ranks of the members of the skupshtina. It is stated that the draft of a scheme in King Alexander's handwriting was found in the palace, showing his intention to proclaim Queen Draga's brother heir to the throne on July 28 and on the same day to proclaim martial law and condemn to death many politicians, including the present premier, the minister of justice and commander of the Nish

IS FORCED TO WITHDRAW

Constitution and Columbia Continue the Contest, and the Former Beats Old Cup Defender In Running, Reaching and Windward Work

New York, June 18 .- Two minutes after she had crossed the starting line for a 30-mile race with the Columbia and Constitution over the Larchmont Yacht club's ccurse in Long Island sound the Reliance's topmast snapped off under the pressure of her big club topsail and balloon jibtopsail. The tangled mass of sails, spars and rigging fell to leeward and hung partly suspended by the torn clubtopsail and its bolt ropes, and with only 10 feet of a ragged stump of her topmast standing above the masthead she withdrew from the race a cripple.

The accident courred in a seven or eight knot breeze. C. O. Iselin, managing owner, said he did not know what had caused the spar to give way, but was certain the Reliance would sail in the race on Friday. She was towed to New Rochelle.

The Constitution and Columbia confinued the race and the Constitution outsailed the former cup defender by 9m. 46s. elapsed time, and won the cup offered by Commodore Adams of the Larchmont club. The course was a triangle, having two legs of six miles each and one of three miles.

Mr. Morgan for the first time took a hand in the jockeying and sent the Columbia over the starting line the only boat not handicapped. The first leg was a series of baffling, shifting winds and calm streaks in which the Constitution twice got the lead and twice lost it. When the wind came through about eight knots from the south they were on fairly even terms and miles off their course.

The Constitution then quickly took the lead and added to it steadily on every leg and on every point of sailing, but the finish was in a softening wind. The official time: Start Finish Elapsed mast was shipped from the Herreshoff shop last night for New York for the Reliance to replace the one she lost in the race off Larchmont. Several riggers also left here to step the mast. There were half a dozen new topmasts in the Herreshoff shops when the news of the accident and an order for a new spar for Reliance came from New York. so there was no delay in making the

CLOUDBURST PHENOMENA Hundred Acres of Land Shifted and River Changed Location

Concord, N. H., June 18 .- Superintendent Cummings of the White Mountain division, Boston and Maine railroad, has reported upon the damage occasioned in the mountains by the recent cloudburst. Between Crawfords and Jefferson, says Cummings, 12 Montreal road and in several places the river has changed its location and runs for a mile or more on the location of the road. E. A. Crawford, who has had charge of the work on the road, estimates that it will cost as much to put the road in shape as it did to build it in the first place. In one place 100 acres of land slid off the mountain on the travelled way.

The original appropriation for the road was $10,000, and as much more was appropriated by the legislature of 1903. Considerable damage was done to the railroad by washouts at Bowmans on the White and Jefferson road, and between Fabyans and the base of Mt. Washington.

According to Cummings the rain lasted only a couple of hours and was, in fact, a cloudburst such as had never been experienced before in the north

Triumphal March of Liberty Bell was remarkably free from accidents not a single case of a serious nature having been reported. Dozens of cases of minor injuries were treated at the various hospitals during the day, but the majority of these were slight burns or bruises caused by fireworks. Drawn through Boston's streets, where cheering thousands voiced a warmest welcome, Philadelphia's Liberty bell passed in triumphal procession to add to the glory of Charlestown's annual celebration. From every corner, every street, every window and in the shadow of Charlestown's towering monument, the Hub paid homage to its venerable

His assailant was cap-

Previous dispatches from St. Petersburg said the press, with the exception of the anti-Semitic organs, were unanimous in pointing to Kroushevan's paper, The Bessarabeth, as the author of the ritual murder calumnies against the Jews and the prime instigator of the massacre.

Kroushevan, after the massacre, addressed the Jews in The Bessarabetz as follows: "Become Christians and our brothers. If not you have one year to go where you please. After that time there must not remain a single Jew in Russia unless he is Christianized, and thereafter entrance to Russia vill be forbidden to the Jews forever."

Dr. Barth, the leader of the German Radical Liberals, on May 30 published a communication in his Berlin paper, Boston, June 18.-Bunker Hill day | The Nation, from a person behind the scenes in Russian court life, in which it was said that Kroushevan, in his anti-Jewish propaganda, acted as an agent of Interior Minister Von Plehve, who wished to impress the czar with the unfitness of the common people to have any share in local self government by a spectacular outbreak in the province. In Kroushevan's interest, said the writer, Von Plehve suppressed the rival paper in Kishineff, giving Kroushevan the exclusive field for bis anti-Jewish articles and obtained for him two government subventions.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.

Take Advantage of Half Price Offer Made by Chas. C. Hearn.

In these times when living expenses have increased from thirty to fifty per cent., it is unusual to hear of a standard remedy being offered at half price.

Yet that is the way Chas. C. Hearn the popular druggist, is selling Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of dyspepsia and constipation. In addition to selling a fifty cent bottle, containing a month's treatment of At Philadelphia-American-Philadelsixty doses, for 25 cents, he gives his personal guarantee with every bottle he sells to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. This unusual offer has brought hundreds of customers to his store in the last few weeks, yet out of the many bottles of Dr. Howard's specific he has sold, but one customer has asked to have the money returned. This was done without any questions although Chas. C. Hearn does not think the remedy could have been given a fair rial. Doctor's bills can be saved by the uset of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of dyspepsia and constipation, and by taking advantage of this special half price introductory offer, our readers can save half the regular price of the specific.

This remarkable remedy is destined to have the largest sale of any medicine upon the market, for those who use it once, not only buy a second package, but they recommend it to their friends as the only relief they have found for constipation and dyspepsia. The sole limit to its sale is the fact that in only chronic cases is more than one bottle needed to cure, and its cures are perma-

Do not let this opportunity pass to obtain a standard fifty cent remedy a half price. Remember that Druggist Chas. C. Hearn will refund your money if Dr. Howard's specific does not cure. 8-11-15-18

Disbursed Under Direct Order of Superior Authority During McKinley Administration-Payne Removes Head of Money Order System

General Payne has made public the reply of Fourth Assistant Postmaster of the Washington city postoffice, regarding the irregularities in the postal administration, and also reports of inspection and investigation of the Washington postoffice by inspectors between June 30, 1829, and July 31, 1900, together with the transcript of the Tulby Postmaster General Smith.

istence of many irregularities during who investigated the irregularities reports that the files of the postoffice cashier show direct orders from superior authority for the disbursement of all the questionable items cited. The inspector urged "that the responsibility for the many illegal appointments, the payment of two salaries to one and the same person and the disbursement of thousands of dollars for which practically no service was performed, should be placed where it properly belongs and the many abuses cor-

Mr. Payne quotes from the recently published reply of Mr. Smith and adds that these papers are now published "in order to complete the public understanding of a matter, a large part of which has already been published. The papers are filed without action, for the reason that they relate to the business of a prior administration. The

The documents show that on May 1 last Mr. Payne wrote a letter to Mr. Bristow calling attention to the published interview with Mr. Tulloch and sked Mr. Bristow "what truth, if any there is, in the statements and particularly upon that part which speaks of your connection and that of the postoffice inspectors." Mr. Bristow's reply was given three days later. As a result of alleged indiscretion in matters pertaining to the award of contracts for printing the money order forms of the government James T. Metcalf, for many years superintendent of the money order system of the postoffice department, has been removed from office by the postmaster general. The dismissal is the result of acts of Metcalf in opposition to the bid of Paul Herman of Rutherford, N. J., the lowest bidder by $45,000, and in favor of the ling up hopes of rescue." Mr. Payne's voice trembled with emotion as he announced the dismissal to the newspaper men late in the ofternoon. He said it had become lis duty to make the removal and it was a step which he could not avoid in the proper discharge of his duties. He said that no consideration had been given as yet as to the appointment of a successor, but that the duties of superintendent for the present would devolve 1 pon Metcalf's assistant, E. F. Kimball of Massachusetts, who has been in the service 17 years. Mr. Metcalf originally was appointed from Iowa and has been in the postal service since 1882. During his administration the money order service has been widely extended. His salary was $3000 a year.

The Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawlying districts have not yet been ford company has been the contractor for the money order blanks for 16 years. Paul Herman, the lowest bidder for the next contract, formerly was in the employ of that company, as also is Norman Metcalf, the 27-year-old son of the deposed superintendent, who now draws a salary of $2250 from the company. Herman assisted in the drawing of the specifications for the contract and when the bids were opened it was found that Herman had become a competitor of the old company, undercutting their bid by about $45,000. The company protested against Herman's bid on the ground that he lacked the

TO STAND BY COLONIES

England Practically Committed to Retaliation Policy

A CHAMBERLAIN VICTORY

Balfour Forced Into Colonial Secre

London, June 18 .- The whole of last evening in the house of commons was occupied with the discussion of a motion to adjourn, made by the Liberals, in order to obtain further light regarding the government's position on the preferential tariff question. The motion was finally rejected by 252 votes to 132.

While the opposition was scarcely more successful than heretofore in Grawing the government into a discussion on the general scheme of preferential trade within the empire. Premier Balfour and Colonial Secretary Chamberlain both emphatically declared that the government of New South Wales was under no misapprehension regarding the attitude of the home govern-

Mr. Balfour said that with regard to preferential trade the cabinet were as one with the government of New South Wales in desiring a thorough investigation. He denied emphatically that the government had raised any false hopes in the colonies. The only chance wherecil of the B'Nai B'Rith a number of by the colonies might regard their hopes as false would be in case the opposition assumed power and carried out Hay requesting hearings on the status | their implied intention to abandon the colonies to the trade discrimination of the whole world.

Sir Charles Dilke having referred to the premier's statement as a momentous one, committing the government to a policy of retaliation which was a direct step towards avowed proit may be that the publicity given to tection, Mr. Balfour retorted that he had not said a word about retaliation, but he would not shrink from retaliation if he were satisfied that there was no other method.

> Mr. Chamberlain then arose and referred to Germany's action towards Canada as a proof that there was a hostile discrimination against the colonles. He did not blme Germany so long as the British policy was to lie down under that treatment.

Then, endorsing the premier's statement regarding retaliation, the colonial secretary expressed his contidence that Germany would not compel Great Britain to consider retaliatory measures, but if it did he would say with Balfour that it was the government's duty to find a remedy.

The result of yesteday's debate is recognized as a great personal triumph for Chamberlain. The intention of the Liberals was to drive a wedge between the colonial secretary and the premier, who has throughout endeavored to maintain a non-committal attitude towards the preferential tariff proposals. Instead of attaining this aim, Office, Room 7, Durgin & Merrill Block. the effect of the debate was to drive the premier into the colonial secretary's arms and practically commit the government-to a policy of retaliation.

A feature of the situation was the changed attitude of the Conservatives towards Chamberlain. In previous debates on the same subject Chamberlain was treated with a certain degree of coolness; last night, on the contrary, he was greeted with ringing cheers training of landsmen apprentices in self wore the brisk and satisfied air of a man foreseeing his triumph. Whether Balfour was equally pleased at being forced into the open adoption of the colonial secretary's policy is doubtful, but it is recognized on all sides that tle was picked up on the shore there Chamberlain has immensely strengthened his position and cut off any re-Shamrock, thick fog, vessel damaged treat from a full discussion of his

Some rumors are circulating in the lobbies to the effect that the debate will result in the resignation of Chancellor there has reached her owners in this of the Exchequer Ritchie, the Duke of Devonshire and other free traders in the cabinet, but these reports are not regarded seriously. It is believed, however, that the government's position is more than ever precarious and nothing can delay an appeal to the country on the

Except as being an attack upon Germany, Chamberlain's speech was a repetition in more convinced and forcible terms of his previous speeches. He made a great point in showing that the mere talk of a change in Great Britain's fiscal policy had already produced a change of tone in the German nawspapers, which no longer talked of in the Vilayet of Van confirm previous letaliation, the object of which, he advices that 23 villages were affected said, "was less to punish Canada than to read a lesson to any British colony daring to discriminate in favor of the

Mr. Chamberlain added that the feeling on the subject in the colonies was so strong that he would have neglected his office had he failed to bring up the matter before the British electorate.

LAUNCH OF THE GALVESTON

Prohibited by Injunction Secured by Creditors of Trigg Company-Navy Department Will Seize Cruiser and Carry Out Program

Richmond. June 19.-Judge Grinnan of the Richmond chancery court yesterday granted an injunction restraining Lieutenants Theiss and Grosdeck, United States navy, from proceeding further towards the launching of the cruiser Galveston, under construction in the Trigg ship yards here.

The injunction was granted on petition of S. H. Hawes & Co. of this city, supply creditors of the Trigg company, now in the bands of a receiver, and restrains the government officials and all other persons from in any way interfering with any of the property at the Trigg yards under control of Receiver Myers, and especially the cruiser Galveston and the dredge Benyard, under construction for the government. Lieutenants Theiss and Grosdeck were sent here by the navy department to superintend the launching of the Galveston, which it was the intention of the department to send to the Norfolk yard for completion. All preparations had been made for launching the vessel Monday next.

Washington, June 19.-It is stated here that proper respect will be shown the mandate of the courts so long as they keep within their jurisdiction, but that the navy department cannot submit to any interference with its rights. The cruiser Galceston at Richmond, it is added, will be launched when ready. Secretary Moody is not at all disposed to act hastily regarding the Galveston, but indefinite delay upon the construction of that vessel in the event of $3.25 to $7.50 an international emergency might prove a grave matter, and the department, therefore, feels bound to proceed $18.00 to $30.00 with the work as rapidly as possible. It is hoped that the vessel will be in ndition for launching next Monday afternoon. Secretary Moody was informed last night of the action of the Richmond court restraining the government from further work on the Galveston, but declined to talk on the subject until after $5.00 a conference to be held with the president and the attorney general. Attorney General Knox also was unwilling to be quoted in the matter until his opinion rendered to the president as to the jurisdiction of the government drinking carbolic acid. over the Galveston, has been made public. It can be stated, however, that the | S. A., retired, died at Washington, attorney general regards as eminently well taken the contention of Rear Admiral Bowles, chief of the brueau of has the right to interfere with work on a war vessel and that the government would be warranted in calling federal troops to protect its agents engaged in such work. Instructions have been sent Lieutenant Theiss and Navai Constructor Grosdeck, in charge of the work on the Galveston, to proceed with all possible dispatch in the effort to get the ship ready for launching on Monday. An invitation has been sent Miss Ella Sealey of Galveston, Tex., selected as sponsor for the vessel, to be present on Monday to christen the Galveston with the traditional bottle of champagne. The government has no objection to the supply creditors of the Trigg company proceeding in the courts to protect their rights, but it takes the position that work on a warship is too important to the nation at large to be delayed while private firms are adjusting their

SFEW BET ON WINNER Suburban Handicap Stake of $16,690

Won by Three-Year-Old Africander New York, June 19 .- For the first time in the score of years of its history the suburban handicap, greatest of American turf events, was won by a 3-yearold. Africander, son of Star Ruby-Afric Queen, finished first in a splendid field of 15, to 13 of which he was giving weight. His victory was marred by a claim of foul made by George Odom, rider of Herbert, the second horse, but the judges decided that the winner had Charles Dwyer and Simeon Deimel, proprietors of the Hampton stable, in whose colors Africander ran, won $16,-690 in the stake and made a generous present to little Fuller, the New Orleans graduated jockey, who piloted their horse to victory. They had also backed the horse at 100 to 1 in the winter betting, driving his odds to 50 to 1. Thirty thousand persons saw the race, and few bet on the winner.

earned his prize and let the race stand

Horsemen, although agreeing that Africander and Herbert bumped in the stretch, were of the unanimous belief that the best horse won and that Africander would also have been first with clear sailing.

Thirteen hours of steady rain had turned the track into a deep, muddy swamp. The time, 2:10 2-5, was the slowest since 1887.

States court Judge Speer, in his charge to the federal grand jury, called attention to the fact that it had been charged that a system of peonage existed in certain parts of the southern district of Georgia. He charged the jury to make diligent inquiry and if it found the statement true to return an indictment against the guilty parties.

Laborers Clamoring For Pay

Little Falls, N. Y., June 19 .- Work on the extension of the electric railroad from Richfield Springs to Mohawk has stopped and 200 Italians are clamoring for their pay. The contractors owe 40 days' wages and say they are unable to obtain money from the company. Liens exceeding $15,000 have been put on the property.

Epidemic Staved Off

Heppner, Ore., June 19 .- Two thousand men and hundreds of horses are at work bringing order out of chaos. Prompt work in improving the sanitary conditions probably has saved the town from an epidemic. The number of bodies recovered from the flood ruins was 153 up to last night. The number of missing is from 50 to 60.

The main purpose of the strikers' note is to secure a conference, but in addiexecutive committee of the B'Nai tion to this it contains a suggestion that the operatives be allowed to go sent to the president a petition to be back to the factories with the understanding that all shall receive the places

This proposition meets with a flat repetition, the state department can have | fusal from the manufacturers, who say that the strikers had that opportunity presented to them when the gates were reopened a fortnight ago and refused representations whatever to Russia, as | it. One of the mill agents says that if his union help returns they must do so as individuals and take the chance of securing employment. This is also in the door and found the couple there. understood to be the attitude of the other manufacturers.

The action of the Textile council in sending the communication to the mill agents is believed to be a move on the part of the executive committee independent of recommendation by the unions affiliated with the central organization, and before the strike can be officially declared off these must first meet and vote on the question, after which it will come properly before the Textile council for final action.

President Conroy of the Textile council said, when asked about the communication: "Don't make any inquiries from me concerning it because I will not say anything. If the agents spirited and ready to do almost anystate that they have a communication from the Textile council there is nothing remaining for me to say."

Agent Southworth of the Massachusetts mills, who has been acting as spokesman for the cotton manufacturers' association since the declaration of the strike, is in the south, and the communication from the strikers was received by Acting Agent Wadleigh. who declines to give it out for publication.

Since the reopening of the gates on beamers and mule spinners have held together solidly and ringspinners showed surprising loyalty to the organized operatives; but loomfixers have nor less than 13 years and James G. been shifting away gradually, and these, together with the vast majority to state prison for not less than seven of non-union operatives who returned as soon as the gates were opened, have made it possible to run the mills without the strikers. The rise in the price of raw cotton, declaration of the strike, operated was a large factor in their defeat.

Miners' Strike Averted

Alteona, Pa., June 19.—The trouble For sale by all druggists. between the Webster Coal and Coke company and its men, which foreshadowed a strike of 10,000 miners, has been settled amicably. The arbitrators who heard the evidence touching on the grievances met yesterday and adjusted the differences. The machine cutters who were being paid $2.68 a day were granted the scale price of $3 and $3.20, scrapers receiving a relative increase. The company will allow a check weighman or the tipple at Bens Creek, where the last man was ejected for overstepping his authority.

Waiters' Strike Not Settled Chicago, June 19.-Striking waiters refused to arbitrate last night and decided that the walkout be made more general and engineers and elevator men be asked to join them. After midnight they began to send out committees to call more strikes. With the battle practically won, as the hotel owners thought, a committee of three met a committee of strikers, but nothing came of the meeting.

Saratoga's Spasm of Virtue Saratoga, N. Y., June 19.-Managers of local handbooks on races have been compelled to cease operations here. The local authorities view them in the same light as pool room operators.

Jealousy Leads to Murder

Boston, June 19 - Herbert M. Wolfe. a colored waiter at Hotel Brunswick, killed Frederick Moore, a colored waiter of the same hotel, at 62 Ruggles street. Moore was shot in the left breast and died in a few minutes. Jealousy caused the tragedy. Wolfe knew that his wife frequently visited Moore's room. Coming home unexpectedly yesterday afternoon he found his wife away and later learned that she had gone to see Moore. He started for Ruggles street and on reaching Moore's room he burst Mrs. Woife ran from the house and immediately after Wolfe killed Moore. Wolfe then proceeded to a police station, told what he had done and was

LEFT TO AUSTRIA Emperor Will Officially Reprehend Assassination of Alexander

Belgrade, June 19 .- Russia has instructed its representative to resume diplomatic relations with the Servian A. RUSSELL JONES, government. It is stated that the czar's telegram of congratulation omitted to reprehend the assassination by an arrangement between the czar and the Emperor of Austria that the latter, being the elder menarch, should administer the lesson.

King Peter has already assumed the reins of government by directing that all important matters should be referred to him at Geneva.

Threat In Congratulations

St. Petersburg, June 19.-An official note in The Gazette recognizes Prince brief, the note declares that it is incumbent upon King Peter to avenge the assassinations of King Alexander and Queen Draga, and expresses the conviction that he will know how to punish severely the regicides, whose misdeeds should not be visited on the entire Servian nation or army. 'The note adds that it would be dangerous to the tranquility of Servia to leave the crime

Benediction for Peter

Geneva, June 19.-King Peter attended a solemn Te Deum at the Russian chapel here. The archpriest recelved the king at the entrance to the church and sprinkled him with holy water. The king then kissed the cross and the archpriest prayed for the prosperity of Servia. King Peter received the priestly benediction kneeling. Strict police precautions were taken. The presence of the Servian military deputation created much curiosity in the streets. King Peter received the Servian officers with considerable ceremony. What Queen Draga's Valet Says

Vienna, June 19 .- Josef Kraus, who was for several years the late Queen Draga's valet, has returned to Pilsen from Belgrade. He hid with the other royal servants during the assassinations in the palace and thus escaped. He asserts that many more were killed than have been reported and says the assassins were drunk. DO not know how much testimony the most credible people whom I know are agreed as to the facts, and I myself was present when the affair came to its close, yet I cannot make up my mind have taken place are exceedingly simand envy his fame. He was the son of the richest man in our town.

Shortly after the close of his college life Winthrop inherited nearly all his father's property. He traveled for a few years and then settled down to a quiet and monotonous life in our town, which was nothing in the winter and not very much in the summer, to be frank about it.

When he was nearly forty years old he made a most unromantic match. He married a girl who had been born and bred in the town and was content to live there all her days with her husband. By that time I had sought wider fields, and my knowledge of Winthrop was derived from home letters and from brief renewals of acquaintance in summer vacations.

Mrs. Winthrop lived about two years in a placid state of beatitude, as I am informed, and then she died of pneumonia.

Some one wrote to me that Winthrop was taking his bereavement very hard; that his condition gave alarm to his sister and other near relatives who lived with him in the big house in Maynard, which is the name of our town. He seemed to show no power of recovery, no interest whatever in life. It was necessary, indeed, to take some pains with him in order that he might not neglect the proper nourishment of his body, for such an engine as that requires fuel.

Some weeks after receiving this account I received a letter from my mother. I will quote a few lines of it

"Stanley Winthrop does not improve in health, but he has made up his mind | the pretty town is at its best. I was into travel for a few months, and they hope that that will benefit him. There and that his wanderings had done him is a strange story about this intention | no good. of his, and I am going to tell it to you, it from his sister, and it has impressed me very strongly.

"It seems that Stanley has slept very Last Tuesday morning when he came down to breakfast Marion, Winthrop's had a wonderful night's rest. There seemed to be some peculiar meaning in what he said, and she questioned him. He tried to avoid a direct answer until he became convinced that his silence would worry Marion more than the truth, and then he admitted having had a remarkable dream.

"It was no more than that he seemed to be in a room which was different from any that he could remember. He declined to describe it to Marion, but his own counsel. This thing may insaid that the impression which it made upon him was extremely vivid, so that he could not fail to recognize the room in case he should ever really see it. 'As I stood looking at it in my dream,' said he, 'I began to wonder why I was there, and presently in the gentlest and best possible way that you can imagine the explanation took possession of my mind. That is the room where I shall die. I received no intimation as to when the event will occur, or how, or in what town or even

I had glad to know that Winthrop was to be there, for I had come to like him exceedingly during my brief sight of him after his affliction. I arrived in Maylittle and that that has been the chief | nard on the 1st day of July, and in the cause of their worrying about him. afternoon I called on Winthrop. It was a very hot day, and he was in his room, which, because of its location, is excepsister, remarked that he looked re- tionally cool in summer. The window markably well. He told her that he had seat had been extended and cushioned since the date of my last view of the apartment, and it made a sort of couch, Winthrop arose and came forward to possession of the brother and sister, greet me I perceived that he was quite and the effect was disastrous upon feeble. It seemed impossible that a each, though in a different way. However, one may almost call grief a disease if one looks only at the symptoms, and certainly decisive action. I took advice of Stanthe continuous brooding upon an ir- ley's physician, a man more intolerant remediable loss may be a matter for of all morbid and mystic nonsense than the anxious consideration of a doctor. I lied cheerfully to Winthrop, saying that he was looking very well. "You're mighty comfortable here," I about since I had the pleasure of see-

"It's much more cheerful now." I hastened to say. "Marion is a great sister. You ought to be very good to a table upon which I knew that there

"I am going to be so good to her." he replied, "that I shall never tell her ing another when I heard a low, hoarse what she has done. "Just before I went away," he said, putting his finger upon the date, "I carried this envelope with me-and

To be sure, the outlines gationalist, Worcester, Mass. are regular: there was really nothing except the furniture by which it might because Stanley naturally did not wish be recognized. It has been repapered, the rugs and the hangings are different'

"I should have thought that the view from the windows"- I began. "But perhaps you did not look out."

"There is one of the peculiar facts about this dream," said he. "There that I did not see how any opinion was no view from the windows; it was night. The room seemed to be dark, the life of Mr. Winthrop. It was im- and yet I perceived all that was in it and had an impression of the things just as if I had seen them.'

His manner far more than his words produced upon me an effect of aweabsurd, of course, for what is death or the view of death to shake a man's heart?

"I don't understand why you should conceal this from your sister," said I. Your revelation was dumb as to time. That you expect to die in your own chamber some day cannot alarm your friends. How can they hope for anything better?"

This is surely the rational view, and it was extraordinary that it had not sprung up before Winthrop's mind immediately. It had not, and in response to my suggestion he said repeatedly: "It will alarm her. The thought that she herself planned these changes will torture her mind."

"You are mistaken," I insisted. "If the fear that you have gone straight to that closing scene of your life which has been so strangely revealed to you."

overpersuaged and agreed to take Marion into his confidence, the more especially because he had been confronted by the necessity of leaving home for a few days upon a matter of business. The result of this disclosure, however, was precisely what Winthrop had foreseen. It was to Marion as if she had built a gallows for her brother upon which he must die the sooner because of the work of her hands.

She concealed this feeling from Stanley, but to me she was explicit. It was H. Swift, Methodist, Chicago. at this time that she and I began to realize the nature of the tie that was binding us more closely to each other. We had misnamed it friendship for more than a year.

This monstrous notion, that the room and her own affectionate efforts to make it more comfortable for her brother had somehow accelerated the her mind. Her brother dwelt in the apartment with a certain placid impatience, but Marion viewed his continued use of it with an ever present terror which seemed to me utterly unreasonable.

The situation was the worse because no one dared try to mend it. To persuade Stanley to give up the room forever or to consent to a change of its furnishings was the same as asking him to set a date for his own exit from the world, since he believed that he was to die in that scene as it then stood. Absurd as this belief must seem morning. It speedily became necessary to take any one else whom I ever knew, and I consulted certain members of the Winthrop household. The result was a determination to overthrow this superadded. "They've changed the room all stition by direct proof of its falsity. It seemed likely that in this attempt ing it last. That's a great nook you I might lose Stanley's friendship, but I had reached a pitch of desperation where I was willing to risk anything, and, moreover, the doctor, who was a bluff old fellow, agreed to assume

One evening at the Winthrops' dinner hour Dr. Evans and I gained access to Stanley's room from the veranda. We were accompanied by some of the servants, and we had the means of effect-"Marion did all this while I was ing a very considerable change in the appearance of that apartment. It was an evening prematurely dark. The western sky almost to the zenith was dead black, so that the earth seemed to be rolling into the mouth of a pit. I was the first to enter the room, and I groped my way at once to was a lamp. A match crackled under my fingers and went out. I was findcry. Immediately there was a noise at the door. Some one outside turned the knob and then knocked with a hurried and unsteady hand.

"Stanley!" called Marion from without. "Stanley, unlock the door!" I ran to let her in, but a hand in the darkness clutched my shoulder, and the doctor's voice whispered:

"It isn't locked. I have my foot gainst it. She must not come in." "Why not?" I demanded. He put his lips close to my ear.

Christianity Versus Paganism.

All pagan religions are not entirely humbugs; they are not the result of scheming by crafty priests seeking to oppress the people, but they are the aspirations of men after God. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

21-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-How we may learn to use our sword.-Eph. vi, 17; Heb. iv, 12, 13; IF Tim. ii, 15.

Warfare is both offensive and defensive. The soldier must learn to make aggressive warfare and also how to defend and guard himself. Defensive warfare was more prevalent in the past than today. The weapons of offense were such that it was possible for men by extensive armors to protect and defend themselves. But no armor can withstand the modern weapons of warfare, and hence little attention in LANE'S FAMILY MEDICINE portant phase of ancient military life In his description of the Christian's armor in the sixth chapter of Ephe My brothers, if we reach up for lofty sians Paul mentions five articles of deideals those ideals will lift us up. As the word of God it has great power. when rightly used. It is living and powerful and heart searching. Experience also proves the effectiveness of God's word as a Christian weapon of warfare. No better example of this fact can be recalled than that of the Master Himself. During His great temptation the sword of the Spirit was 1453 Hancock Street, His only weapon, but it was a most effective one. To Satan's argument, "It is written," He invariably replied, "It is written again." Thus He successfully parried every blow of the adversary and came off more than conqueror over him. God's word is still effective in warding off evil and overcoming it.

We may have to use the sword of the Spirit in two ways-by study and by practice. (1) We must know the word of God. A soldier may be provided with all the weapons of warfare, yet if he does not know how to use them he is a failure as a soldier. God has given us His word, but we must study it in its depth and entirety before we can use it effectively. We must understand it and know how to rightly divide it. This can only come from study. (2) We must use God's word. Practice gives proficiency. Every temptation should be met in the strength of God's word; every progressive movement in Christian work or life should of the cost of following him. It does be founded upon it. By constant praccost; costs in moral struggle and often tice we will become proficient as solrow and not drift if he would be a sword of the Spirit, which is the word

STORIES OF THE FLOOD

Curious Incidents of the Disaster In Kansas.

STRANGE COMPANY ON A PIANO.

A Chicken Family, a Rat and a Duck Used the Instrument as a Refuge. Good Example of Nerve-Novel Rescue of a Kitten-Odd Spectacle and a Tragic Comedy.

The recent flood in eastern Kansas has been replete with incidents, tragic, heroic, humorous and even comic. Here are a few of them from the Kansas City Star:

An Armourdale man who visited that town said that he had seen an old hen with a brood of little chicks quartered on top of a piano. A rat and a duck, he said, also used the instrument as a refuge. The refugees had nothing in common, however, and each kept aloof from the others. The hen mother, mistress of the top of the piano, kept a close watch on her little ones. She would not permit them to go too near the edge of their roost. One of the brood, a precocious little black feathered rooster, kept the old hen busy. He would first trot to one end of the piano, then to the other. The duck and rat were seated on the keyboard, and it seemed to delight the little black chick to lean over the edge and chirp at the rat, seated sad eyed and lonely and watching the water waiters and cooks is a thing of the past | which had made him take to the tall spot. The old hen kept the other two members of the animal kingdom at a safe distance, and the duck, whenever the rat moved around at his end of the keyboard, quacked loudly.

The Armourdale man says he stayed at the spot for fully an hour watching within 10 days. On the question of the strange company. He took the absolute recognition of the union the duck in his boat, but the chicken famagreement provides for freedom on both lily and the rat resisted all efforts to rescue them.

> People who were in the west bottoms witnessed a curious spectacle one afternoon. Borne down on the current beneath the "L" road viaduct floated what appeared to be the body of an army nurse. It rested quietly on the crest of the stream, with apron undis-Cross society plainly visible upon one ure proved to be an advertisement, a grocery store.

When the water in the east bottoms had receded enough the proprietor of Atchison, Kas., June 20.-Hick a confectionery store entered his building. He waded out and was busy among the wreckage when a man came up in a boat. The man tied up to a smiled as he saw the remains of a soda

"Gimme a strawberry ice cream soda." he said. A man in a boat, passing near one of the big mills in the east bottoms, saw one of his old friends in the office window. "Say, Charley," he said, "what are you doing in the office?" His friend looked at him disdainfully and answered: "Go on and con't talk to me. I was a common mill hand like you once, but I'm bookkeeper now."

He was trying to save the books of the company.

There was a good example of "nerve" in the case of Walter S. Dickey. He came home from Salt Lake City and asked how much of his Kansas City plant was gone. "About half of the building is down, and the loss will be about $30,000," he was told. After transacting some little matters of business he sent a check for $1,000 to the relief committee and, calling one of his clerks, said, "Let's go and see what we have left of the plant."

A negro rescued a kitten from the top of a one story saloon building near Ninth and Mulberry streets in Kansas City. The little thing had purred piteously all afternoon and attracted the attention of every one who passed by on the "L" road viaduct. Several ineffectual efforts to rescue it were made before the negro finally succeeded in bringing it to the ground. This he accomplished with a long pole on the end board. When the contrivance was raised to the roof the kitten walked on the board to the saucer and was then drawn safely to the street. The rescuer placed the kitten beneath his arm and said he would keep it as a souvenir of the flood.

Many acts of heroism were seen among the women of Argentine, a Kansas City suburb. In many instances they were the last to leave the homes, and with the strength of men many of them waded through water waist deep, carrying household goods to places of safety. At one place a woman was seen with a child under each arm and a large bundle of clothing balanced on her head, wading toward the high ground. A well dressed man rushed into the muddy water and assisted her to the shore.

A tragic comedy was that of John stood on the roof of a floating shanty. Crown Prince Gustav of Sweden if When Ray reached the shanty he made an effort to get the brute from the roof, but was unable to do so. In his endeavor to rescue the hog Ray sudover and instantly killed at Providence | denly sank beneath the water and was drowned.

Another familiar place disappears. The old house that was the original Quincy Stone Bank is being transformed into "rows," or stores. In this respect some of the places in our centre are like the "rows" in old Chester, England, we are told. This old place sheltered Mr. Abraham Bartlett and his large family, when he was cashier of the bank and Josiah Brigham was its president.

TWO KINDS OF GRASS.

The Minister Finally Got the Source of His Text Correct. At a certain revival meeting of colored folks in a church in North Carolina the minister announced from the pulpit: "My tex' is 'Let de woman l'arn in silence wid all subjection.' You will done fin' it in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover." At this mention of an unknown epistle a good brother plucked the coat tails of the minister. The latter turned round, then again faced the audience. "In spite of de interruption," he said, "1 repeat de tex' am from de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover." Again the coat tails were plucked, and the minister glared at the plucker, only to turn once more to the congregation. Brudder Johnson," he said, "objects to de tex' 'Let woman l'arn in silence.' We all know dat Sister Johnson am not a silent woman. But I done repeats dat de tex' will be foun' in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover." Here Brother Johnson rose to the minister's ear and whispered earnestly. "Oh!" said the dominie, Then to the gaping people: "I asks Sister Johnson's pardon. Her husban' says I made a mistake, he is dat triflin'. My tex' will not be foun' in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover, but in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Timothy. I knowed it was some kind ob grass."

Real Doctoring.

Doc Judson had never taken so much as a single course in medical study, but he was in greater demand than the egular practitioner of Crowville, who had a degree and a framed "diplomy" in his office.

"I'd ruther trust to Bill Judson's docoring than any that's learned out o' medicine books," said Old Lady Sim-

When pressed for a reason for this preference the old lady had one unfailng answer.

"When Doc was away one time I was took with rheumatism in my side, an' I Heath. had to let daughter Jane send for the diplomy doctor. He give me medicines an' said the rheumatism would give leetle an' finally wore off, leaving me weak as a rag.

"Well, now, when I have one o' those spells an' Doc Judson 'tends me he comes in, gives one look at me, mixes up a glass o' his herb stuff, an' in less'n twelve hours he has that rheumatism h'isting all over me from head to feet departing in a half dozen directions an no chance for my mind to dwell on any one spot an' say, 'It's the wust thar.' That's what I call doctoring!"

A Lawyer's Apology.

Some years ago there was an old udge on the bench in Berks county whose decisions, in consequence of nunerous reversals, did not always command universal respect. One day in a case in which he was sitting one of the lawyers lost patience at his inability to see things in a certain light and in the heat of the moment remarked that the intellect of the court was so dark a flash of lightning could not penetrate it. For this contempt the judge showed a disposition to be very severe with the offender, and it was only aft er much persuasion by friends of the latter that he yielded and decided to accept a public apology. The following day the lawyer, accordingly, appeared before his honor and made amends by saying: "I regret very much that I said the intellect of the court was so dark lightning could not penetrate it. I guess it could. It is a very penetrating thing." -Philadelphia Ledger.

The Tools of the Egyptians. The ancient Egyptians had tools for stone working equal to anything in use Charles Stewart Dinneen, Nathan Clark Drew, today. > Byron's Joke on His Publisher. Byron once sent his friend John Murray a present of a Bible. It was placed on the bookshelf and left there for years untouched till at a dinner party. the verification of a text being repage had been turned down, and it was found that in the verse "Now, Barabbas was a robber" the word "publisher" had been substituted. The poor little pleasantry had lain hidden all those long years.

Politics In Epitaphs.

In a cemetery indefinitely located "on the Susquehanna river" there is a grave with this epitaph on the marble memorial slab: "Chas. Lewis; He Voted for Lincoln." A Baton Rouge (La.) gravestone bears this legend: "Here lies the body of David Jones. His last words were, 'I die a Christian and a Democrat.'"

3t LITTLE BARBADOS.

The Island Contains About the Proudest People on Earth. None of the great nations of the earth is half so proud of itself as the little colony of Barbados, a mere speck in the Caribbean, which calls itself

"the little England of the tropics." Alone of all England's West Indian isles, Barbados has belonged to England ever since it was first colonized by white men. It has never been con quered by the enemy, as the others have been. This fact naturally gives the Barbadians a good conceit of themabout the proudest people on earth.

should attack Russia the Barbadians sent this message to the cabinet: "Go ahead. Don't be afraid. Barbados is behind you."

King George was offered an asylum by "little England" when Napoleon Bonaparte proposed to invade Eng-

"If you were driven from England," the Barbadians wrote, "come here. You will be safe with us to protect you." When England was suffering her worst reverses in South Africa the Barbadians were not worried. They knew that if matters really reached a crisis "Barbados would go in and finish cousin of the bride, was maid of the business," as one of their newspapers seriously put it.

ALEXANDER AND DRAGA

Anecdotes of Servia's Late King and Queen.

INCIDENTS OF RULER'S BOYHOOD.

How He Rebelled at Being Parted From His Mother When She Was Banished From Belgrade-Instances of His Courage and Democratic Tendencies-Traits of Queen Draga and Her Determination to Rule Servia.

Henry W. Fischer, a well known newspaper writer, relates the following incidents in the early life of Alexander I., the late king of Servia:

Alexander was but twelve years old when King Milan, his father, issued I marry the king? It would be best the decree banishing the queen from for him. I have known him since a Belgrade and commanding that the crown prince should be taken from | Queen Natalie, to take care of him. her. Mother and son were at that time quietly living in Wiesbaden, and, as everybody knows, Prince Bismarck backed up the Servian government in ple will say. They do not like me. the dastardly attempt of enforcing its There is Russia. There is Austria. I rulings on foreign soil.

The boy was as much opposed to return to Belgrade without his mother as Queen Natalie to separate from her son. The Princess Mornssi, cousin to the queen, tried in vain to argue with Alexander.

"I will not follow papa's command. I will stay with mamma," was Alexander's persistent reply to all her entreaties.

"But," said the princess, "the German government also demands your departure."

prince of Servia," cried Alexander in return.

"You must obey or they will take you by force."

Upon this announcement the boy leaned back in his chair for a few minutes in speechless astonishment and then, stamping his foot with a fierce determination, strange in one so young, sobbed: "I will never forgive Germany for

When, later, the chief of police of Wiesbaden arrived to read the imperial decree to the queen, Alexander walked up to his mother's side and declared, with much dignity:

"Your majesty must not permit this insult! It is debasing for us to even listen to this man!"

Alas, this brave face did not avail much! On the following day he was turned over to his father's messenger and conveyed to Belgrade by special train. During the journey, lasting nearly three days, the prince spoke to General Proctics, his new governor, but once. When Proctics asked him on the second evening, "Why don't you go to sleep?" he answered him in the significant words, "Because I must pray for poor papa."

The anecdotes bespeaking Alexander's personal courage and his democratic tendencies are legion. When scarcely eleven years old he spent the summer with his mother in Baden. near Vienna. His chief delight was bathing at a public open air establishment frequented by the townspeople. The customers of the bath were, of course, divided in swimmers, for whom a large and deep basin was reserved, and nonswimmers, who had to content themselves with wading round in shallow water. Alexander hated shallow water and at once entered upon swimming lessons. As he took to the element like the proverbial duck his teacher promised to promote him to the swimming basin after the tenth les-

When, however, on the ninth day the teacher was preparing to dangle the crown prince on the pole and line the boy gave him the slip and jumped off the boards into deep water, where he at once began sporting with the other boys. Dr. Dokics, his tutor, who was responsible for his person, ran up and down alongside the basin entreating his royal highness to at once return to terra firma. The only satisfaction he got was: "Oh, yes. I will come out as soon as I feel tired.'

"I will inform her majesty of your conduct," cried the doctor in despair. "Oh, you will, will you?" gave back Alexander, sticking out his tongue at the same time as far as it would go and turning on his back to let himself float down the stream while he encouraged his playfellows to join in his impudent jest.

On another occasion, when he was already king in name, Alexander showed his true democracy even in a more pronounced form. He had been on a Jonely drive in Budapest. Getting thirsty, he bade his coachman to halt They bear me in an ambulance to take the in front of one of the open air beer gardens on Andrassy street. There the young king alighted, handed the cabby a cigarette and then sat down at a table near the sidewalk. He ordered two glasses of beer, and when the waiter brought them told him to take one beer to the cabby.

"Excuse me," said the waiter, who probably did not anticipate a large douceur from so young a customer, "I am not the 'boots,' you know."

"Oh, I beg your pardon a thousand times," answered the king, throwing him a five florin note. He then drained his glass, took up the other one, and, walking over to the cab, added: "I guess I had better wait on him myself. That poor fellow must be awfully dry, and it would be cruel to make him

Algot Sandberg, formerly the editor of a newspaper in Sweden, but now living in New York, met and interriewed the late Queen Draga just previous to her marriage to the king of Servia, savs the New York World.

"While not beautiful, the queen was a handsome woman," he said. "On the day I saw her she wore a dress of corn colored silk, with black lace, rustling with every movement. Her hands were extraordinarily beautiful. They were covered with gleaming, glittering rings. She constantly was making gestures with them. Her hair was very black, but her eyebrows almostcame together across her nose, giving her a most sinister look when her face was in repose. Her eyes, next to her hands, were what attracted the most attention. They were gleaming, black and wide.

"When I explained my mission to her, which was to ascertain whether or not she was to marry King Alexander, she said:

"'I have nothing to conceal. My way lies open to all. Why should not child, and I have promised his mother, Can I do it in any better way than as his wife?

"'It is now time the king was married. I care nothing for what the peocare nothing for them. Once queen of Servia and I will show the czar and the emperor how to rule a land. I am a Servian, as good as Alexander. Since the days of his wicked father there has been nothing but trouble in this land. Together the king and I will have peace and contentment. I will reform the king.

"The king is a good boy and I am proud of him. I shall do for him the best I can. He has no true friends among his subjects. He must have some one upon whom to lean. There will come a time of trouble for him. "The German government has no He is weak hearted; I am strong. It right to interfere with the crown will be best for him to have me at his side. I am a woman who has lived. I know men; I can give him good advice and prevent his excesses. I shall certainly marry him.

"'When the king visited his mother, Queen Natalie, at Biarritz we were much together. His mother approved of it, and one night when he returned late from a dinner he had given to some dancers she said to me: "Draga, Alexander will be like his father. You have the right to return to our country; promise me you will take care of him. Help him. Be his mother in my stead."

"" "Why his mother?" I asked. "Why not his wife?"

"'Queen Natalie told me her son was fond of me and that she would approve our marriage. Now I am simply trying to keep my pledge to Queen Natalie.'

Continuing, Mr. Sandberg said: "She was a most magnificent woman, and except for her intolerable arrogance and hatred of the king's advisers could have done much toward

reclaiming the king."

Kansas Senator Declares Intaking

Canals a Remedy. Senator J. R. Burton of Kansas. airman of the senate forestry mission and an enthusiastic advocate of headwater reservoirs, thinks the recent floods could have been prevented. says a special dispatch from Abilene, Kan., to the Philadelphia Public Ledger. He said the other day: "The recent floods should awaken public thought to the necessity of providing, if possible, against such terrible disasters in the future. We can, perhaps, do nothing to either increase or decrease the rainfall anywhere, but we can do a great deal toward the control of the water after it falls on the earth. "I see it is estimated that Kansas City and vicinity lost $20,000,000 by this flood and that Topeka lost $4,000. 000 worth of property. This, perhaps, is exaggerated, but suppose the aggre gate loss was $25,000,000? Less than that amount of money would construct intaking canals and receptive reservoirs sufficient to have prevented any destruction whatever by this flood. "Beginning with the Plains county at the foothills of the mountains and extending throughout the entire arid and semiarid belt, the waters can be impounded for irrigation purposes. By the time the beneficial use is thoroughly understood it will be demonstrated that the waters that can be impounded in the rain belt can and will be used beneficially for irrigation, in addition to the prevention of destructive floods."

GALVESTON LAUNCHING

Will Not Be Accompanied by Display of Force

MOODY'S PROGRAM IS LEGAL

But Cabinet Looks For Amicable Adjustment of D.fferences Between Virginia Court of Chancery and Government Authorities

Washington, June 20 .- Except to announce that "the Galveston matter is in the hands of the attorney general." Secretary Moody refuses to di cuss yesterday's cabinet meeting or the probable action of the approximat. He also requested Rear Admiral Bowies to be equally mindful or the prodent's wishes as to silence on the subject.

Modification of the attorney general's opinion, which in its unrevised form already had been communicated to Secretary Moody, somewhat disarranges for the moment the program of the navy department as to a show of force. Attorney General Knox presented a carefully prepared opinion on the subject, strongly affirming the right of the government to disregard the injunction granted in the Virginia court, which forbids the resumption of work on the Galveston pending a settlement of the claim of the sub-contractors who have not been paid for material furnished.

It is understood that the opinion of Attorney General Knox, as submitted originally to the president and cabinet, was modified slightly before it was made public. It was stated that the attorney general, in his opinion, upheld the right of the secretary of the navy to use force, if necessary, to carry into effect his orders. It was regarded by the cabinet, it is said, to be entirely likely that a way would be found amicably to adjust the apparent differences between the Virginia court of chancery and the authorities of the government.

The president thinks a show of force under the circumstances will be inexpedient and the navy department therefore must content itself with awaiting the advice of the department of justice. Meanwhile it has instructed its agents at Richmond not to interfere with the order of the court until specifically instructed.

It is learned that all the workmen employed by the Trigg company left the yard when the company went into the hands of a receiver and the government is experiencing some difficulty in securing laborers. This will prevent the vessels being ready for launching next Monday, and it is hoped the department of justice in the meantime will have prevailed on the local court officials at Richmond to withdraw from adequately protected. As for the other 12 warships contracted for by the companies composing the United States Shipbuilding combine, the navy department has not been informed that work on any of them has been interrupted as yet, and for the present Secretary Moody can take no action.

The case of the Galveston has been forced to a test so that the government may be sure of its ground in the event of complications with the United States Shipbuilding company.

Secretary Moody will take no action for the present on the appeal of Rear Admiral Bowles for troops to protect Lieutenant Theiss and Naval Constructor Grosdeck, in charge of the work on the Galveston, from any interference by the local courts.

The New Boat Fails to Make a Great Record

Constitution Comes In Less Than Two Minutes Behind In Twenty Five-Mile Race-Time Allowance Would Have Made Old Boat Win

New York, June 20.-If Constitution did not defeat Reliance on time allowance in a 25-mile race over the course of the Indian Harbor Yacht club in Long Island sound she gave the admirers of the new boat a bad scare. In more than four hours of sailing Reliance outsailed her by only 1m. 50s. elapsed time. Experts estimate that the new boat will have to allow Constitution two to three minutes in a 30-mile race which, if true, might give yesterday's race to the older boat as well as one of the earlier races when Reliance heat her by two minutes and a fraction. Columbia was again outclassed from the start. Her gain of about two minutes on the second leg of the race was time wasted by the other boats in a luffing match.

Between the leaders the race was hotly contested, first one and then the other getting the better of it by sudden shift of wind, which, when it began to blow steadily, left Reliance about one minute ahead. Constitution's fast sailing was all the more remarkable and makes her more formidable from the fact that the race was sailed in light winds and smooth water, under which conditions Reliance has often beaten her.

The contest of the captains began at the starting line, when Captain Barr of Reliance robbed Captain Rhodes of Constitution of an advantage cleverly gained and forced Constitution to give way to him to avoid a collision. Rhodes had Constitution at the windward end of the line and would have forced Reliance to take a leeward position but for Barr's move in poking Reliance between Constitution and the mark. Constitution flew a protest flag, probably for that reason. It is a question whether Barr had established the overlap required to give him the right of way.

The course was an elongated triangle, 10 miles easterly and diagonally across the sound, five miles north straight across to the Connecticut shore, and 10 miles along that shore to the finish line.

The first leg was a 10-mile beat easterly and across the sound. The wind was not more than four knots. Once across the line Constitution was fairly blanketed by Reliance and forced to keep off while Reliance quickly worked a few hundred yards to windward of her. Columbia split tacks with the others and was never in company with them afterward. After an hour, during which they had worked off into the middle of the sound, Reliance, having the right of way, essayed to cross Constitution's bow, but failed. An hour after the start she accomplished it, but a few minutes later the wind backed to northeast and gave Constitution the half an hour, and both boats were approaching the first turn when Reliance caught a smart puff of wind from the

They turned the first mark almost side by side, and with a wind hauling to the southwest started to reach five miles north and across the sound to the next turn. A hot luffing match for the windward position ensued, in which Constitution was handicapped by carrying a balloon jibtopsail. Captain Barr had no sooner luffed Reliance from under Constitution's lee than the wind shifted and he had to do it all over again. They fought it out for half an hour and it carried them far off their course; but Reliance finally shook off her rival and they filled away for the turn with the new boat leading by a few hundred yards and more than a minute and a

Unions affiliated with the central body BARELY ESCAPES DEFEAT of cotton mill operatives will hold EX-PRESIDENT WAS MISLED special meetings today and tomorrow to act on the question and there is scarcely any doubt that they will decide to return to work.

While the sentiment of the strikers appears to be decidedly in favor of surrender, no action has been taken by any of the unions, although three special sessions were held yesterday. The organizations are eagerly watching one another, waiting for some one to take the initiative, and once the ice is broken it seems that the movement to declare the strike off will be openly acknowledged.

Mule spinners, along with the other organizations appear to favor the plan to return to work, but if it is possible they will insist that the places of all the strikers be restored to the men who go back. & OF LAW &

One day a lady passing along a street n Tokyo where a plumber was fixing a waterspout received a sprinkle of melted solder on her dress. She turned upon the poor man like a fury, declaring that the dress was ruined, that she had just received it from its maker. that it was worth $100, and demanding that he pay the amount at once.

The plumber, who probably had never possessed half the amount in his life, was very much chagrined. He explained that his ladle had slipped and the injury to the dress was entirely unintentional.

"That has nothing to do with the matter. You ruined my dress, and you shall pay for it. I think I know the law well enough to be sure of my posi-was he to do? "I'll pay you a dollar a week," he said piteously, "till all is paid."

"That would take two years. No. I must have my money now. Since you will not pay you shall go before the justice. He will find out whether you have the money."

With that she called a policeman and had the plumber taken before a justice. The court was in session, and stead of giving the least intimation after waiting awhile the lady secured of such an intention on his part his first a hearing. She told her side of the case. The plumber admitted that, through an accident which occurred while the lady was passing, her dress had been injured by his solder. He declared that he would pay in time, but he could not pay at once. He begged the court to have pity upon him and not send him to jail, for without his support his family would starve.

"It all rests with the plaintiff," said the judge. "You have ruined her dress and must pay the damage. This is the law. It rests with her whether she lets you off from immediate payment." "I demand my money and at once,"

MOON'S PHESES

Patient - And how about my old friend Boggs, doctor? Are you at all nervous over his case?

Doctor-Oh, no. If his condition becomes serious, I shall insist upon some cash on account.-Chicago News.

INVISIBLE LIGHT.

Only When It Strikes the Retina of the Eye Can It Be Seen.

What is the simplest demonstration of the fact that light is invisible? The blackness of a midnight sky demonstrates this fact most readily. We may see the planets of the moon brilliantly illuminated by the sun's rays, but the surrounding space is passementerie with an embroidery of must be passing there.

The passage of a beam of light through a darkened room is only visible on the dust in the air, and the cone of light seen when the sun shines through a small hole in a shutter is not visible, but only light reflected from the motes in the beam. This can be easily and simply demonstrated by placing in the beam a glass vesse. from which the dust has been carefully removed. The beam then may be seen before and after entering the vessel, but is invisible within. A Bunsen burner or a redhot poker held so as to destroy the motes will also render the beam invisible at that spot.

Light is only visible when it strikes on the retina of the eye, and it can only do so when it reaches it in a direct line or is turned by a reflection or refraction into a direct line. Just as the bullets from a gun do a man no harm unless aimed or turned in their course toward his body, so light is without effect unless it is aimed or turned toward the retina.-Pearson's Weekly.

First Women on the English Stage. It is only with the restoration drama that the annals of actresses on the English stage begin. Queen Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I., had early made a vain attempt to introduce the French fashion of female players into her adopted country by the establishment of a French company composed only of women in London. But the experiment was premature, and the foreigners were hissed and pelted off the stage at their first performance.

Until 1660 the female parts had always been taken by boys, and the custom survived even after women had taken their place upon the stage, since some of the more famous of the boy century. Kynaston, the chief boy actor, straw rosette. survived till 1699, long after the ladies in the "Silent Woman," speaks of him ostrich tip curling on the hair behind. as "the liveliest lady for a boy" he had Advice.

The best advice that can be given probably is: Take all the advice you can get and then do as you please. The successful person, or the one whom the crowd counts successful, is being constantly besieged with applications for advice how to succeed. He is generally incapable of giving it. The same advice, outside of a few maxims generally applicable, is seldom good for two persons. Advice, as a rule, is cheap and about as valuable as most cheap things. To be constantly following advice without stopping to consider its source is the plain mark of weakness. It is this trait of weak human nature which makes the business of the patent medicine maker so profitable. The person of power is the one who neither gives nor takes advice in generous quantities. The world would be better off if advice were much less plentiful. Then, perhaps, its quality might rise in proportion to its scarcity.-New London Telegraph.

GREAT CONTEST ENDED

Failure of Strike Involving 17,-000 Operatives at Lowell

UNIONS VOTE TO RETURN

Disturbance of Balance Usually Existing Between Stock and Prices In Various Departments of Mills May Delay Starting Up In Full

Lowell, Mass., June 22.—The Textile council has declared the great strike in the Lowell mills at an end. Every union affiliated with the council was represented and the vote was unanimous. Mulespinners and loomfixers were included in this vote, despite statements that they would oppose a return to work.

The meeting was called at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and about one hour later the press committee was ready to receive reporters. There was no dissension. The situation was discussed carefully and with no suggestion of excitement. The vote showed every delegation favorable to a return to work, and the sentiment was that the vote take immediate effect.

When asked for a statement, Presi dent Conroy said: "We now worship at the altar of defeat, but later we shall rise again and conquer."

Agent Southworth, secretary of the agents, said when interviewed: "It will be impossible to start the balance of machinery so as to employ at once all who will come back. Running with an incomplete force for three weeks has disturbed the balance that usually exists between stock and prices in the various departments. A mill may have depleted its stock in certain kinds of yarn, and for that reason be unable to start all of its looms, even if the full complement of help is available. It is for the selling agents and the treasurers to decide, in view of the market, whether we shall attempt to run in full."

The strike began on March 30 and involved about 17,000 operatives. The mills were shut down till June 1, when the agents opened the gates and the to work. The strike has cost in wages before Commissioner Rogers here and It is understood that the agents will take back all the old help they have room for and will make no discrimination against the leaders of the strike movement. The high price of cotton precluded any hope of the success of the strikers' campaign for a 10 percent increase. The strike affected the seven big cotton corporations, operating about 40 10 percent advance in wages demanded by the operatives. Of the total number of operatives, over 11,000 were women The mill men claimed that the condition of the cotton manufacturing industry did not warrant the advance asked for. They claimed the profits of the mills during the past year were so small that to pay any higher wages would totally wipe out all dividends for stockholders.

Soon after the strike was begun a arge number of French-Canadian operatives let for Canada, and a number of skilled help found work in other cities. It was estimated that within three weeks after the strike began fully 6000 operatives had left the city. Of these many have come back within the past two weeks.

Six Men Killed by Lightning

Cambridge, O., June 22.-Lightning struck a hut stored with 3000 pounds of dynamite at the new mines now being opened near Senecaville, killing six men and injuring a score of others, besides ruining the mine shaft and breaking nearly all the windows in Senecaville, a mining town of 300 people, half a mile from the mine.

Old Chief of Poncas Resigns White Eagle, O. T., June 22.-White Eagle, the aged chief of the Poncas, has resigned and conferred his title upon his son, Tahgy. In honor of the new chief 700 ponies were given away as presents and 2000 Indians participated in the sun dance. Thousands of whites witnessed the celebration.

Chicago, June 22.-Discharges in bankruptcy have been granted by Judge Kohlsaat to John A. and Alexander Davidson of the Davidson Bros.' Marble company. The debts thus wiped out amount to $1.431,838. One of the claims scheduled by John A. Davidson was that of Louise Montague for $100,-000. Miss Montague, known to the theatrical world as the "10,000 beauty," sued Davidson for this amount on the ground that he had induced her to withdraw from the stage by promising to build a costly marble palace for her in New York.

Electric Lights Turned On After Three Weeks' Darkness.

There was some surprise Sunday evening when the electric street lights came on for the first time since June 1. and as the night was dark and stormy they were very welcome. All of the circuits were not working, however, and for that reason some of the streets did not get their light. These circuits will probably be in working order tonight.

The reason for the lights being turned on was that Mayor Bryant and the Hurley and who threatened that the Electric Light officials had come to an Ledger man should lose his job if he 24 4-5 seconds. understanding. The agreement was did not write a good story of the outreached at a conference held Sunday ing, and also Mayor Warner of Taunton. morning, and is considered by Mayor Bryant to be a good one.

His last proposition called for three-year contract at a reduction of seven and one-balf per cent. The agreement reached calls for a three-year contract at a reduction of five and one third per cent.

Although the new contract is on the moon schedule the lights will burn every night except the two nights preceeding the full of the moon and the two nights following the full of the moon. If, however, these nights should be dark and stormy the lights will be turned on. This means that the city will gain about four per cent in additional light. Tea Under the old price the city paid $75 per year for each of its 130 are lights, and $18.50 each per year for its 536 incandescent lights. The new contract dronk. Everybody and everything in calls for $71 each for the arc and $17.50 for each of the incandescent lights.

GRAND

The City Messengers Were Much Pleased With Quincy.

The Massachusetts City Messengers' club held its annual summer outing on Saturday in Quincy as guests of City Messenger Harry W. Tirrell. Whatever impression the party may have had of Quincy in the past does not count, for the hospitable air that prevailed and the invigorating ozone they inhaled convinced them that Quincy occupied a prominent position on the map and that Harry Tirrell was all right.

It was Harry's busy day, and from the time that the visitors landed in Quincy at 10.49 A. M. until they de parted at 6.42, he saw to it that their every want was attended to and that no mishap should mar the day's pleasure. Immediately upon arrival they were escorted to the remodelled City Hall, thence to the City Council chamber where a brief meeting was held. The following officers were elected: President, -Clarence I. Allen of Lynn.

Vice president, -Harry W. Tirrell of Secretary, -Jarius Mann of Somer-

Treasurer, -Frank T. Evans of Cam-

Executive Committee, - Clarence 1 Allen of Lynn, Joseph D. Wellington of and George M. Hudson of Waltham. This over the party entered the portals of the First church and down the H. F. Miller the Individual Chamnarrow winding stairway to the entrance to the sacred chamber wherein the sarcophagi containing the remains of the two presidents. One by one they gazed in silence through the iron bars of the door, and then looked at the old hearse incased in a glass case.

Next they went to the Criterian restaurant, where a lunch was served. Then the party visited the Adams' Works. The return was made to Quincy at 2 o'clock, and after picking up a few stragglers the special car wer on to Squantum.

Immediately upon arrival at Squanum they were held up by a travelling photographer who grouped them on the teps of the Squantum Inn, taking care hat the best looking men should occupy the prominent places.

It must have been 3 o'clock when Harry shouted "come up stairs boys" No second invitation was needed, and in a few minutes they were seated about the long table in a private dining room. President Allen, weight 200 pounds, with a shiny bald head that looked as though it had been polished by an apple woman, occupied the seat of honor at the head of the table. between Spring Wheat and Winter Wheat flours were generally known, no intelligent family, able to procure the former, would fail to do so. Flour is the article most frequently used in kitchens, yet comparatively few people know much about it. To most housekeepers flour is flour. Those who buy their bread, cake and pastry ready made, are still further away from knowing what they are eating. The standard flour of the world, made of Hard Spring Wheat, is Pillsbury's Best. Sold by grocers everywhere.

LETTER FROM PERSHING

Giving Personal Account of the Bacolod Incident

ASSAULT ON MORO FORT

Planned and Carried Out In the Face of Great Obstacles-Slaying of Fierce Tribesmen Has Ended Opposition to Us In Lake Lanao

Washington, June 22.-Captain John J. Pershing, who was in command of the troops at the fight at Lake Lanao, in the Philippines, has written a letter to a personal friend in the war department describing the battle. It has been shown to Secretary Root, who authorized its publication.

Captain Pershing says that it was in reality the best fight of the Moro campaigns. The fight was carefully planned and after hard work and some fighting an advantageous position was obtained. The main obstacle to the Moro fort was a deep ditch, 35 feet wide and 40 feet deep, to be crossed. It was bridged with fallen trees and over all a bamboo bridge was laid. Everything in readiness, the assault

"In the face of a heavy Remington fire from the fort," says Captain Persbing, "the lines advanced against two faces of the fort, putting out of business every Moro that appeared. They could not use their port holes, as we had battered them to pieces, although we could not without light field artillery damage the earthwork. The lines were then up to within 50 yards. The bridge was completed by two companies detailed for that purpose, the trees having been previously cut and hauled as near as could safely be done.

"Thirty minutes had passed when the assaulting infantry swung across and clambered up nearly in line to the top of the parapet. Here a bloody hand-tohand fight occurred—one soldier against two Moros here, another running his bayonet into a fanatic there-Moros plunging headlong into the deep ditch in their impetuosity. Too much cannot be said of the valor, the bravery, the courage and cool nerve of the American soldier.

"The majority of those left inside never reached the top of the parapet. It was a relief to me that none of our men were killed. Two will lose an arm each, the rest will recover with honorable scars, but not maimed.

"Cholera existed in all that section and we did not examine the interior of the fort until after it was burned and wet thoroughly through, for there were all sorts of underground galleries and passageways. Some officers in the assaulting line counted 60 dead on one floor and the Moros say there were more than 100 killed inside, while the list outside has been growing ever since the battle, so that 150 all told is a conservative estimate.

"I have labored with these Bacolod Moros for a year, trying to convince them of their foolishness in thinking of fighting us, but they have replied in insulting messages; in fact the whole Laguna de Lanao has anticipated a reverse for us. The lesson, of course has been a severe one for them. The old panandungan (a sort of Moro title, meaning chief counsellor or something of that kind-in this case he had more power than the sultan) lost his life, and the rest of them that are left have sent word that they want to be friends. killed early Saturday morning by a We burned nothing but this main cotta and a few smaller ones from which we were fired upon, and I think the Moros all see that our purpose is to be humane as far as they will

> "To my mind this practically settles the Lake Lanao troubles. We, of course, must explore the eastern portion of the lake for a distance that remains yet unexplored, of about 10 miles. I anticipate little trouble there, but there may be one or two hard-headed old dattos who will put up their red flags. The matter may now be said to be settled. There will never again be any continued opposition nor any general opposition. From Bacolod north to Marahui there are more United States flags displayed in the road and in rancheros than I supposed existed in all this country. "One year ago nobody knew nor had seen, except myself, the Moro in his showers will continue in New England. native laguna, nor had they any idea of him nor of his fierce, unconquerable around it. Without the support and backing of General Davis and General Sumner I could not have done this. To them, as commanders, belongs the credit. I hope it will not fail of appreciation."

Funeral Instead of Wedding Salisbury, Md., June 22.-Miss Katle Atkins was shot and instantly killed at her home here by Elmer Heath. After killing the young woman Heath fired three bullets into his head. He may recover. Miss Atkins and her lover were to have been married last Thursday, but Miss Atkins broke the engagement when she learned that Heath bad stolen money from his employer.

Mind May Be Unbalanced New York, June 22.-Rev. Albert S. Boutleller of Boston was taken to Bellevue hospital last night for examination as to his sanity. Dr. Boutieller intended to sail for France today. The clergyman, however, it is said, showed such indications of mental unbalance that his relatives decided to have him committed for examination.

MINING DIFFERENCES Operators and Workers Still Have a

Large Grist of Grievances

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 22.-When the conciliation board meets in this city Plot Promoted on Thursday the operators will have grievances to be adjusted as well as the miners. This will be a surprise to many of the latter, who believed that the coal companies had nothing to complain of. The operators will take exception to the many petty strikes, which are the cause of much inconvenience and annoyance; also that the nonunion men are being interfered with and that the coal output is lessened by the practice of employes remaining at home on certain days without permission.

The miners will offset this with the charge of discrimination; that some of the men active in the strike have not been given work since; that the award of the commission has been violated by a charge in the condition of mining at miners to make as much now as before the strike, and that the operators have broken an old custom in the Schuylkill region by having the men work an hour longer on Saturday. Among other important questions which the miners want settled will be the reduction of yardage, check weighmen, hours of labor for drivers and company

Reliance Headed Procession

New York, June 22.-Reliance won the race of the 90-foot sloops in Long Island sound in the first 20 minutes of sailing and before turning the first mark, while the Columbia and Constitution were trying to out-luff each other. By their sharp rivalry both older boats lost hundreds of yards and any prospects they might have had of winning. After that it was a procession all the way around to the finish line, where the Reliance beat the Constitution by 4m. 17s. and the Columbia by 7m. 31s.

Safe Blower Fatally Hurt

Noblesville, Ind., June 22.-George Marvin is dying in the county jail here as a result of an alleged attempt to blow the safe in a store at Jolietville Citizens of the village who were awakened by a terrible explosion found Marvin lying unconscious near the store with one arm blown away and his body otherwise terribly mangled. A second man made his escape. The accidental dropping of a can of nitroglycerine was the cause of the explosion.

Succumbed to Surgical Operation New York, June 22.-Major James B. Pond, manager of lecturers and singers, died at his home in Jersey City as the result of an operation in which his right leg was amputated. Pond. who had been ill for a month, underwent a slight operation two weeks ago, but the wound failed to hear satisfactorily. and it finally became necessary to re move the leg. Pond was born at Cuba N. Y., in 1838.

Amateur Journalists Organize

Boston, June 22.-An organization of amateur journalists was effected here and bears the name of the Interstate Amateur Press association. It is to be criticism of their work. The organization elected Charles N. Andrews of the land. Brooklyn president. It was decided to publish an organ to be known as Interstate.

Religious Riots In France

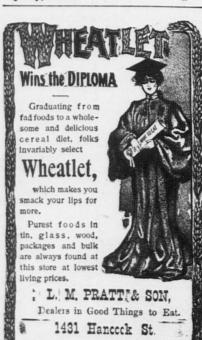

Paris, June 22.—Several riots arising out of collisions between clericals and anti-clericals are reported from several towns in the provinces in connection with religious processions. At Brest an anti-clerical mob attempted to seize the host from the hands of the priest as the procession was about to re-enter the cathedral. A free fight ensued, in which many persons were injured.

Said to Have Been Discovered

Said, the Government Had No Use-Five Indictments For Conspiracy

Washington, June 23 .- The Post says

It is also said that 7000 of these devices originally were ordered at a cost of $4 or more each, or a profit of 100 percent on cost, and the allegation is made that a further order for 19,000 more was placed, notwithstanding the original 7000 devices were not used, but were reposing in a storehouse. The company controlling the device was largely made up of California postal employes and The Post says that it is informed that ex-Representative Loud of California, former chairman of the house postoffice committee, took an active part in their behalf and wrote several letters urging the device in the department, and in one of them said it would be an accommodation to him if securing its money for the device, Mr. Loud, The Post says, appeared at the department in its behalf, but specifically disclaimed any interest in the company other than it was composed of his constituents. He took the ground that whatever the necessity or lack of necessity for the device, constituents of his had secured the contract and furnished the articles called for. Therefore, he believed they should be paid, as the government had stipulated to pay them. The allegation was made, The Post says, that $45,000 of the deficiency of $105,000 in the free delivery service with which Mr. Machen is charged was due to purchases of the devices in quesbut at the postoffice departmen this was denied and the statement made that, while the matter was under investigation, the complaint might have been reactionary and intended against the investigation. Complaints also had been made, it was stated, that at the instance of Mr. Loud the rolls at the Presidio had been padded with postal employes, but at the postoffice department they were without any knowledge An effort was made to get a state ment from Mr. Machen on the subject but he declined to either affirm or deny

The grand jury, which has been investigating postal affairs, has returned an indictment against August W. Machen, Diller B. Groff, Samuel A Groff, George E. Lorenz and Martha J. Lorenz, the two latetr being restdents of Toledo. The specific charge is conspiracy to defraud the government. The indictment is based on section 5440 of the revised statutes, which provides a penalty of $10,000 or two years' imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court.

There are 12 counts to the indict ment, 11 of which are substantially the same as those found previously against Machen and the Groffs. The first count of the present indictment, which relates to the conspiracy charge, sets forth that on June 29, 1900, in the District of Columbia, Lorenz, Mrs. Lorenz Machen and the Groff brothers, "conspired, com-

Machen should advise and recommend to the first assistant postmaster general the purchase from the Groff brothers of a large number of the Groff fasteners for mail boxes at $1.25 each and should procure payment therefor, upon which the Groffs should retain 10 percent of such payment, or 75 cents for each fastener; and the Groffs should then pay to Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz, either or both, the remaining 40 percent which was to be "converted, appropriated and applied to the use of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz and Machen."

The indictment says that this agreement was carried out by Machen or June 30, recommending the purchase of 6000 of the fasteners at the price mentioned; that on Sept. 13 of the same year For Purchase of Devices Which, it is Machen recommended to the first assistant postmaster general the payment of that bill; and that the Groff brothers "having thereafter and on Sept. 22 of that year received from the United States $7500 in payment of the bill." Diller B. Groff, on Oct. 20, same year, paid $3000 to George E. and Martha J.

Assistant District Attorney Taggart says that the indictment was found against Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz by reason of the fact that the evidence adduced before the grand jury showed them to be the go-betweens for the Groffs and Machen.

Popular Vote For Senators Jackson, Miss., June 23 .- The state board of election commissioners has ordered a state primary election to be held on Aug. 6. This action means that the next United States senator from Mississippi will be chosen by popular ballot. Senator Money, the present incumbent, and Governor Longino are candidates.

Attacks on Street Cars

SUNDAY GOLF PLAYING

Not Illega!, In Opinion of Medford's City Solicitor

a Person Batting a Ball Along the Ground For Physical Recreation is Not Engaged In Sport or Play

Medford, Mass., June 23.- Sunday golf, if indulged in merely as physical exercise and not in competition or match play, in the official opinion of City Solicitor Hallowell, is not a violation of the statutes governing the observance of the Lord's day. The opinion of the city solicitor, given at the request of Mayor Baxter, in connection with the attempt of members of the city government to stop golf playing on Sunday, has been presented to the chief executive.

The city solicitor quotes a Biblical commandment which says "thou shait do no work" and notes that "the legislature has seen fit to depart from the admonitions of the 10 commandments. by granting special dispensations to many persons. The legislature has not, however," says the solicitor, "viewed the ordinary pastines of ordinary men with such favor," and the statute forbids any person to take part "in any sport, game, play, or public diversion."

The solicitor then considers the word 'sport," saying that it has a wider meaning than "game" or "play," and embraces skating in winter, bicycling, automobiling, yachting, boating, canoeing and driving in summer. He then points out that if all these are inc'ud d in the term "sport" within the meaning of the statute, an order passed by the city council directing the arrest of one class would assume the aspect of persecution against the class singled out. part of the supreme court, the solicitor says he prefers to give the statute a "common sense" interpretation and discriminate between a person taking accounts and will made separate rephysical exercise or recreation. He "I shall construe the statute as meaning that in the absence of a contest or match play against others, a person obtaining physical recreation by batting a ball along the ground is not 'taking part' in a sport, game or play, and the recreation, therefore, is not illegal; and the fact that two people are doing it together is no more evidence that they by if two bicyclists were riding along the street together. The fact of the contest must depend upon other evidence than the fact that they happen to be together."

The opition concludes: "Under this interpretation of the statute therefore I must advise your honor that if any contest, tournament or match game is indulged in during the Sabbath day by the persons referred to in the resolve of the common council, those participating therein come within the prohioltion of the statute. If not, the mere physical recreation engaged in by hose persons is to be classed with the other forms of physical recreation which I have already discussed and which do not come within the scope of the law." This decision will come as a great surprise to many of the people not only of Medford, but throughout the state, and will be hailed with joy by players who have wished to indulge in Sunday golf, but who have not wished to he placed in the position of law-breakers. That it will be a blow to the churches which asked the mayor to act to prevent Sunday play is a foregone conclusion, but until a test case is made, and the matter is carried to the supreme court, Mr. Hallowell's opinion is likely to govern Sunday golf playing in Medford, which has been the centre of a vigorous crusade against the game.

What a Runaway Train Did

Skokane, Wash., June 23 .- A runaway train of 60 cars loaded with coal, without an engine, rushed four miles down grade through town, demolished a dwelling house, wrecked the Crystal laundry, killed four people, injured eight others and piled up a tangled mass of debris nearly 50 feet high. The train slipped while standing on a heavy grade and soon gained a terrific speed.

New York, June 23 .- Samuel Parks, who is under criminal charges in con nection with strikes, has been re elected as one of the four walking delegates of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's union. President Neidig, who has fought Parks, was re-elected, but ran 250 votes behind Parks.

Bates, charged with setting fire to his 26, has developed evidence of for-GONSTRUCTION OF STATUTE | gery. Rev. W. H. Eaton, secretary of the Baptist State Missionary society, testified that letters purporting to have been written by Rev. George C. Lorimer and President Nathan E. Wood That In Absence of Contest or Match of Newton seminary, recommending Bates as a preacher, were not written by those men.

Dr. Eaton said he had a conversation with Bates on March 22 about the letters, both of which recommended Bates, who had been ordained, in the highest terms, and urged the churches ddressed to secure him for their pastor. Neither signature was genuine, the witness said. The morning after this conversation witness received a letter from Hyde Park signed "F. H. Bates," acknowledging that the fraudulent letters were written with his knowledge, although not by him. A friend and himself, he said, had recommended each other, beginning it in a joking way two years before. He expressed his regret. and said he roped the matter would be forgotten. This incident closed the evidence.

New Immigration Record

Washington, June 23 .- Over 750,000 foreigners have come to the United States as immigrants in the 11 months ended May 30 last, according to a statement by Commissioner General Sargent of the immigration bureau. Heretofore the banner year for immigration was that of 1882, when the total ceached 788,992. The figures for the nonth of June are yet to be added to the total for the present year, and when this is done the prediction is made that the former record will be broken by something like 100,000.

She was the fag of the camp and at the same time was always in the way.

One of the men, and one alone, realized the state of affairs and one day suggested to another who sent Wanny a mile for some tobacco without giving her a cent that she should be paid for her work. Wanny stood by and heard the suggestion, the reply, the hot words that followed, and saw Jim Burns, her defender, punch the head of Tom Archer, his antagonist. The bat-Miss Randall and party sailed from the may have been drawn. Such bat-Boston June 6, arrived at Naples on tles usually are, though the heroes of Saturday morning June 20, ahead of stories who defend luckless maidens always come out victorious. There was one result of the fracas, however, which was permanent. It was underbe graduated from the Quincy High stood that thereafter when a man or dered Wanny to do anything for him he must pay her for doing it. and 28 more will complete the business

Wanny from this time received fees varying from a nickel to a quarter. At her first appearance in the miners' Quincy in May were as follows: West camp after Jim Burns' intervention Quincy 6,851,495 pounds; South Quincy she wore a real calico dress and her ,675,111 pounds; Quarry railroad hair was braided and tied with a yel-,282,630 pounds; total 15,808,936 low ribbon that had held together a bundle of cigars. No one suspected the cause of the tidiness but Jim Burns, and he would not have suspected it had tern, capable of accommodating nine he not noticed a peculiar expression in the girl's eyes the very next time she looked at him. Jim considered it an expression of gratitude. It was more than this. The wild creature's heart had been touched with love. Jim Burns paid no more attention to

Wanny than before. That he had freed her from oppression was no reason why he should be called upon to change his bearing toward her. He had no use for a little squaw whom his associates treated very much as they would treat their horse or their dog. Wanny made no effort to secure his notice, going about apparently as indifferent to his attentions as before. Jim was rather pleased at this. He took no credit to himself for the girl's defense and was "Wait till the car stops!" is probably the last man to stand what he called he saw that Wanny refrained from which would have been likely to draw down upon him the gibes of his associates he gave her credit for a lot of sense

Then Jim, who was inclined to take turn out of camp a good for nothing drunken Indian, one of the tribe to which Wanny belonged, who had their tepees a mile down the stream. The man had been hanging about, and sundry articles had been missed. Jim forced his invitation with a kick. Jim had a claim lying between the miners' and the Indians' camp and was accustomed to ride there nearly every day. One morning Wanny came to him and said:

"No go down river today." "Why not, Wanny?" "Git shot."

"Who's going to do the job?" Wanny gave him the name of the Indian whom Jim had given the "grand bounce." Jim thanked her for the information, but Wanny saw by his manner that he would pay no attention to it. She disappeared and was not seen around the camp again that day. About sunset Jim, previous to riding to his claim, remembering Wanny's warning, went to the wall where his rifle hung to get it, but it was not there. Thinking some one had borrowed it and not caring to give up his trip because he hadn't it, he mounted and rode down the river. Suddenly in the road before him he heard a shot, followed by another from a thicket. Riding on, he was horror stricken at seeing Wanny lying on her face in the road across a rifle. Dashing to her, he threw himself from his horse and raised her tenderly. Life was fluttering, but her soul looked out through her eyes as clearly as it had ever looked. In Jim revenge struggled with the gentler feelings, and he hastened to ask before it would be too late who had done the deed. There was no answer. The eye was clear, but the lips had lost the power to move. Then the eye lost its intelligence and became

It was not a minute from the time Jim saw her till, seizing the rifle (his own), he was dashing into the thicket from which it was evident the shot had come. He heard a crashing in the bushes and saw the Indian who had threatened him running for his life. Jim caught him, took him to camp and before the sun had set the Indian was swinging from the limb of a tree. F. A. MITCHEL.

His Last Hope Realized.

[From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.] In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhæa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

THE BELGRADE CONSPIRACY

Said to Have Actually Been Carried Out by Agents of New King, Who Ignored Alexander's Offer to Renounce the Crown

Belgrade, June 23.-King Peter's promotions of officers of the Geneva military delegation have given serious offense here and it is probable that they will be cancelled.

A remarkable change is occurring in the tone of some of the papers. The Narod Nilist urges the people not to participate in the rejoicings on the ocasion of King Peter's arrival and suggests instead that the people should mourn the late king, who fell a victim to political complications.

Another journal reproaches the Servians with slandering their dead king, whom they once pretended to adore These expressions are taken to indicate the revival of party intrigues heretofore suppressed by the military ter

There is a continued influx and exodus by every train. Prominent men who were banished by King Alexander are returning, while others who suspect that the new regime may prove lisastrous to their interests are leav ng the country.

Some newspapers take umbrage at the Russian official note and the attiude of the powers generally, declaring hat Servia's domestic affairs should be meddled with by outsiders and hat she is not bound to give account to any power of what happens at home.

Conspirators Were Peter's Agents Vienna, June 23.—The Allgemeine Correspondenz learns that the new King of Servia was not only fully informed of the military conspiracy at Beigrade but it was actually carried out by his gents. The officers broke into the palace with the fixed determination of cilling the royal couple. The question of demanding the abdication of King Alexander was not mentioned. On the contrary, the late king, perceiving his peril, spontaneously offered to renounce the crown, but the officers ignored this and proceeded to the murder.

A Start For Belgrade

Geneva, June 23.—King Peter left Geneva on his way to Belgrade at 8:43 last night. The Geneva people made quite a holiday of the king's departure. All the afternoon the king's house was surrounded by a crowd, which increased in numbers along the route to the railroad station, where the president of the Servian senate and the other members of the parliamentary äelegation who were given great ovations by the spectators. The station was strongly guarded by gendarmes and toward incident. On the platform gathered a deputation of Geneva women, who presented the king with bouquets of flowers. The train pulled out of the station amid loud cheering, in response to which King Peter cried, "Vive la Suisse."

Offensive Boquets For Servians

St. Petersburg, June 23.—A party of Servian officers met with a violent demonstration last evening while attending a performance at a variety theatre. The audience hurled eggs and Advertise in the Ledger. vegetables at them, shouting "Down with the murderers." The Servians were compelled to make a hasty withdrawal.

CONFESSED HIS CRIME Negro Who Assaulted and Killed Girl Burned at the Stake

Wilmington, Del., June 23.-A northern mob, led by a Virginian, burned a negro at the stake last night within a few miles of Mason and Dixou's line. The victim was George F. White, a negro just out of the workhouse, who was accused of having feloniously assaulted and stabbed to death Viss Helen S. Bishop, the 17-year-old daughter of Rev. Dr. E. A. Bishop. The crime was committed last Monday afternoon and ever since then there have been mutterings of lynching the

An effort was made Sunday night to get White, but it failed. Last night, however, as a result of the law's slowness and much agitation on the part of those who cried for vengeance, a mob that was estimated at 4000 men and boys gathered in the neighborhood of Price's Corner, four miles from here. They came from everywhere, including Wilmington and the small towns to the south of Price's Corner. The real leaders were few in number, but they did their work well. It was after 10 o'clock when the march to the workhouse was taken up. The chief warden of the workhouse and bis guards who have been on almost constant duty since the negro was landed in the prison were prepared to defend Resistance on the part of the negro was useless, but his hands were tied behind him. Then the march to the place of execution was taken up. With torches to lead the way and with 4000 persons following the negro, he was led to the road and to almost the very spot where the assault took place. White was given a last chance to speak, and he confessed to the murder of the girl

the man at all costs, but their efforts

A stake had been arranged by an advance guard. White was quickly chained to the post and the dry underbrush, soaked with oil, was ignited and the horrible execution was on. White, suffering intense agony, fainted and is body hung limp. Shots were fired nto his body and the victim of the mob was soon dead.

Grand Larceny This Time

St. Louis, June 23.—Circuit Attorney olk has filed information in the cirruit court against John J. Ryan, turf nvestment promoter, charging him with grand larceny. This is intended as test case. If Ryan can be convicted en this charge similar charges will be filed against other turf investment men. He was originally indicted or a charge of embezzlement, but the charge did not hold, the court holding that Ryan's relations with his patrons were the same as that of a banker.

Pittsburg Tieup Ended

Pittsburg, June 23.—The trouble between the Bricklayers and Stonemasons' unions, which has tied up much of the building operations for a month in Pittsburg and Allegheny, vas temporarily settled last night and all the men returned to work this morning. Nearly 10,000 men are affected by the settlement. Both sides agree to submit the difference to an arbitration committee for settlement.

Prices of Foot Were Away Up Seattle, June 23.-A special from Dawson says: A steamer and two scows which have arrived from White Horse rapids brought about 1000 persons and a large cargo of perishable goods. The prices of staples, which have been unreasonably dear for weeks, have declined. Eggs dropped from $22 a case to $12. Potatoes from 20 cents a pound to 7 cents and all other staples in proportion.

UNLOOKED-FOR MOVE

Former Teller of Wrecked Farmers' National Bank Under Arrest

Rutland, Vt., June 23.-Howard J. Hill of Bristol, formerly teller in the Farmers' National bank of Vergennes, which was wrecked two years ago by Cashier Lewis, was arrested last night on the charge of abstracting funds from the bank. He was brought to this city and arraigned before . United States Commissioner Merrill and a hearing set for Wednesday afternoon. The Farmers' National bank was suddenly closed about two years ago and Cashier Lewis and his clerk, J. W. Ketchum, were arrested on a charge of diverting the bank's securities. Both were tried, found guilty, and are now serving time in state prison. Since then the bank has been in the hands of the receiver and several dividends have been declared, one of which was paid great surprise to the people of Bristol, Vergennes and this city, and the authorities claim that it was only recently that they obtained sufficient evidence to warrant such action.

Mansion Destroyed by Fire

Greenwich, Conn., June 23 .- As a result of burns received in a fire in the mansion of Alfred Peats last night. Genevieve, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. Peats, will probably die, and her mother, who was also severely burned in an attempt to save the child, is in a serious condition. Mr. Peats, who is an invalid, was carried from the house twice at the commencement of each by servants. The mansion, which was purchased six years ago for $100,000, three times at the commencement of was burned to the ground. The furnishings which were destroyed will bring the loss up to nearly $150,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of in practice as it is explained on paper A kerosene lamp.

Proposed Tax on Automobiles

Fall River, Mass., June 23.-At a meeting of the board of aldermen an order instructing the committee on licenses to consider the plan of taxing automobiles was adopted. The order was preceded by the reading of notices that damages would be claimed from the city by William Durfee, C. C. Moore and Joseph Baker, who claim that they were injured by being thrown from Durfee's automobile by striking an unguarded ditch. The ditch in quesand lighted. The ad damnum is $3900.

Arouses Ire of Third Assistant

Postmaster General

STORY OF A NEWSPAPER

DECLARES IT TO BE FALSE

Asks His Superior to Investigate Carbon Paper Contract and Intimates That First or Fourth Assistant Postmaster General May Have Erred

Detroit, June 24.-Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden, who is visiting in this city, has sent a letter to Postmaster General Payne denying that he let a contract for carbon paper for the registry division of the postoffice without permitting competition and asking the postmaster general to immediately investigate the story and its ource. The letter says:

"This morning's Free Press of this city tells its readers, in an article with scare headlines, that the third assistant postmaster general is to be investigated. It alleges that I drew specifications of contracts for supplying the department with carbon paper and that they were so framed as to allow of no competition. The article makes Mr. Wynne say he merely approved it as a routine matter. It gives the impression that the contract is one over which the third assistant has control and there is a broad inference that you consider the transaction corrupt.

"The whole statement, insofar as it attempts to involve me, is absolutely false. I had nothing to do with the details of the contract; in fact I never saw the contract if there is one. My sole interest and connection with the subject is limited to an expression of approval of the particular carbon paper in question because it is labor-saving and in other ways a great improvement over the old style manifold process and much better serves the needs of the postal service; and this approval was not given until after an investigation and recommendation to me by my superintendent of registry system and a parties. recommendation by the superintendent of division of postoffice supplies of the first assistant's office.

"The contract, if there be one, was drawn and let by the office of first aseral, they misrepresent the facts, and as king. the publication thereof, and especially in my home city, is calculated to put me in a bad light before the people with whom I have lived for upwards of 40 years and where I have earned what reputation I have. It is malicious, cruel and without the slightest justification.

"I know you too well to believe that you will sanction this attempt to involve and besmirch me unjustly and I beg you, not only as man to man, but as a consideration due my office, to at the department and by whom, or whether they are purely the invention of the writer. I ask that the publication of the facts be not tardy."

To Investigate Indian Affairs Washington, June 24.-The president has ordered a thorough investigation of the affairs of the Kiowa and Comanche Indian reservation in Oklahoma and has appointed Francis E. Leupp of this city to make the investigation. The carges accuse Indian Inspector Messler and Major Randlett, agent for the Kiowas, of conniyance in irregular payments.

Troops to Guard Richmond

Richmond, June 24.-Governor Montague has ordered the Seventieth regiment, the Richmond Blues' battalion and the Richmond Howitzers, an artillery company, on duty to aid in maintaining order as against the street car strikers and their sympathizers. There has been much rioting as a result of the strike and the situation is ugly.

LYNN'S SHOE TROUBLES Supremacy of Rival Labor Organiza tions Will Soon Be Settled

be the critical one in the war between two rival labor organizations, which has been in progress since last January, and yesterday afternoon the Boot and Shoe Workers' union attempted to force its side, when the officials of the union called upon some of the stamp manufacturers whose employes have fallen in arrears in their dues and threatenede to take away the stamp unless all employes were members in good standing in the union. Notices had previously been sent to the manufacturers, but no attention had been paid to them, so Agent Chesley of the union and Organizer Donovan made a personal call upon Mr. Nicholson of the firm of the G. E. Nicholson company, the employes of whose firm is most in arrears. After a long conference Mr. Nicholson was given until the first of next week to have his men pay up their arrearages, and if not paid up by that time the stamp will be taken away.

This measure is supposed to be an attempt to offset the failure of the B. and S. W. strike at Harney Bros.' factory. It is thought that if the B. and S. W. U. can force the Nicholson company to make its men pay any arrearages other stamp factories will follow suit, but if the stamp is taken away it is said that other stamp factories will give up their stamp as did Harney

POSITION OF SERVIA Threatens to Become Untenable

Through Action of the Powers Paris, June 24.—Although the French specific orders to withdraw, the officials here say that the instructions sent gave him full liberty to adopt such a course if the majority of his diplomatic colleagues left the Servian capital. Reports received here from other capitals showed there was a strong his personal property. tendency to make an emphatic expression of abhorrence at Servia's tragedies.

A prominent French official says the action of the powers will have added significance, coming at the moment when King Peter is assuming authority. Commerting on the Belgrade reports that Servia is in a defiant mood, the official declares that Servia's position will soon become untenable if the powers act together. It is realized that the saverance of diplomatic relations with Servia adds to the difficulties of King Peter's position; but it is impossible to allow this to interfere with the proper punishment of the guilty

WRONGFULLY TOOK RECORDS

While Assistant Commissioner of Immigration at New York-Conference With President Followed by Order to Proceed With Prosecution

Washington, June 24.-The case of Edward F. McSweeney, former assistant commissioner of immigration at New York, was before the president again yesterday. By the president's direction, on McSweeney's request, United States Attorney Burnett of the southern district of New York heard McSweeney's explanation of the charges ag: inst him by abstracting public records and documents of the United States immigrant station at Ellis island, on which matter a complaint had been filed with United States Commissioner Shields. General Burnett reported substantially as follows:

The facts are not disputed that Mc-Sweeney took from the room where he performed his official duties as assistant commissioner and removed from their usual official places about 4000 so-called quasi-official papers which were clearly official papers and records; that among this number were 136 official documents bearing official minister at Belgrade was not given file numbers and a large number of other original official documents; that he caused these papers to be taken from their proper place of custody, packed them in boxes marked with his name, nailed and sealed them up, and caused their removal from that place to be stored in another room and place as

The report holds that McSweeney's actions comes within the laws which punish the embezzlement or unlawful withdrawing of official records and documents; that McSweeney was given the fullest opportunity to explain the matters out of which the charges in the complaint have sprung, and that his explanations were not satisfactory and did not meet the charges, which are fully sustained by the facts brought out during the hearing.

It appears that among the papers alleged to have been removed by Mc-Sweeney were official communications from the commissioner general of immigration criticising the Ellis Island office for furnishing statistics to outside parties and directing the discontinuance of the practice; also a reply to the commissioner general (written by McSweeney) denying that statistics the same year. In 1858 he married addition there were a large number of letters from certain transportation data.

After conference between the president and the attorney general, and upon the latter's recommendation, it has been directed that the prosecution proceed.

Death of One of Braintree's Most Distinguished Men.

Braintree mourns the loss of one of ner most distinguished citizens in the death of Hon. Asa French, who died at his residence on Tuesday evening. He had been in poor health for some time. The subject of this sketch was born in Braintree, Oct. 21, 1829, and was the son of Jonathan and Sarah B. Hayward. The doctrine of heredity may be said to be well exemplified here, for his ancestors, among the first who settled n this town, were all prominent in own affairs and held positions of trust. He received his education in the public schools, was prepared for college at Leicester Academy at Worcester, and was graduated at Yale in 1851. The study of law attracted him, and he attended the Albany Law School. and finally took his degrees of L. L. B. in 1853 at Harvard; after which he was ssociated with David A. Simmons and Harry Jewell, at Boston.

He was admitted to practice in the supreme Court at Albany, N. Y., and afterward at Boston, where he has lways had an office.

Always holding his residence at Braintree, he has been one of the foremost in town affairs, and even when arraigned on the unpopular side, his voice was attentively listened to when lifted in town meetings.

In 1866 he was elected Representative to the General Court, and at their ounding was elected chairman of the poard of trustees of both the Thaver Library and Thayer Academy, which ositions he has held to his death.

In 1870 he was appointed District Attorney for the Southeastern district, to fill the vacancy rendered vacant by the resignation of Edward L. Pierce, and being reelected by the voice of the people, he filled this position until he esigned in October, 1882. He was then tendered the appointment of Justice of the Superior Court, but declined, and was appointed judge of the ourt of Alabama Claims at Washingon, which difficult position he occupied with credit to himself and honor to his country.

In 1883 he was placed by President Arthur upon the annual board of visitors the West Point Military academy.

At the conclusion of his duties at Vashington, he resumed his private practice in Boston which he continued to his death.

Mr. French was married in June, 1855, to Miss Ellen Clizbe of Amsterdam, N. Y., who died in September of the late Simeon Palmer of Boston. She died Dec. 25, 1891. To them were born five children, Asa Palmer, Emmelyn L., Saban Hayward (deceased), Harriet C.

and Mary Sophia Palmer. The only son is a successful lawyer and is at present the district attorney for Norfolk and Plymouth counties.

The most interesting item in the statistics about the graduating class at Yale in the statement that ninety of the 300 seniors have earned at least a part of their way through college. Nineteen have paid every cent of their expenses, eight have paid three-fourths, eleven have paid one-half and seventeen have earned one-fourth. One man, whose course cost $2,750, has earned his entire expenses and $900 over. These are rather remarkable figures, considering the fact that the average expenditures of the class have been about $4,316 for each member for the four years. - Boston Herald.

If the Difference between Spring Wheat and Winter Wheat flours were generally known, no intelligent family, able to procure the former, would fail to do so. Flour is the article most frequently used in kitchens, yet comparatively few people know much about it. To most housekeepers flour is flour. Those who buy their bread, cake and pastry ready made, are still further away from knowing what they are eating. The standard flour of the world, made of Hard Spring Wheat, is Pillsbury's Best. Sold by grocers everywhere.

House Warming.

About forty of the employes of the Water department surprised Daniel Kelliher, one of their fellow workmen, Tuesday evening, at his new home on Payne street, the gathering being in the nature of a house warming. After the first welcome was over,

William H. Warner, in behalf of those assembled, presented Mr. Kelliher with It will take place tonight, however, if a parlor table and lamp, and Commispleasant. Mr. Johnson wants it stated sioner Knowlton presented Mrs. Kellithat the clock he gives as a prize is one her with a china dish. Mr. and Mrs. of the alarm kind, with a six-inch gong Kelliher thanked their guests for the warranted to go off every morning at 5 generous gifts and bid them enjoy themselves. During the evening the old men's quartet, composed of Wyman Nightingale, Richard Hennessey, George Rodman and Edward Colligan sang several selectionss, and there were solos by some of the Italian employes, also phonographic selections by Henry Furnald. Refreshments were served during the evening, and there was some speechmaking.

AN OLD STORY.

Pardon the Repetition, For It Holds

So much is being written nowadays about the nefariousness of worry that one grows accustomed to, and accordingly heedless of, the many warnings. No greater truth, however, has been promulgated in any age or among any people. For all classes of workers the mottoes "Won't Worry" and "Don't Fear" have incalculable value, but for the housewife, the real woman of affairs, these mottoes are a veritable treasure trove.

A FEW CHARRED BONES

All That Coroner Found Left of Murderer White's Body

MOB VIOLENCE DEPLORED

By Public Sentiment, but General Opinion Is That Fiend Met a Just Fate-Arrangements For Disposing of the Negro Were Complete

Wilmington, Del., June 24 .- The excitement attending the gruesome tragedy enacted outside the city limits when George F. White, the negro who outraged and murdered 17-year-old Helen S. Bishop, was burned at the stake, has subsided. The swift and dire punishment meted out to the perpetrator of the terrible crime is the sole topic of conversation, but now the de tails are calmly rehearsed. Public sentiment appears to deplore the resort to mob violence, but the consensus of opinion is that summary vengeance alone could atone for the outrage.

It is generally believed that had the courts brought the murderer to speedy trial, Monday night's tragedy would have been averted. The judges v ho had postponed action upon the case of the confessed assailant of Miss Bishop explain their action by stating that popular prejudice and indignation would have precluded the possibility of a fair trial.

It is not known as yet what action the state authorities will take. Governor Hunn says he will confer with Attorney General Ward. The latter made a brief statement last night in which he said that the state will await the result of the coroner's inquest and that every effort would be exerted to ascertain the names of the leaders.

Deputy Coroner Killmer, who visited the scene of the lynching, found little to view. All semblance of the human form in White's body had been obliterated by the avenging fire and the morbidly curious relic hunters. A small portion of the trunk and one or two charred bones were recovered and taken to the morgue. Of the hundreds of persons who visited the spot where the funeral pyre was lighted scarcely one left without something as a momento.

One arrest was made last night. The prisoner's name was not divulged by the police, but it is said he is charged with having been a party to the lynching. The police of this city have little to say regarding the affair. It is said that state and city detectives were in the crowd and recognized some of those who participated in the burning. Other arrests, it is believed, will follow.

During the show of resistance made by the police and the jail officials when the mob attacked the Newcastle county workhouse, Peter Smith, a 12-year-old boy, was shot in the back. The bullet which struck him evidently came from a pistol in the crowd, as it is claimed by the prison warden that his guards fired over the heads of the lynchers. Smith's condition is critical and he is not expected to live. Another young man, whose tame is unknown, was slightly injured. The only other persons known to have been hurt were a man who was kicked in the abdomen by White, when the negro attempted to escape from his torturers, and another man who had his arm burned.

Mrs. Bishop, mother of the murdered girl, is in a state of extreme nervousness. White was put to death within a few hundred yards of the Bishop home, and the glare of the fire and howls of the mob could be plainly seen and heard at the house.

The arrangements for the execution of White were complete. Bundles of straw were secured from a nearby barn and upon these were piled dry underbrush. Fence rails were split and added to the pyre, which was thoroughly soaked with kerosene. The negro was then bound from shoulders to feet with a heavy rope and thrown upon the blazing pile. Before the torch was applied White confessed his guilt and prayed fervently for mercy. Colonel James McComb, a wealthy retired capitalist of Claymont, near here, called on the police authorities and told them he would go bail for all persons arrested in connection with the lynching. When he heard of last night's arrest he again called at the police station and offered to go bail for the prisoner, but this the authorities would

Attorney General Ward says that he expects more arrests, that there were 12 eaders in the mob and that they would be arrested as soon as the police could locate them.

Crowd Clamoring For Blood Peoria, Ills., June 24.-Detective Murphy was killed by William McRae. a negro, whom be was attempting to arrest last night. Murphy, armed with warrant for McRae on the charge of burglary, approached the negro and the superior court. informed him that he was under arrest. McRae at once shot the officer. He then attempted to escape, but was taught by Detective Chadwick. Murphy died within 20 minutes of the time he received the wound. McRae was hurried to the city jail and in less than an hour a mob numbering at least 1000 men and boys had assembled and made a demand on the chief of police for the prisoner. The chief ordered all the electric lights in the city put out and in the larkness McRae was taken hurriendly to the county jail. In a short time the mob discovered that it had been deceived and formed in front of the county jail. Early this morning the crowd dispersed, evidently lacking

FORGERY OF A CHECK The Charge Upon Which Ciergyman Alden Is Placed Under Arr 8

Montague, Mass., June 24. -Rev. to J. W. Kellar when the latter was commissioner of charities of New from Kwangsi: York, who was arrested some months ago on a charge of grand larceny during his terms of office and subsequently released, has been taken into custody charging him with forgery of a check. The arrest was made at the home of his brother in this town, and a warrant which was issued on an indict aent found in New York on June 17 was Greenfield last night and locked up in New York, having waived extradition proceedings.

The indictment alleges forgery in the second degree, the specific charge being that Alden forged the name of Kellar on the back of a check for $447. from the Annamez border. When the warrant was served Alder seemed to be considerably surprised, but said that while it was sudden it was not unexpected. He refused, however, to talk regarding the charge. He readily consented to accompany the officers to Greenfield and no effort being made to obtain bail or go before a

The engineers and teamsters employed are all union men, and as such are expected to stand by the striking firemen and refuse to work with any non-union firemen who may be secured. The management had only half an hour's notice of the intention of the men to leave, due to the refusal to increase wages $1.50 a week.

Got In Mowing Machine's Way Salem, Mass., June 24.--William O'Brien, aged 10, was watching a man cutting hay at the Lyman Holman Tammany ball. farm. The horses stopped and O'Brien went near the mowing machine in front of the knives. It is claimed that he struck one of the horses wit a stick. They started forward and the boy's right leg was cut off, while the tendons of the left leg were cut and lacerated. It is believed he will recover and his left leg be saved.

He Sued For $60,000 Damages Boston, June 24.—In the suit of Joseph J. WEAK IMPERIAL ARMY Responsible For the Formidable Spread of the Chinese Rebellion

Shanghai, June 24.—The North China Charles A. Alden, formerly secretary Daily News says the local mandarins have received the following telegram

The rebellion is increasing and daily grows more dangerous and more formidable. The imperial army here is too weak to be of any use and is inagain, this time on a bench warrant sufficient to garrison all important cities and towns. The latest news is that the rebels have besieged the city of Chung Chou, in Kwangsi, and that unless relief is sent at once it will certainly fall into the hands of the rebels. served on him. [Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.] Brother Jim and I were on a visit to Uncle Joe and Aunt Mary. The window of our bedroom, or one of its three windows, looked out on the back yard, and just below it was the roof of the summer kitchen.

We had been at the old farmhouse for a week, having a good time generally and nothing happening out of the usual routine, when I woke up one night just as the clock struck 1 and found myself all a-tremble. It was bright starlight outdoors, and I could discern every object in the room as I sat up and looked about. The window referred to was on the north side of the room, while the bed was on the south. All the curtains were up.

After a minute I thought I heard a movement on the kitchen roof, and I drew the bedclothes over my head and began kicking Jim. He uttered a grunt or two and turned over. After another minute I popped out my head, and now I saw a man with his face pressed against the glass of the lower sash of the window so as to survey the room. I tried to utter a yell, but could not make a sound. I tried to kick Jim, but my legs were paralyzed. I could not even draw the sheet over my head

With my eyes wide open and my heart in my mouth I watched the fellow gently lift the sash and fasten it up with a wedge. He could have entered any door or window below, but perhaps he feared that some one might be watching. It was three feet from the window sill to the roof. The man drew himself up and paused for a moment in the opening.

because it was born of terror, and I was an involuntary actor. I jumped out of bed to run downstairs. Then I remembered Jim and would not leave him. The bureau was close at hand, and by accident I touched a gourd that we had brought in from the garden to fashion into a dipper. Picking it up, I hurled it with all my might at the man in the window. It was ripe and as hard as a brick, and it struck the man right between the eyes. The shock and the pain caused him to loosen his hold and fall backward on the roof. In trying to recover himself he fell off the edge of it.

As he went out of the window I yelled and brought Jim on end, and next instant we were flying downchase. In about five minutes the Furniture and Piano Mover. household was ready to investigate. While we believed the man made off, we yet thought it wisest to look outside. We had scarcely got outside the kitchen door when we found him. Uncle Joe had a few days before placed a cider barrel under the eaves spout and coming down at the corner of the shed roof. It was an old barrel and about one-third full of water. In going off the roof the man turned over and fell head first into the barrel, and the first thing we caught sight of was his heels kicking the air.

There was water enough to have drowned the dellow, and it was really wonderful how he could have plumped into the barrel without doing himself great injury. By pushing his hands As the other tion of President Diaz for the next down to the bottom he could keep his mouth above water, but he could not

The rush of the water almost strangled the robber, and while he was gasping and peals, in the case of Peter J. Garvey sputtering we drew his arms behind his back and tied them there.

He was an ugly chap and no mistake. I have heard some tall cursing since then, but nothing to beat his record. He threatened, bluffed, commanded and demanded, and Aunt Mary had to flee and Uncle Joe to pretend that he didn't hear.

It was half a mile to the nearest neighbor's, and Uncle Joe didn't feel like asking us to go or going himself. Neither did we want to remain outdoors until daylight. We solved the problem by dragging the man into the kitchen. He continued cursing for some time after; but, finding that he made no impression, he finally cooled off and became quite civil. Just at daylight a team passed by, and we sent word to a constable, and an hour later the robber was on his way to the coun-

When he reached that institution he was identified as an escaped convict for whom a reward of $500 had been offered. He had, as he admitted, planned to rob the house, and by his being armed it was reasonable to conclude that he would not have stopped at murder had he been interfered with.

LIPTON IS OPTIMISTIC

HIS FAITH IN SHAMROCK III

Faster Than Any Boat He Has Had Before and Is Confident That He Has Good Chance of Winning America's Cup-Would Have Best Boat Win

New York, June 25 .- Sir Thomas Lipton was the guest of honor at a dinner given last night at the Waldorf Astoria by two score of his friends. General Corbin presided. The nenu cards were attractively designed and bore Lipton's private flag, the English Jack, a life buoy of the steam yacht

Erin and the Stars and Stripes. After dinner General Corbin pro posed the health of "One beloved by all our people, and respected by all the people of the earth, President Roosevelt," which was drunk standing. He then offered "a sentiment which ; peals to the heart of everyone, because of the hospitality he extends to every American, his gracious majesty, Ling Edward," which brought forth enthusiastic applause.

Justice O'Brien said it was with conflicting emotions that good sportsmen and good Americans welcomed Sir Thomas to the United States. "If we could only separate him from the reasons for his presence," he said, "we should be unanimous in wishing him good luck. We should not like to see him defeated, but again we should not like to see him win the trophy which represents all there is of prowess in shipbuilding. Still, if Sir Thomas cannot win the cup, he can win, and has won, the esteem of the American

There were neither set speeches for toasts, but most of those present made felicitous remarks, the trend of all being a hearty welcome to Lipton, with qualified wishes for his success in lifting the cup.

Sir Thomas, when he arose to respond, said he was deeply touched by the kind words of the speakers. He had come to the United States, as on former occatreasured possession.

fess that I think this time Shamrock faster than anything I have nad before. and although I have a great respect for Mr. Herreshoff and those defending the cup, I feel that I have a very good chance of winning it, thanks to the skill of my very good friend, Mr. Fife. Of course, I don't know what the future has in store, but nothing can interfere with the good fellowship that exists between me and the American people generally. That I appreciate more than I should winning the cup.

"But I have a better chance this time than ever before. I shall feel. when Shamrock III toes the mark on Aug. 20, that she is in her best trim and shall be able to tell if you or I have the best boat. I know I have a marvel to beat in Reliance; I am glad of it. If I am going to win the cup I don't want to win from anything but the best America can produce. I want to be licked if I haven't got the best boat. I am going to do all that is humanly possible to win. Let the best boat win. I don't want to win by a fluke, and I don't want to lose by a fluke. I am sure if any mistake is made that it will be made in my favor. Time will prove who is the best designer, Herreshoff or Fife, but you must not forget the great responsibility we have in coming over. I don't like the style of boat we race, and would sooner have a boat that could be used as a cruiser after the races, but we have to meet the boat that is here."

General Corbin, accompanied by General Chaffee and Major Bird, military secretary of Governor Odell, went on board the Oceanic at quarantine. General Corbin presented Sir Thomas with the invitation from President Roosevelt to lunch with him on Friday, which the yachtsman accepted.

Si: Thomas Lipton's health was drunk in the smoking room, where the party gathered. In response to the toast, Sir Thomas said:

"I thank you for your kind and hearty welcome and hope that I will win this time. It is my sole ambition to lift the cub. To a reporter Sir Thomas Lipton

At Madden's Letter Concerning Postoffice Affairs

THE GUILTY MUST SUFFER

Says the President In a Letter to the Attorney General, Who Is Instructed to Increase His Staff In Order to Thoroughly Investigate Scandal

Washington, June 25 .- Postmaster Reneral Payne has taken odicial ognizance of the letter to him sent from Detroit by Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden regarding criticisms of the contract for supplying carbon paper to the service. Mr. Payne conferred with his assistants on the subject. Subsequently he declined to say whether any reply had been sent to Madden and similar reticence was observed by those who discussed the incident with Payne. Mr. Madden's publication of the letters in advance of its receipt by his superior officer, to whom it was addressed, and his suggestion that the matter might have been given out by First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne or Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, provoked considerable comment at the department. It is believed that Payne has sent a rather sharp reply to Madden.

The president has sent the following letter to the attorney general:

"As you know, the charges in connection with the postoffice department are now being investigated by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who has had placed at his disposal by the postmaster general every resource of the department, including the services of Mr. Robb, whom you detailed from the department of justice to the postoffice department immediately after the removal of Mr. Tyner. As a result of this investigation, a number of indietments have already been had and and it is probable that otl. r indictments will hereafter be asked for.

"There can be no greater offense against the government than a breach of trust on the part of a public official or the dishonest management of his office, and, of course, every effort must be exerted to bring such offenders to punishment by the utmost rigor of the law. The district attorney's office of the District of Columbia has faithfully and zealously seconded the efforts of the postoffice department in this matter, but the amount of work in the office is such as to make it difficult, with out neglecting other important duties sailed from Gloucester, Mass., in a to devote all the time necessary to the of Lowell, Mass., is under arrest in this city, charged with violating the alien contract labor law. It is charged that Lloyd has been soliciting help for the Graduated from the Quincy Lowell cotton mills from among the employes of the Milltown and St. Stephen, N. B., mills. He has offered many of them, it is said, higher wages than are paid in New Brunswick. Lloyd was arrested by Inspector Parker, who also detained two Milltown girls as witnesses. The local authorities at first declined to mix up in the affair and Inspector Parker kept his prisoner and witnesses at the St. Croix Exchange, pending the arrival of a United States marshal from Portland. The girls were unwillingly held. R. J. McGarrigle was engaged by Lloyd as counsel and held a conference at the hotel with Parker, the two girls being present. It is said that during the interview McGarrigle grapp'ed with Parker and forcibly held him while the girls fled from the room. The girls started for the Canadian boundary line, pursued by Parker, who in turn was followed by McGarrigle. Just before the boundary line was reached Me-Garrigle again interfered and cave the girls an opportunity to get safely across.

Lloyd was taken from the hotel after this affair and confined in the city lockup. The evidence against Lloyd consists mainly of the test tony of the two presented, occupying just two hours. girls, and it is not known what action will now be taken by the United States marshal when he arrives to assume charge of the matter.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury In White Lynching

CORWELL NOT IMPLICATED

Suspect Held In $5000 Bail, Which Is Promptly Furnished-Belief That No One Will Ever Be Punished For Work of the Wilmington Mob

Wilmington, Del., June 25 .- Arthur Corwell, who claims his home is in Hartford City, Ind., and who was arrested on the charge of complicity in the burning to death of George White, the negro assailant and murderer of Helen Bishop, was released on $5000 bail last night. He will be given a further hearing.

Popular feeling in the tragedy of Monday night has not yet entirely disappeared. Last night about 2000 persons gathered in front of city hall, where Corwell was confined, and made a demonstration. The police authorities took every precaution to prevent an attempt at rescuing the prisoner by the crowd. Extra police were on duty within the police station and all the police officials were on hand in case of trouble.

The coroner's inquest was concluded last night and when word reached the police station that the verdict did not implicate Corwell the authorities decided to release him on $5000 bail. This was promptly furnished by Thomas McHugh of this city, a wholesale hquor

When the inquest began the remains of White could not be found, and after a long search they were found wrapped in paper on an ice chest. White weighed about 200 pounds, but only five ounds of flesh and bone were left of their work.

Thomas Leach, a farmer, and William Carter, a newspaper reporter, were the witnesses at the inquest, and both testified to the finding of the small portion of the remains of the victim of the mob. Some further testimony was offered after which the jury brought in the following verdict:

"Resolved, that George White came to his death between the hours of 10 p. m. of June 22, 1903, and 4 a. m. of June 23, 1903, by being burned in a field adjoining the road leading from Price's Corner to the Ferris Industrial school, by a party or parties unknown to this jury.'

What the next step of the authorities will be is not known. The coroner's inquest having failed to reveal the identity of the leaders in the lynching, it is thought that the authorities are unable to proceed.

Corwell declares he is innocent, and says he can prove that he was not at the lynching.

After the crowd at the city hall dispersed last night scenes of lawlessness were enacted in different parts of the city, especially in the colored settlements. The entire police force was kept busy putting down disorders. In the section known as "Whitechapel" a negro assaulted a white man and several whites came to the rescue. This brought reinforcements to the negroes and a general fight was started. The der construction at the Crescent ship negroes outnumbered the whites, who were getting the worst of it when a squad of police arived. .....Not Marry

[Original.]

Two strangers, Mark and Sarah Colter, appeared in Lone Star Gulch one morning, informed the miners living there that they were brother and sister, built a cabin and settled themselves. Mark Colter bought a claim and every morning, shouldering his pick and shovel, went out to work it, while Sarah remained at home and did the housework. Sarah was a good looking woman thirty years of age west end exciting scenes were enacted and had not been long at Lone Star in the east end, where efforts were Gulch before she was sought in marriage by several miners. She, however, declined the attentions of them all, declaring that she was devoted to her brother and would not leave him. There was one, however, who persisted. This was Palph McCann. He was a fair haired, blue eyed fellow of twenty-eight and had a very attractive way with him, especially for women. He soon made headway with Sarah asking women and children to keep off | Colter, who did not from the first turn the streets. It is proposed in the event to him the cold shoulder she had turned that the military are unable to cope with to her other suitors. Mark Colter, inthe mob to order out the fire depart- stead of rejoicing in the prospect of being relieved of the support of a sister, frowned on her acceptance of the attentions of McCann, whom he at last forbade the house. McCann appealed to Sarah to stand by him in preference to her brother, but Sarah did nothing but weep and wring her hands. Evidently she was bound to her brother by some extraordinary tie, and it was plain that she had fallen deeply in love with the stranger.

One evening after working hours Colter and McCann met on the roadway running between the few houses ranged on either side and known as the town of Lone Star Gulch

"Colter," said McCann, "I would like some explanation with regard to your objections to my attentions to your sister. We are devotedly attached to one another, I have some money and a good claim and can give the best of references. If there is any reason that I can explain away"-"All I have to say to you, Ralph Mc-Cann, is to let my sister alone." "I certainly will if she desires it or if you will give me any good ground for your opposition."

"You say you'll let her alone if she desires it. Do you mean to tell me that she doesn't desire it?" "She clings to you in preference to me, but her heart"-Colter turned white. He made as if to draw his revolver, but instantly

"Let her alone," he cried fiercely and strode away rapidly.

The next morning a note from Sarah was left at McCann's door begging him to desist from any further attempt cate with her; adding that she could never be his wife as long as her brother lived. McCann, knowing by the tone of her letter that she was in earnest

One afternoon when the coach passed through Lone Star Gulch a stout womtion judges, charged with neglect of an with a resolute look on her face got boxes at the recent municipal election, and put up in the only boarding house tion law. The grand jury found in not transpire, but there was a surprise among the citizens when it was known and these two cases were regarded as a few days later that she had gone to live at the Colters'. The surprise was occasioned by the fact that Colter and his sister had lived entirely alone, never receiving any company, and there was not a family in the gulch where any one, especially as unattractive a woman as Mrs. Wilbur, would be less likely to find board. The day after the event there were rumors of high words being heard in the middle of the night at the Colters' but as there were no evidences of trou ble, except for the grim appearance of Mrs. Wilbur and a certain whipped cur look about Colter, no one could surmise what had occurred-that is, no one but Ralph McCann, who got his explanation in this wise: Having need to go to a neighboring town for some blasting material, he set out early in the morning and was returning in the afternoon when he saw Shannon at the juncture of the brain | Sarah Colter on the road coming to-

"Where are you going?" asked Mc-"From the man with whom I have been living."

"Your brother?" "I supposed he was my husband," replied Sarah, with a tremor in her voice, "but I was deceived. He had a wife before he married me. His name is James Wilbur, and his wife has appeared with proofs of her marriage to

McCann sat for a few minutes thunderstruck, first incensed at the wrong that had been done the woman he loved, then a joy welling up in his heart that there was no insurmountable barrier between them.

"So this is the reason you clung to Colter. You supposed you were his tribution is $1500 cash, the full amount wife. Why did you pass as brother and sister?" "He forced me to it, making a pretended confession after we were married that he had been involved in unfortunate business transactions that would cause criminal prosecution if he was found. His real reason was to avoid his wife, who would be less likely to trace one living with a sister than a wife."

"What are you going to do now?" "Get away from him." "Very well. I will go with you."

"Very well. I will go with you."

Neither Ralph McCann nor Sarah Colter, as she had been called, was ever seen in Lone Star Gulch again.
They were a very happy couple in a new home.

New London, Conn., June 26.- For the first time on record Yale triumphed over Harvard in all three of their boat the eight-oared varsity race by 31/2 boat lengths, the freshman eight-oared fights and went down to her defeats strength. The official time for the races was as follows:

Varsity race: Yale, 20m. 19 4-5s; Harvard, 20m. 29 3-5s. Freshman race: Yale, 9m. 43 1-5s; Harvard, 9m. 48 3-5s. Varsity four-oared race: Yale, 10m. 59 2-5s; Harvard, 11m. 10 1-5s.

So far as physical form was concerned there was no choice between the crews except with the possible exception that the Yale freshmen outweighed their Harvard rivals by over seven pounds per man. The varsity race was a surprise. The freshman race had been conceded to Yale, while the four-eared race was also 9:57, which has stood since 1893. Hargiven to Yale in the great majority of

Wednesday night John Kennedy told his crew that they must strike a 32 per minute stroke | Yale won the race by actual measure and hold it right through the race, no matter what happened. It takes good headwork and lots of nerve to row a lower stroke than the other crew when The time made by Yale establishes a the other crew is leading. But this is new record for this event on the Thames. just what Yale did. Harvard got away at 35 strokes to the minute, Yale at 32. Harvard had decidedly the best of the start and by the end of the first half length. Over the second half mile Harvard held her lead over Yale. Harvard seemed to think that she had a grip on Yale and Captain McGrew eased his stroke down to 32. It was a remarkable coincidence that Harvard over this half mile held her lead with-

The third half mile, however, showed that Harvard could not hold Yale without rowing a higher stroke. Harvard's effort over the first mile had begun to tell on the nerves of the crimson eight. Little by little, Yale's boat began to creep up on Harvard's. Just before the 1½ mile flag the shells were even and by the time the flag was reached Yale had wrested the lead away from her old rival. The blue reached the flag, leading Harvard by two seconds for more than half a boat length. Harvard raised her stroke to 33 but still Yale went ahead without raising hers

Yale reached the two-mile flag with Harvard on her heels, only 4 2-5 seconds behind. There was just half a boat length of clear water between the two shells. Harvard was not yet whipped. She had held her stroke at 33 while Yale, after getting the lead, had dropped hers down to 31. The crimson eight was rowing without a was whether Harvard could put her stroke up again and hold it for a mile

The next half mile decided this question. Instead of raising her stroke Harvard was compelled to drop back to Yale's gait at 32. The result was that when Yale reached the 21/2 unile flag she led Harvard by 6 4-5 seconds.

Then for the first time Yale began to look reasonably sure of a victory. She was leading the crimson by just a trifle less than two boat lengths. At the three mile flag Yale had increased her lead to nine seconds, and had practically won the race. Harvard, in passing the three mile flag, made her LEDGER passing the three mile mag, made her last spurt to get back her lead. Allast spurt to get back her lead. Allast spurt to get back her lead. Captain McGrew raised his stroke up to 34 to the minute, but even at that gait Harvard could not catch Yale. For few strokes the Harvard shell gained n trifle, but before the 31/2 mile flag was reached, Captain McGrew had been compelled to drop back to a 32 gait. Harvard was now tired and Yale began to gain on every stroke.

It was now only a question of boat YALE'S GREAT WINNING lengths. Harvard cheers had died away on the observation train and the broad Thames now resounded with one grand 'Yale, Yale, Yale," while from the decks of 200 yachts the cannon were booming forth in salute to the victory and a bravo for the vanouished Finally the flag dropped at the finish and the watches recorded 20:19 4 5 for Yale and 20:29 3-5 for Harvard. It was Yale's race by three good boat lengths, a close hard finish within nine and four-fifths seconds of the fastest time that any crew has ever made on the Thames course. This was followed by the unveiling of the statue. Next came the big parade, with Governor John L Bates at the head of the Massachusetts militia. There were more than 15,000 men in line.

Thousands of people crowded Beacon hill at the ceremony of unveiling the few families moved "down, but very statue. In spite of the forbidding many have not come yet. The reason weather conditions of the early morning, is doubtless on account of the weather. the hidden bronze in the state house park had been a compelling magnet, not only to the veteran who had marched and fought under the dashing Hooker, but to the sight-seeing public. The outpouring of people fairly astonished even the most sanguine of the managers of the spectacle.

The blare of military music heralded the veteran column. At the head, a guidon showed that the right of the line was held by the survivors of Hooker's these veterans came a long line of others who served with Hooker as division, corps and army commander. Half a dozen military bands stirred their faltering steps as they drew up in close ranks around the statue, the members of the Hooker brigade having the post of honor directly in front of and facing

As the multitude bared its head in devotion. the phrase "a sea of faces" took on new meaning for many an onlooker, the simile being rarely carried out by the breakers of white-haired veterans which swept about the base of the statue. The invocation finished, a cheer greeted Lieutenant Governor Guild as he stepped forward and faced Governor Bates, delivering the statue to the head of the commonwealth.

As the speaker pronounced the closing words, Master Joseph Hooker Woods, the 11-year-old grandnephew of the general, who had been awaiting the signal, loosed the white silk ribbons that held the drapery. There was much enthusiasm for third of a million children for many a little while, and something of a start was made; but now the Eric newspapers are asking what has become of the scheme, with pretty strong intimations that it has collapsed. The fervor with which such projects are started is equalled only by the coldness which comes over them in a brief time. They grow like Jonah's gourd, and they die as that plant died. A man like Captain Gridley, who was a brave sailor and an honor to his country, dies, and there are spasms of emotion about the stately memorial that is going to be erected for him; the next we know, people are asking who Gridley was. A little stronger constancy of devotion would be more honorable to both the hero and the

SHIPYARD TRUST.

A Probability Still That Receiver Will Be Appointed.

While the Fore River ship plant of Quincy is flourishing independent of the ship trust, it looks as if the trust was sailing on rough seas. A New York dispatch of Thursday to the Irrespective of Judge Kirkpatrick's decision in the matter, is is feared by some interests that a receivership for the United States Ship Building Company is inevitable. Two men were understood to be willing to accept the post, but when they heard the arguments of counsel at Newark they decided there would not be enough assets left to make it worth while to remain home from Europe this summer and work on the schedules of the trust.

If Judge Kirkpatrick does not appoint a receiver on July 1, the payment of the $300,000 due on the 5 per cent. first mortgage bonds is defaulted, it is thought by some that a foreclosure will take place. In a few days answers will have to be filed in the suit brought against the Trust Company of the Republic for $135,000 on account of commissions in buying and selling the securities of the shipyard trust. Ugly disclosures are expected in this suit.

The reorganizers of the Trust Company of the Republic meet again tomorrow, ostensibley to ratify the action of the special committee in scaling down the capital. But the report of the expert accountants engaged to look into the complicated transactions of the former president, LeRoy Dresser, will be presented and the whole truth about them may become known.

"Do you succeed?" "Usually, so far as I can judge of what I have no proof."

There were a frankness and common sense about these statements that were very pleasing to Miss Cloverlee. She became much impressed with the idea would be valuable. She would have regard to her novel, but was too modest as well as too well bred to ask them. Whether Mr. Eggleston did not know that she was the author of "Adrienne" or had not read it, he did not mention it. Miss Cloverlee's heart sank. Now for the first time she began to feel that her novel was really without value. Mr. Eggleston called. He was still ignorant of the fact that Miss Cloverlee was the author of a book he had stabbed with the merciless point of a pen. Miss Cloverlee bore him no malice. Indeed, she regarded his unconscious criticism of great value. How ever, she was not disposed to give up her advantage over her critic.

"What is your opinion." was one of her first questions, "of the literary criticisms that appear in the periodicals? "Rot," replied Mr. Eggleston.

"Certainly." "The Analytical Review has a literin which the characters are supposed to work out certain philosophic principles that exist only in the author's beclouded brain. Having taken a brief course of philosophy in Germany, I am enabled to discuss the book with apparent wisdom. The criticism pleases those people who admire a depth they haven't themselves and sells the Review, while the condemnation of all other productions fixes its high literary standard." Mr. Eggleston paused, then added, "My excuse is that I am carrying out the orders of others."

Miss Cloverlee pondered for awhile in silence. Mr. Eggleston proceeded: "I do not intend to remain long in a position where I am obliged to carry out a policy which I contemn. I am temporarily using my salary for support while studying my profession, the

AN IMPUDENT BEGGAR.

Maw Sir Walter Besant Was Cured of Promiscuous Almsgiving, It was one of the daily customs of Sir Walter Besant to take a walk through Hyde park, London. At the entrance to the park sat an old beggar woman whose woebegone appearance caused Sir Walter to stop one day and drop a copper penny into her outstretched hand. After a time it became a regular habit to speak a word or two to her when giving her the coin. One day, however, the old woman handed him back the penny, saying: "Guv me siller or nawthink. The idea of a gent like you givin' a poor old woman like me a dirty penny! Guv me

She came close to him and waved her arms threateningly. Sir Walter started to go, but she grabbed the lapel of his coat and screamed: "Guv me siller, you rascally rogue! Guv me what you owe Watching a Spider at Work. Watch a spider spin his web, and I shall be surprised if you ever kill a spider again. It takes him about an hour, somewhat less, for he is a marvelously quick worker, and there is something almost terrifying about the skill with which he works. There is his body, no larger than a match's head, yet, inclosed within that mere dot of nature, there is an intelligence which is able first to prospect the area for his web, then to plan it out like a geometrician and then to carry out his plan with workmanlike precision. Meanwhile, too, it must be remembered, he is not only doing his thinking and his weaving, but also spinning the material for it, all in that mite of a body. But perhaps the uncanniest feature of the whole thing is that the spider not merely has his plan clear in his head, but knows when he has made mistakes, and you can see him breaking off misplaced threads here and there, making taut slack lines and securing shaky connections.-Success.

An Inconvenient Piano.

Lepold de Meyer of Dresden, a brilliant and popular pianist of his day, was once summoned to play before the sultan at Constantinople. Going thither, he borrowed a grand plano from one of the Austrian secretaries of legation and had it set up in a large reception room at the palace. There he awaited the coming of the sultan, but when that intelligent monarch entered the room he started back in alarm and demanded of his attendants what that monster was standing there on three

A Carved Cherry Stone.

Dr. Peter Oliver, who lived in England during the early part of the eighteenth century, tells of seeing a carved cherry stone which would be a wonder even in this age of fine tools and fine workmanship.

The stone was one from a common cherry, and upon it were carved the heads of 124 popes, kings, queens, emperors, saints, etc. Small as they must necessarily have been, it is announced on the authority of Professor Oliver that with a good glass the heads of the popes and kings could readily be distinguished from those of the queens and saints by their miters and crowns. The gentleman who brought this little wonder to England purchased it in Prussia, allowing the original owner £5,000 for his treasure. 'Think of it-$25,000 for a cherry seed!

HOT WEATHER STYLES.

Washing Frocks Will Have a Fine Time of It This Season.

The summer has had its busy finger in many departments of dress. In waists finely tucked thin linens in pale colors, with bretelles, insertions and trimmings of torchon, delicate, but strong enough to stand careful laundry work, will be popular, and from crepe de chine to the finest chiffon and French muslin the range of blouses is wide enough to please any one. to many of the new foulard and voile day dresses, and when worn with full, long skirts this is to be much commended, the effect being crowned with the hat, also of the drooping order, cavalier in shape perhaps, with a long plume at one side. Bodices are only slightly pouched, a graceful fullness, and there is an astonishing amount of width employed in the thin materials, which will be the lominant ones for the summer.

Silk muslins, chiffons, canvas and voile are to be worn in browns, dark blues and blacks made up over white, and also in very light colors, white leading the way.

It is in sleeves that the new modes have most strongly asserted themselves. The long one for evening wear has come to stay, and, provided that it charming Duchess of Gordon raised charms. Low bodices are mostly cut off the shoulders, but held up in place by a band, or, what is far newer, lace or thin material which incloses the point of the shoulder. With high bodices the shoulders slope and the sleeves are close fitting at the top.

Washing frocks will have a good time of it this year, for washing materials are so delightful that few can resist their charms; not that the washing material always acts up to its reputation when it is face to face with the washtub, but this is a minor detail. Why think of remote possibilities?

Lawns, batistes, coarse linens and tussores are in the first flight of fashion, but embroidered they must be with spots large or small, or sprigs of flowers. Linen embroideries, filet guipures, or the daintiest of ribbons of gauzelike persuasion, go to their adornment, than which no one could desire anything better.

With the bolero, the last word has been said as to the make of bodice; it is here, there and everywhere in one form or another. Usually we find it as a very short plaited sack, revealing a plisse blouse underneath, but this is made all trim at the watst by a high directoire belt.

The waistband is one of the most important items in the tout ensemble, and quite time it was for it to reassert itself, after a period of depression, during which it was overshadowed by the pouch.

> His Last Hope Realized. [From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.]

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and atterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhæa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within ar hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

MINISTER'S OPEN LETTER Criticises Medford City Solicitor's Opinion on Sunday Golf

Medford, Mass., June 26.-ln reply to the legal opinion of City Solicitor J. Mott Hallowell of Medford, in which the playing of golf on Sundays was upheld, Rev. George A. Cooke, pastor of the Trinity M. E. church of West Medford, one of the leaders in the movement agninst Sunday golf, has sent an open letter to Mayor Baxter. In the letter the writer speaks of the "learned and labored opinion" of the city solicitor, and claims that the solicitor was not in a position to give an unbiased opinion, as it has been reported that he is a member of the Medford Golf club, and frequently plays on Sunday. He further states that it is well known that match games, prohibited by the solicitor's opinion, are played on Sunday, for the scores are published in the Boston papers.

Mr. Hallowell's recommendation that the mayor should not prosecute the golf players because then other pleasure seekers would have to be prosecuted is attacked on the ground of poor logic and poor law. Rev. Mr. Cooke says that he fears the solicitor is throwing dust in the eyes of the mayor for the purpose of obscuring the issue. He says, referring to the golf players, that men who are breaking the laws of God and the commonwealth just for sport should not whine about persecution. The writer concludes his criticism of the solicitor's opinion by sarcastic reference to the players who, just for recreation, played golf in the rain last Sunday. His letter concludes with a suggestion that the golf players by the position they have taken have invited an adjudication of the question by the supreme court.

Washington, June 26.—The president has decided to transmit to the Russian their machines recently in order to government the petition presented to chased by him, has refused an offer of $92,000 for the two horses. W. W. him by the executive council of the dull times, contrary to the wishes of the B'Nai B'Rith regarding the treatment to his large stable at Bloomington, I.d. of Jews in Russia. This action has been taken after mature consideration. At first it was decided that the petition should not be presented because it might be resented by the government | confidence in the ministry. of Russia, and lead to a response that would cause a break in the relations test was witnessed by upwards of 3500 of the two countries. However, the formation which Circuit Attorney Folk people. Corbett nearly finished his man first conclusion has been reconsidered, has secured, $10,000 was spent in Jefand by direction of the president the ferson City to pass the bill legalizing petition will now go forward. What outstanding county warrants which the result will be is problematical. The presentation will be made to the Rustreasury. It is said that there are upsian government through the United States charge at St. Petersburg. Upon learning that the government of the United States had decided to government, Count Cassini went to the state department and consulted with

Secretary Hay. The petition which will be transmitted to the Russian government is the one which the executive council of the B'Nai B'Rith handed to the presi- bers of the provisional government States outside of federal office holders It is expected that it will take about two weeks to secure these signatures. The czar and his ministers know perfectly well the horror and indignation aroused throughout the civilized world by the barbarities perpetrated upon the unfortunate victims of that outrage, and if the universal execration it has called forth does not prompt them to punish the perpetrators and to protect in the future their Jewish subjects from such barbarities, no official criticism from our government could avail to that effect. The fact is that the Russian government has already notified the president, through its ambassador, Count Cassini, as Mr. Roosevelt himself informed the Hebrew representatives, that proper punishment will be inflicted on the guilty parties. In the face of such a declaration, for this government to impeach the good faith of the czar by any sort of protest, direct or indirect, may not be well

There have been no lack of intimations from informed sources that the united kingdom were present. ezar will never be permitted to see the petition, as the Russian prime minister will not receive it for transmission. It is realized that the Russian position is still correctly described in the statement telegraphed from Washington on June 9 by The Associated Press, from which this extract is taken:

"Nor will it be possible for Russia to receive any representations regarding the Kishineff incident from a foreign power. The Russian government takes the same position as that long held by the American government, namely, that it refrains from interference in the internal affairs of another power and must insist on similar treatment for itself."

If there is to be a refusal on the part of the Russian government to receive the Jewish petition, then upon Mr. Riddle, the United States charge of embassy at St. Petersburg, will fall the mortification, for Anfbassador Mc-Cormick has not yet returned to Lis post from his visit to Chicago and it is entirely possible that what happens at St. Petersburg when Mr. Riddle undertakes his disagreeable task may delay days. We have a great variety of goods suitable for Spring Overcoats in mixtures, coverts, etc., which we can make to your satisfaction...... Cassini, who is sailing next week for Cassini, who is sailing next week for PRICES FROM $20.00 UPWARDS Russia, might make a correspondingly long stay at home.

Upon the departure of Count Cassini Theodore Hanson, the first secretary of embassy, will act as charge of affairs. Count Cassini's contemplated a return to the United States in September.

"You mustn't ask questions," responded Bud with sudden severity and incidentally heading off Blinks' attempts at explanation by filling the infant's mouth with gingerbread.

"You see," ventured Nell, "you were not decorated on Memorial day, and we thought tomorrow would do just as well. It will be more exclusive to have a celebration of our own and, besides, more appropriate, being Independence day and your Grandfather Winston having fought in the Revolution and his old uniform hanging upstairs." Nell was waxing incoherent, but Bud felt she was getting on dangerous ground, and he remarked, with the air of one refraining with difficulty from administering a reproof:

"Nell, I am afraid grandmother wants us to come home quick before you blab the whole thing. Good evening, Miss Winston! We'll see you in the morning." A Noted Relic of 1776

RELIC of 1776 recently purchased by the municipality to be preserved as a Revolutionary museum stands at the corner of Broad and Pearl streets, New York. It is five stories in height, although during the Revolution it boasted but three. This is Fraunce's tavern, otherwise Black Sam's, and is more closely associated with the Father of His Country than any other building on Manhattan Island. Its walls are thick and still firm. The exact date of its erection is lost, but it was about 1730, and the DeLancey family were the owners and occupants. In 1762 Samuel Fraunce opened it as an inn, and it speedily became a popular resort with the lively young spirits of the day. A number of these formed themselves into an organization known as the Social club and made Black Sam's their Saturday been so surprised at the result of a le- night rendezvous, passing the bowl sometimes until the good folk of the just concluded," remarked an official of city were preparing their Sunday

Black Sam's prosperity continued throughout the war, and his place remained open during the entire time of the British occupation, for, although he was known to favor the cause of the sons of liberty, his jovial nature as well, and the excellence of his fare secured for him a toleration which he might not otherwise have enjoyed. When the forces of George III.

evacuated New York more than one officer stopped at Fraunce's on the way to the Battery for a parting drink. Sam saw the last of them sail down the bay, and shortly afterward had the honor of welcoming Washington himself as a guest. Here the commander in chief of the American forces repaired immediately on his victorious entry into the city, and here he lodged until peace was formally declared and the army disbanded. It was at Fraunce's that the memorial farewell to his officers, which forms such a striking picture in the history of the republic, was spoken. A Fourth of July Remedy.

The best remedy for a powder burn is to keep away the air, and flour, oil or plunging the hand in cold water and keeping it there will do this until the burn can be properly dressed. One mother saved her little child from being disfigured for life by her coolness. He tipped a dish of hot oatmeal into his face, and she immediately poured olive oil from the cruet over his face and kept it there. The result was the burns healed without a scar.

THREE NOVELTY DANCES.

New Figures Adopted by the Danc ing Masters' Association.

Fashions change in dancing as in dress, and in all parts of the country young people are learning the most recent dances approved by the International Association of Masters of Danc-MORE WORKMEN ARE NEEDED. ing at its recent convention. It is the custom of the dancing masters' association to select each year three of the dances of the many originated by its 400 members to be introduced as the season's novelties.

In such detail that each dance can easily be understood, Professor J. Mark Macdonald, president of the organization, recently told a reporter of the New York Evening Journal the proper steps for this year.

"One of the features of this season, selected among the many presented to the convention of the masters' association, is the Mildred-a twostep," said dance has been seen in years. It is the creation of Professor A. J. Giaconia of Thompsonville, Conn., and can be danced in any two-four time. In begining this dance open position is assumed, the nearest hands of the dancers being joined, the lady starting with the right foot and the gentleman with the left. After this the whole figure is executed to sixteen bars of music as follows:

"Make two walking steps forward; ount one and two. Twostep forward; count one and two. Make two walking steps forward; lady with left foot, gentleman with right foot; count one and two. Assume waltz position and execute two rocking steps, as pas de basque; sidewise; count one, two, three, the town and gazes over the valley of four. Make three galop slides, ending on gentleman's right foot, lady's left him a scene of devastation. Crushed foot; count one, two, three, four. Without any loss of time, make half turn former inhabitants. Hundreds of men and again execute the rocking steps; count one, two, three, four. Three galop slides, ending on gentleman's left foot, lady's right foot; count one, two, three, four. Now twostep four times, making two turns, half turn to the bar and counting one and two to a bar.

"The Pamala, originated by John Hackett, who is instructor to the vice regal court of Canada, is a sort of refined cake walk to twostep time, and is bound to be used widely because of the undiminished popularity of the cake walk. The Schenectady dance, by F. S. Capello, is another sort of twostep cake walk.

One of the most striking novelties is the American Belle, a new dance executed in trios and not in couples as are all of the time honored round and square figures. In this dance the lady is attended on either side by a gentleman and the movements are all forward, with some very pretty toe and knee work.

Those summer resorts where, during certain parts of the season, the ratio of population shows a preponderance of the fair sex have not been forgotten in the schedule, and there need be no heartburnings or bitter tears over the lone masculine if the Summer Hotel threestep be introduced. In this dance the man clasps hands with a girl on his left and another on his right.

Demand For Common Labor Incessant and Great-Durban Now a Busy Port, and Houses Cannot Be Built Fast Enough In Johannesburg-Says English Are Conciliatory and Anxious to Get on With the Boers.

SOUTH AFRICA'S BOOM

Results of Boer War Described

by J. W. Kirkland.

After a journey of nearly 12,000 miles John W. Kirkland recently reached Chicago from Johannesburg. He returns to America in the interest of the General Electric company, whose representative he is in South Africa.

"Whatever else was done or undone by the Boer war," he said to a reporter of the Chicago Tribune, "South Africa is already getting the benefit of the expensive advertising it received. The quiet little town of Durban as I knew it five years ago is now a bustling port and considerable of a city. All the South African ports thrived by the war. They took their toll from enormous supplies and transportation and derived a fair profit from the refugees and from the influx of foreigners interested in the war.

"People are coming in from all over the world. In Johannesburg, in spite of active construction, it is difficult to get a dwelling or a business building. Rents have gone up 50 per cent."

The present output of the gold mines. Mr. Kirkland said is about 60 per cent of what it was before the war. It is difficult, he explained, to secure enough Kaffirs or "boys," as many of them made money out of the struggle between Boer and Briton and refuse to work.

"There is, too, $25,000,000 being spent in extending the railroad systems," he continued, "and this gives many of them employment. The demand prompted by the gold mines is so great that there is talk of importing Chinese labor. The general demand for common labor of all sorts is incessant and great.

"South Africa is probably the richest mineral country in the world. The coal is almost equal in calorific values to the standard Welsh. It is so convenient, often lying on the top of the gold mine, that it can be delivered for $3 a ton. One coal mine company will probably abandon its coal to dig for gold,"

Recently a diamond mine has been discovered in the Transvaal, and further similar discoveries are expected, he said.

Of the rule of the British Mr. Kirkland spoke as follows: "The government at present is entirely that of a crown dependency, an appointed governor and a legislative council appointed by Lord Milner and the governor of the Transvaal. There is no elective body. Had not the Jameson raid prematurely exploded the solid revolution that was being prepared by the foreign element the chances are that the Boer government would have been liberalized, there would have been no British war and the country would now be living under a broad and satistlers in 1389, the editor of this paper was factory republican government. Odd Challenge Sent to Dr. Dowle by a "Messiah" In India.

Dr. J. A. Dowie has been challenged to a praying duel to the death by Mirza Ghulam Ahmad of Quadian, Punjab, India, says a Chicago special to the New York World.

"Come thou, O self styled prophet, to a duel," says Mirza in his "defi." "The weapons shall be prayer. Let us kneel on our knees in the dust of the earth, you and I together, and petition the Almighty that of us two whoever is the liar shall perish first." Elijah II. has not accepted the chal-

Mirza says he is "the promised Messiah" sent "for the reformation of the world exactly at the time fixed by calculations based on Biblical prophecies." "I am the very Messiah, the promised one, for whom he is so anxiously waiting. Between Dr. Dowie's position and mine the difference is this -Dowie fixes the appearance of the Messiah within the next twenty-five years, while I give him the glad tidings that the Messiah has already appeared. I am that Messiah. I will pray him to death to settle the question.'

Good Afternoon

Under the new law which passed the Legislature yesterday, the City Council of Quincy may prescribe by ordinance such conditions and terms for licensing dealers of coal and coke as it wishes. The said licenses may be suspended or revoked at any time by the secretary of the commonwealth, after a fair hearing given to the licensee, for using false weights or measures, for charging exorbitant prices, for conspiring or combining unlawfully with other persons, or unlawfully discriminating in the conduct of said business, or for any other reason. There are provisions for an appeal and also a penalty.

While the efforts of Quincy are unavailing to obtain through cars to the Dudley Street terminal of the Boston Elevated, smaller and more distant towns are favored. Five additional routes are announced for July 1, which not only reach out to Milton and Hyde Park, but to Dedham and Needham. This will leave Quincy as the only city or town adjoining Boston which will not have direct car service to some station of the Elevated. And all these routes will be for a five cent fare. How is it that the little town of Needham, with 4,000 population, and twice as far from Boston as Quincy, and not a railway centre at that, obtains through cars and a five-cent fare, when the city of Quincy with a population of over 30,000 and a railway centre for the South Shore, is unable to get these accommodations? Why?

NEW OFFICIALS.

Street Railway.

Some time ago it was announced that Old Colony street railway system of which Quincy is a part had accepted a position at New Orleans. Mr. Foster left for his new position last week. His resignation made necessary a number of changes among the officials. Robert G. Goff, general superintendent of the Old Colony system with headquarters at Fall River, has been promoted to general manager, to succeed Mr. Foster, and Mr. Goff will be succeeded by George F. Seibel who will have headquarters at Taunton.

H. E. Reynolds, who has been superintendent of the Quincy division with headquarters at Quincy, has been appointed assistant general manager, and will make his headquarters at Brockton.

Mr. Seibel will look after the Taunton, Fall River and Newport divisions and Mr. Reynolds will have general supervision over the divisions north of Brockton. These include Brockton, Abington, Rockland, Weymouth, Hingham, Nantasket, Holbrook, Randolph, Braintree, Quincy, Milton and West Roxbury.

The vacancy caused by the promotion of Mr. Reynolds has been filled by the appointment of John T. Conway as

Mr. Reynolds came to Quincy upon Weeks some years ago. Previous to that he was treasurer of the Brockton Street Railway Co. He came as a stranger, but his genial disposition and of attainment. his desire and efforts to give Quincy good street car service soon made him many warm friends.

It was not long before people began to realize that he was the right man in the right place and while Quincy people will be sorry to lose him they can but congratulate him upon his promotion, understanding that their loss is his gain, and that he will still retain general supervision over the Quincy system and that he will do all in his power to improve and better our street car service.

Mr. Conway, who succeeds Mr. Reynolds, is familiar with the wants of Quincy, as he has been assistant superintendent of this division for some years. He also came to Quincy from Brockton, where he was for many years connected with the Brockton street railway. He is a thorough street railway man, familiar with all its branches, having worked his way up by hard and diligent work from the bottom round. While Quincy people are not so well nolds, they will find him to possess a genial disposition and to be ready and railroad service.

The changes among the officials go into effect today.

In the delivery of a "Thorough busiman" Mr. W. B. Rice of Quincy, Boston and Braintree stated that he felt it a great honor to be invited to speak on an occasion marking an epoch in the lives of the graduating class, declaring that if he should utter but one word or suggest one thought that would, in their future lives, lead them to higher purposes or nobler endeavors, he should be well repaid.

Congratulating them upon the glori ous opportunities for achievement, surrounding their lives, he touched upon the failing to which so many of us are subject-that inclination to look upon those of higher standings in life with of Mr. Sparrow. the resignation of Superintendent a wish that we might occupy their position, yet the wealth of Carnegie, Rockefellow or Morgan is not to be desired in preference to our possibilities

It would not surprise many even if the Merrymounts met their waterloo. The umpire has not been definitely settled as yet, although both sides are anxious that Mayor Bryant should officiate. First, because he knows nothing about the game, and secondly because they know he is fair minded and would use both sides alike.

Persons who desire privileges to sell pink lemonade and peanuts on the grounds should make early application. Also those who want grand stand tickets. The field will be roped off and a squad of Chief Hayden's blue coats will keep the ropes clean and quell all disputes that may arise between the players of the two teams, and incidentally back up the Mayor in his decisions as official umpire. It can not help but be a great game.

By HOWARD MARCUS STRONG

Copyright, 1902, by Howard Marcus Strong

AUTICAL nomenclature has always possessed for me an unaccountable attraction. As it is a harmless and inexpensive whim I have humored it to the extent of ornamenting my rather extensive vocabulary with such terms as "splice the main brace" and "half seas over."

As a matter of fact, I never saw a bark, brig, sloop, ship, schooner or smack in my life, and I could not, no matter how great the necessity, identify a binnacle, capstan or spanker boom. Notwithstanding, I can tell a sea story that introduces in their proper places a hull, a bowsprit and a main crosstree.

My intimate friends know this story by heart, but never tire of hearing me recount it. They aver that I saturate it with all the realism of a transatlantic voyage, and if I but keep the vessel rising and falling a moment too long in the trough of the sea many are affected with all the symptoms of mal-

When strangers are present during a recital of the story I frequently try to plain statement of facts. abridge it, disliking to cast a gloom over the company. But the moment my friends perceive that I am minded to scuttle the ship and send all to the bottom in forty fathoms of water they cry out:

"And how many of the crew escaped on the metallic life raft with the German passenger?"

Then I know that the fourteen hideous days beneath a tropical sun with only a gill of water in the cask and a ship's biscuit in the passenger's pocket, the thirteen delirious nights, with maddening dreams of bubbling fountains and bountiful banquets, all must be gone through with. Though my own throat grows sympathetically dry and my lips are ready to crack open at the thought of the driving salt spray, still must the daily lots be drawn and the horizon scanned in vain for a passing

Those who have never told a sea story cannot appreciate the accompanying strain upon the raconteur's nerves. Having all the natural endowments of a great actor, I unconsciously put my whole soul into the scene and suffer pang for pang with each member of the all fated crew. By the time the Gloucesfer whaler removes from the metallic life raft the remains of the crew (the first mate's thigh bone) and the demented German passenger I am in almost the same condition as the single survivor. Upon several occasions I have gone so far as to represent myself as being this same unfortunate individual, my Teutonic cast of countenance materially aiding the deception.

In order that my position in the affair of honor with the French admiral

may be clearly understood it will be necessary for me to confess that the sea story has grown from recital to recital. To be candid, it has progressed from the collision of an Ohio river towboat with a bridge pier to the highly dramatic account of an ill omened vessel which set sail on Feb. 13 without a rat in the hold and the water in the well only kept down to bilge depth by ality. I was that passenger."

the constant action of the steam siphon. Every one will understand that this deft perversion of facts had as its only object the entertainment of others. My wife was always sure of a treat for her guests, no matter how unexpectedly they might arrive. The piano might be out of tune, the phonograph records ruined or the pingpong balls lost, but my wife had only to launch the conversation into the well worn ways of ocean thing might have been and doubtless travel, and then she was free to devote was a transcript from my own story. her mind to the serious problem of pre- It certified that the admiral was the paring a presentable repast from the remains of a previous meal. On more than one occasion my graphic description of the agonizing pains of slow starvation has created such an appetite in the minds, or, rather, in the digestive apparatus, of my auditors that they subsequently devoured manipulated mutton under the pleasing impression that they were dining on chicken croquettes.

It is perhaps needless to state that the fame of my sea story spread beyond the confines of my own home. The marine word painting was all the more appreciated because of the geographical location of our inland city. At the club they were never tired of listening to the lapping of the waves against the corrugated sides of the metallic life raft. Give me three minutes' start, they said, with a spanking breeze abaft the mizzen, and it was bowsprits to belaying pins that Clark Russell could not overhaul me in an evening's time. Whenever a guest of distinction was present at the club my sea story was expected as a matter of course. Upon such occasions I would make the wind roar through the rigging and the anchor chain rattle through the hawse hole. Every time the vessel careened I would bury her rail under a breaker. and then, as she righted herself, you could fairly hear the water gurgling out through the scuppers.

But to return to the French admiral and the affair of honor which has been town talk for a fortnight. Personally I have done everything possible to quiet the wild rumors regarding the encounter in the banquet hall, but they reoccur so persistently and are so grossly distorted that I feel forced to a

It seems that the fellow had been foisted upon the club by an obscure member named Driggs. For two evenings this obtrusive Frenchman had monopolized the general conversation and wearied the members with verbose accounts of alleged adventures in five quarters of the globe. On the third night Bradlee was delegated by the long suffering ones to wait upon me and demand my immediate presence on

"You see," he explained, "it is a matter of self preservation. This French admiral is making life a burden for us. Because we happen to be stranded a thousand miles from salt water he imagines us capable of swallowing his three masted lies. You must come down and make him take water. Just heave to in the offing until he gets well under way and then cut him out. Crowd on all sail and give him a run for his money. When you have overhauled him bring every gun to bear and squirt a broadside of gloom into his most vulnerable parts. You are the only man in the state that is qualified to throw the grapples into his rigging and board him on equal terms. Remember, there is to be no quarter. Make him strike his colors or send him to the bottom. Of course my words are only figurative, but you can doubtless follow the main drift of my remarks."

Now, I leave it to the most cold blooded if any one could withstand such an appeal as that. No man of honor could hang back and see his fellow countrymen put to shame by a foreign invader. Besides, there was every indication of sport equal to an international yacht race or a naval duel between two first class men-of-war.

"Lead on," I said; "this night will I deliver you from the jaw of the ene-

When we eventually arrived at the club the Frenchman had already hoisted his mainsail and was heading for open water. At my entrance every one smiled save the admiral. He held to his course and minded not the secret signals which passed between the members. If I remember correctly he was loaded with rum and teakwood and had half the crew down with scurvy. I waited until he had drifted for three days, without a cloud in the sky and the sea like a huge shield of burnished brass. Then Bradlee gave me the wink. "And no one," I said, "can better appreciate such a situation than myself. I have lived through it day by day, hour by hour, minute by minute. On

Just then the Frenchman made a noise in his little black beard which sounded like the explosion of a wet firecracker. He cleared his throat, he stamped his foot, he said things which are fortunately untranslatable. It was all to no purpose. By that time I was in latitude 50 degrees and some minutes, and the most terrible storm which had ever visited the southern hemisphere had just sheared off our masts like so many pipestems. Seeing that he was clearly outclassed, the admiral relapsed into an armchair and never again opened his lips until the crew of the Gloucester whaler pulled the German passenger off the metallic life raft and threw the first mate's thigh bone to the sharks.

Then the little man sprang up. "Ver' good," he cried approvingly-"ver' good and absolute true! But you mistake in this-ze passenger was French, not German."

Driggs laughed boisterously. A few of the members joined in his ill timed mirth. But I still had a round shot left in my locker.

"You are laboring under a delusion, sir," I replied, without so much as glancing in his direction. "There is no question as to the passenger's nation-

Upon this the Frenchman whipped out an official looking document, all covered with seals and red tape and scrawly writing.

"Gentlemen," said he, with forced calmness, "will you have the benevolence to read of such?" Driggs took the parchment, which was all in French, and gave a free

Driggs, who was acting as master of ceremonies, had stationed himself midway between us, his back to the great open fireplace. Unconsciously I noted that the ashes of a dead fire still littered the hearth.

I am not a coward and did not fear being shot at. It was the possibility of becoming a murderer that unmanned me. I dared not discharge my pistol at random lest a human soul be launched into eternity.

At that instant a brilliant idea darted into my mind. I acted upon it at once and with noiseless step crossed the hall obliquely until my hand encountered the rough stone mantel. Then, stooping down, I advanced the muzzle of the revolver into the yawning fireplace and pulled the trigger five times in rapid succession, secure in the thought that no harm could follow such an action.

A man was arrested in Paris the other day for digging a grave for himself in the street. He said he was trying to escape from the bees. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

28-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Christ in our cities.-Acts xviii, 1-11; Luke xix, 41-44; Matt. xi, 23, 24. (City

The problems of city government and city evangelization and salvation have always been great ones. From time immemorial the great cities of the Athens, the Roman empire an enlarged Rome, and Paris and London sustain the same relations to France and to England today, and if the city life of The impurity of city politics, the character of the large foreign populations, the natural gravitation of evil to the city, where it can be more secluded, the inexorable demands of city business life, the religious indifference of ulations; they care little about our orthe vast multitudes of its people, all thodoxy or our heresy; they are in need go to show the need of mission work in of the warmth of kindly sympathy personal contact with the work have Thompson, Methodist, Chicago. any real conception of the needs in our great cities today. Heathenism as pronounced as exists anywhere is frequently to be found. Foreigners congregate together and occupy entire sections, living very often in moral and spiritual darkness such as is scarcely imaginable. All forms of vice manifest themselves, and here and there direct opposition to the truth as it is in Jesus is frequently manifested. It was so at Corinth, and in this respect the cities of today are not unchanged.

But the difficulties that face us in city mission work should not deter us. Christianity hesitates not because of difficulty or opposition. The command is "Go!" the promise is "I am with you," and with such a command and promise difficulties are not to be considered. Paul sought the great cities as strategic points for his missionary labors. Antioch was the key to Asia and Rome the key to the world, and these became the great centers from which Christianity spread in the early Christian cities. Save the cities and you can save the country. They are the leaders in business, social and political life and also in religious life. Christianize them and the country will not be in danger from lack of religion or indifference to it.

As He was interested in the salvation of Jerusalem, so we should be in the moral and spiritual welfare of all cities. Specially should all Endeavorers who live in cities bend all their energies toward city evangelism. Christianity, patriotism and personal interest all call upon us to follow such a course.

The Limits of Liberty. We have intellectual and spiritual liberty, but this liberty in itself limits us. We have no moral right to think as we please unless we please to think that which is true. HELP GIVEN HARNEY BROS

By the Knights of Labor, Who Are Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, Whose Example They Followed

Lynn, Mass., June 27 .- Several shoe workers, including lasters, edge cutters and heel shavers, have gone to work at the Harney Bros.' factory. Several of the new cutters came from Haverhill. It is believed that these additions break the strike called by the Boot and Shoe Workers' union in retaliation for the action of the firm in discarding the union stamp, settling the Knights of Labor's strike of cutters and stitchers and declaring a free shop. The new lasters were escorted to the factory by members of the Knights of Labor. This is the first time the Knights of Labor have acknowledged openly that they are willing to import workmen to fight the Boot and Shoe Workers' union.

Agent Snow of the Knights of Labor said: "The Boot and Shoe Workers' union imported cutters to break our strike in January. There is no reason why the Knights of Labor should not follow the example of Mr. Tobin, . hich already has the sanction of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. We will assist any manufacture: to free himself from the dominaceeded in obtaining all the help needed is our guarantee to others who are only watching the outcome there to determine on throwing up the union stamp that they have nothing to fear, and that they can get all the operatives needed despite the efforts of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union members who have struck have not broken ranks yet, and still keep pickets at the factory. Harney Bros. now have over 50 lasters at work, and the other departments of the factory are nearly filled.

The first clash between the strike breakers and the Boot and Shoe Workers' union pickets came last night when the men left their work in the factory. The trouble was not serious, however. A delegation from the Knights of Labor went to the factory to escort the strike breakers to their lodging houses at the end of their day's work. As they were passing through the central part of the city Boot and Shoe Workers' union pickets and sympathizers shouted and jeered at them, and at several points there was more or less pushing on the sidewalks. A detail of police was on hand to prevent possible trouble, however, and the demonstration at no time became serious.

Harney Bros, announce that additional lasters, as well as machine operators in other departments affected by the strike, are expected today.

A CRITICAL SITUATION

Wilmington Fears Race Outbreak as a Result of White Lynching

Wilmington, June 27.—The danger of 'urther lawlessness as a result of the lynching of George F. White for the murder of Helen Bishop and the arrest of a man on the charge of complication in the lynching has not yet passed. While there is no visible evidence that another outbreak will occur, there is a feeling of uneasiness among the police authorities, which has caused them to take extreme measures of a precau-Willing to Import Labor to Defeat tionary character to nip in the bud any further attempts of the whites to wage war on the blacks or of the latter to retaliate.

Late yesterday afternoon every saloonkeeper in the city was ordered to suspend business until today. In addition to this all other public places, such as billiard, pool and bowling alleys, and the public library were requested to close up last night. This was generally done. In line with peace precautions, Mayor Fisher last night issued a statement requesting parents to eep their boys off the streets at night.

Concerns Russia Alone

Washington, June 27.-The Russian government has learned with profound regret of the intention of the Washington authorities to forward to St. Petersburg a petition from American Jews relative to Russia's treatment of her Jewish subjects. In returning the petition to Mr. Riddle the officials will assure him that Russia cherishes no illwill toward the United States and that the action it takes with respect to the petition is necessary in view of Russia's analterable policy of refraining from interference in the internal affairs of other powers and insisting on similar treatment for itself.

LATEST POSTAL SCANDAL

Superintendant of Washington City nate, Will Be Asked to Explain Certain Alleged Irregularities

Washington, June 27 .- "The president has absolute confidence in Postmaster General Payne and has no thought that he will leave the cabinet," said Senator Hanna, after quite an extended visit to the White House. He added: "The president is satisfied with the work Mr. Payne is doing and appreciates his integrity and executive ability. Mr. Payne has no thought of resigning, but if he did, his resignation would not be accepted by the presi-

Senator Hanna said it was unfortunate that Mr. Payne's health was so poor and that he could not go away and recuperate because his presence is needed in Washington at this time.

It can be stated authoritatively that the reports that Postmaster General Payne contemplates retiring from the cabinet are untrue. Ill-health might compel him to give up his work, but the idea of retirement is not entertained by him. The president, it is said, has given expression to his own feelings in the matter by saying that he would permit him to resign only in the event that it became a mater of life or death. The last meeting of the cabinet before the president's departure from Washington was devoted chiefly to the clearing up of routine departmental matters in anticipation of the president's departure, although Postmaster General Payne occupied considerable time, not only in presenting the current situation as developed by the investigation now in progress in the postoffice department, but in discussing his future plans relative to the investigation.

The case of Charles Hedges, superintendent of city delivery of the free delivery service, Machen's chief subordinate, against whom serious charges have been made, will be actively taken up by Mr. Bristow in the near future. Hedges is charged with sending through the regular franked mail of the department advertising literature and circulars of mining companies in which he was interested. He is also accused of having used his official position to induce postmasters to subscribe to the stock of mining concerns, particularly of one of which he is president. Complaints have been received from several postmasters in northern states substantiating these

SCLON ! DUTIES ENDED

Massachusetts Legislature of 1903 Is Formally Prorogued

Boston, June 27.-With the customary formalities, the legislature of 1993 was prorogued last night. The session of the senate ended when Secretary of State Olin appeared in response to a visit of the proregation committee to the governor, and stated that the legislature was prorogued, adding that the governor had signed 482 bills and 194 resolves, had vetoed 14 bills and allowed three bilis and one resolve to become Delivery, Machen's Chief Subordi- law without his signature. Secretary Olin immediately proceeded to the house of representatives and made a like statement and announced the prorogation of the house. The last legislative day saw very little work done, as most matters on the docket had been cleared up. A goldlined silver loving cup was given to Chaplain Waldron, it being the silver anniversary of his incumbency of the office. Short speeches complimentary to Speaker Myers followed.

Speaker Myers, in response, spoke from the floor. He referred to his experiences with some 1500 men during his service of 11 years in the house. Gifts to the officials and employes of the house followed and the exchange of gifts was concluded by the presentation to Representative Kiley of Boston of a silver service. The bill for licensing coal dealers was then enacted and after singing "Auld Lang Syne" recess was taken at 2:35 until 7:12 last night. Five minutes after, Governor Bates sent in his veto of the Wakefield sewer bill. The veto was sustained. The legislature prorogued at 8:42.

Robbers Sons of Rich Parents

Cambridge, Mass., June 27 .- Developments have made the case of the Harvard students charged with the robbery of the Harvard co-sperative store one of the most remarkable in local police annals. According to the police Guy L. Hunt, '05, and F. E. Rich, '04, have given the finest exemplification of the operations of the "gentleman burglar" that has been known in this part of the country. The glamor of wealth and of romance gives the case a still more remarkable aspect. Both young men are the sons of wealthy parents. They are said to have received liberal allowances from their parents, but evidently not enough to keep up with the pace they set. About $800 worth of the property stolen from the co-operative store was recovered yesterday. It was found in a place in Boston which the Cambridge rolice will not yet divulge. Much more stolen property is expected to be found.

Woman Killed In Runaway

Derby, Conn., June 27 .- Mrs. Silas E. Lewis, a well known church woman, received injuries in a runaway accident last night which resulted in her death three hours later. ROYALTY DANCE CAKE WALK

Afro-Americans Entertain Queen Alexandra's Grandchildren.

The New York Herald's European edition publishes the following from its London correspondent:

For the first time in its history the sacred precincts of Buckingham palace were recently a scene of a real "crap" game-that form of sport so dear to the heart of the American negro.

At least such is the story told by members of the Williams & Walker company, who performed at the children's party given by Queen Alexandra Prince and Princess of Wales.

Mr. Norman J. Norman, manager of the Shaftesbury theater, where the colored comedians were playing, says that and the theater orchestra were mobilized, and that his majesty particularly enjoyed "The Jonah Man," sung by Mr. Williams.

As for the "crap" story, here it is: While the performance was going on two men of the chorus stole off on one side, and one produced a set of dice. A Commencement Dream.

Dr. William Everett of this city contributed a poem at the Phi Beta Kappa dinner at Cambridge on Thursday which met with favor. It was entitled, Dazed with Commencement's flashing show, Diplomas, gowns, degrees, I sank unconscious on the sward Shaded by Harvard's trees.

I slept: but all confused at first Rushed back the pageantry; Till shaped itself a clearer dream Upon my slumbering eye.

I saw a mighty ship of war Go thundering o'er the main; Towers, armor, ram, deep-throated guns, And engines on the strain. Around a thousand gallant craft

Beneath its convoy rode; Where screw, or sail, or bounding oars Propelled each precious load. Close in her wake a trim corvette,

Well rigged, well steered, well armed, Conveyed a fleet of slighter build, Whose lines my vision charmed. So gay, so graceful, so alert,

I blessed the freight of such a fleet, So beautiful, so brave. And as I viewed that trim corvette, Defender, escort, guide,

So light they pressed the wave,

Now one, now multiple she seemed Upon the waves to ride. My eyeballs swam, with pleasing doubt :--"Speak, Neptuve, I implore! What fleets, what guiding craft are these?

And is that one, or more? "That foremost fleet hath Harvard sent To plough Life's stormy sea; That thundering, ramming man-of-war-

Her President is he. "That gay armada Radcliffe sends

On high adventure bound; That trim corvette her eager choice

As guard and guide hath crowned." But through the waves now multiplied Methinks her way she digs!"

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

'A Commencement Dream," and was present week and the announcement of his week's attraction at this popular playhouse will be fully appreciated by its patrons. The play Beecham's Pills will has not been presented in Boston since its most has not been presented in Boston since as most successful performances by the Castle Square Soothe the Stomach company four years ago and a repetition of the popularity it has always enjoyed can be sitely by assisting the organs to do their predicted. Mr. George Ober will again be seen with the company in his original character and with the company in his original character and Nature's Restorer—perfect sleep. the production will follow that orginally given it under the author's direction in all essentials. Only a single week will be given to "A Midnight Bell" and at the Monday matinee the usual distribution of souvenir boxes of chocolate borbons will be made.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

State Folks" at the Majestic Theatre is its con- sleep well, work well and be well, tinuation, now for the fitth week, with crowded take an occasional dose of attendances at every performance. There is an appealing quality in the piece which is irrestible and attracts one back to see it the second and even third time. There is many a fine comedy scene which one recalls after reaching home and thinking the play over, and there is that indiscribable something about it which prompts the feeling that it would be a real rleasure to see it again. So it is with many of the characters in the play, specially those distinctive types, Simon Peter Martin, old Myron Cooper, Lem Dunbar, Zibby Tucker, Ezra Blowers, Ben Tuttle, widow Miller, Jennie, Emeline Hubbard Mrs. "Lyddy," Martin, Niiggin's girl, and Sadie and Jack.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Another capital summer show will be given at Keith's the week of June 29, with several new faces among the list of entertainers, including Salije Stembler, the noted vocal comedienne: Alfred Arnessen, a marvellous couilibrist; the Watermelon trust, quintet of clever "real coon" singers and dancers, and Myers and Rosa, in a novel act of juggling and discmanipulation. "The Counsel for the Defense," a strong one-act melodrama, will be played by Mr. and Mrs. William Robyns, who have not appeared here in several seasons, and there will be comedy stunts by Ray and Wood, and Collins and North, both clever teams of tunmakers. The Fadettes woman's orchestra, the most popular summer attraction ever put on at Keith's, will perform an unusually attractive program of light music, and an entire new list f motion pictures will be shown in the vitawithout charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be graph. Visitors to Boston are in evidence at sent each week even though it is but a revery performance, as it is quite generally every performance, as it is quite generally known outside of New England that Keith's theatre is " one of the show places of Boston," and as worthy a visit as Bunker Hill monument or the historic Old State House.

Most Dangerous Challenger

HAS A THIRTY-MILE TRIAL

Brought Over by Lipton

In Which She Easily Defeats Shamrock 1, Which Is Said to Be Much Faster Than She Ever Was-New Boat Points High and Foots Fast

New York, June 29 .- Sir Thomas Lipton's new cup challenger Shamrock III was given her first test in American waters in an informal trial with Shamrock I off Sandy Hook. In the first 10 miles of a 15-mile beat to windward in a very light air the new boat beat the old one about 10 minutes, and in a run of 15 miles to leeward nine minutes. After beating off shore from Scotland lightship for 10 miles Shamrock III turned about and rejoined the older boat, after which they sailed down along the Jersey coast past Long Branch and then squared away for Scotland lightship again. There was a long gentle sea and the new challenger slipped cleanly over it, making little fuss under her bow.

Taking into consideration the assertion by English yachtsmen that Shamrock I is 10 minutes faster in a 30-mile course than she ever was and fully as much faster than Shamrock II, the new boat's performance on this side of the Atlantic marks her as propably the most dangerous challenger Sir Thomas has brought over. In a light air and smooth water she showed herself to be very fast. The chief purpose of the trial was to stretch the sails and resume the tuning up of the new boat.

The yachts started to beat seaward against a four-knot wind from south by east. Shamrock III was slightly in the lead at the start and began at once to add to it. After making a short tack toward the Jersey shore the yachts headed off southeasterly. The new boat pointed higher and footed faster than Shamrock I. They headed out to sea for more than two hours and during all that time Shamrock III gained steadily. At 2:45, when the challenger was leading Shamrock I by 10 minutes. Shamrock III turned about and ran back to Crossing the wake of the old boat Shamrock III was given a freer wind and sent off for a five-mile run at a fast clip down along the Jersey coast. As Shamrock I did not keep in close company with the new boat there was no opportunity to compare the boats in that point of sailing. Shamrock III ad passed Long Branch several miles ore when both boats came about and, starting close together, headed for Sandy Hook with spinnakers set. Before a light wind they can 15 n iles along the coast to Scotland lightship.

Shamrock III quickly began to gain on her trial horse and in an hour's sailing and when the boats had sailed over nearly half the course, had established a lead of nearly half a mile. This is called the best point of sailing for the older boat.

Shamrock III passed the lightship at 5:52, while the ex-challenger v as about a mile astern. Shamrock I reached the

nghtship at 6:01, but had lost some time | SIGHT-SELRS' reaching the finish. The challenger continued under her own sail to Sandy

Did Not Believe In Banks Little Valley, N. Y., June 29.-Robbers broke into a farm house near Line tone and robbed James and Patrick Quinlan, who lived there alone, of $4000. The Quinlans, who are bachelors, THE LATEST SHAMROCK were known to be suspicious of banks and kept their houses barricaded against robbers. The intruders set fire to a mass of rubbish in the yard and when the brothers opened the door to run to the fire, the robbers hit James on the head, knocking him unconscious. The other brother is a cripple. Both were bound and robbed.

Thousands Visit Scene of the Lynching of White

By His Congregation For Advocating Court-Negro Minister Advises Flock to "Drink the Blood of Pursuers"

Wilmington, Del., June 29 .- Thousands of persons have visited the scene where George F. White, the negro, was burned to death last Monday night by a mob for the murder of Miss Helen Bishop. A trolley line runs to about vehicles did a thriving business carrying passengers to the place and explaining to them the events of the last two weeks. The burning took place in a freshly ploughed field, about 50 feet from the roadway, which is hidden by high bushes. The field has been trampled almost as smooth and hard as asphalt by the thousands of persons that have visited the farm. The bushes behind which the assault and murder occurred have been cut down for a distance of several yards and carried away by relic hunters. Many of those who visited the scene yesterday, among them a large number of women, carrier away a sprig or branch of the busnes.

Discussion of the events of the last week is rapidly ending, although the affair was the text of some of the clergymen yesterday. The preachers without exception condemned the lynching, notwithstanding the fact that public sentiment is overwhelmingly on the side of the tynchers.

Rev. Robert A. Elwood, the Presbyterian minister who has come in for much criticism for his sermon of a week ago in which he suggested lynching in case the negro escaped speedy punishment at the hands of the law, did not refer to the lynching or the criticisms yesterday. These criticisms were answered by his congregation resterday, when the following resolutions were read during the services: "We, the officers and members of the Olivet Presbyterian church, Wilmington, Del., realizing the unjust critical being made upon our beloved paster, Rev. Robert A. Elwood, by a large proportion of the public press, do place ourselves on record in the following

"First, we express our firm belief in our pastor's honesty, integrity and Christian character; our appreciation of his ministerial labors in our congre-Christian courage as expressed by his palpit messages and his life in our midst.

"Second, we record our belief that his message of last Sunday evening was both timely and true, sensible and scriptural, and in nowise can the actions of the citizens on Monday night be chargeable to that sermon.

"Third, we order a copy of these resolutions placed upon the sessional records read in the church services of the coming Lord's day, and given to the press for publication."

Rev Montrose V. Thornton, colored. pastor of the First A. M. E. church of this city, preached a seasational sermon to his congregation last night. The church was crowded in expectation that Mr. Thornton would have something to say on the events of the past week. He said in part: "The white man, in face of his boasted civilization, stands before my eyes tonight the demon of the world's races, a monster incarnate and, insofar as the negro race is concerned, seems to give no quarter. The white is a heathen, a fiend, a monstrosity before God, and is equal to any act in the category of crime. I would sooner trust myself in the den of a hyena as in his arms. With a court, law and officers of law in his hands, the despised negro can expect no mercy, justice or protection. The negro is unsafe anywhere in this country. He is the open prey at all times of barbarians who know no restraint and will not be restrained.

"There is but one part, left for the persecuted negro when charged with crime and when innocent. Be a law unto yourself. You are taught by this lesson of outrage to save yourself from torture at the hands of the blood-seeking public. Save your race from insult and shame. Be your own sheriff, court and jury as was the outlaw Tracy. Die in your tracks, perhaps drinking the blood of your pursuers. Booker T. Washington's charity, humanity, advice or forgiveness, love for industry and so on will never be reciprocated by white men."

A DESPERADO'S END Killed Himself In Jail While Mob Clamored For His Life

Hot Springs, Ark., June 29.-Jim Dougherty, condemned to die Aug. 14 for the murder of Chief of Detectives Jack Donahue, deliberately assi ulted and killed with a razer Roger Williams, a fellow-prisoner, in the county jail. Dougherty was searched and relieved of a razor three weeks ago during his trial and he held Williams re sponsible for information about him. Williams at the time of his murder was washing his face. Dougherty approached from behind and reaching close under and across his victim's abdomen, brought the razor across it making a gash 20 inches long. Williams was removed to a sanitarium where he died. Dougherty was peer ing into the cells and calling for other prisoners to come out into the corridor that he might slaughter them when the jailer arrived and at the point of a revolver drove the infuriated man into his cell and locked him up.

A mob of 500 people gathered at the jail, and while the sheriff was pleading with the people to let the law take its course, a female prisoner in the corridor called out from a window that Dougherty had cut his throat. The sheriff found that the murderer bad aken the steel ends of his shoe strings flattened them out and made a twoinch incision on each side of his throat causing death.

Echo of Engineers' Strike

Boston, June 29 .- As a result of Chief Engineer Merritt leaving the tug Storm King during the recent engineers' strike in this harbor, the local gation, and our admiration of his manly | United States inspectors of steam vessels have revoked his license. This is the first case at this port where an en gineer has been complained of and found guilty of leaving his ship. The penalty, if the decision of the local inspectors is sustained by the higher officials of the bureau, displaces Merritt from the steam merchant marine of the United States as an engineer for all time

No Agreement In Sight

New York, June 29.-Employer and employe in New York's labor war seem still to be far apart. The plan for the conciliation committee of the Civic Federation to bring the contending forces together has made no progress The employers say they will not permit work to be resumed until the union have signed their arbitration plan, while the union men say they will not consider arbitration until work is resumed under the conditions which prevailed before the strike and lockouts were declared.

When the department arrived the of the building, which was used by rear. Both of these buildings are situated within a few feet of the main building.

The fire, to all appearances, had started in the centre of the first floor of the store building and had spread. The firemen surrounded the building and several powerful streams of water were soon being poured into it. It seemed a long time however before they gained on the fire but they gradually did.

While the fire was at its height, Chief Williams was notified that there was a horse in the small barn that had taken fire, and that several unsuccessful attempts had been made to rescue it. The chief said he would try, and rushing through the flames and braving the suffocating heat he battered in the door and rescued the animal. This act caused a burst of applause from the crowd of spectators.

Just how the fire started is not cnown. The building was badly gutted and the stock of the store ruined. Chief Williams estimates the loss at $2,500. This is the third time that the department has been called to a fire in this building.

The building was owned by Frederick memorial of Rev. Samuel Kelley.

People are prone to criticise the City Council because of alleged shortcomings but after all it may be the people themselves who are to blame for legislation if the experience of President Alden is the experience of other members of the City Council. It was rather a startling assertion which Mr. Alden made at the hearing at Atlantic, that "during his five years in the Council not a citizen, of Atlantic had conferred with him over any new improvement." Certainly this is not as it should be. The man or the company with a project to put through for personal gain finds little trouble where there is such a surprising lack of interest in public affairs. Annual Communion Service

Boston, June 29 .- The annual communion service of the mother church of the Christian Science denomination, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, was held in Mechanics hall Sunday, the three congregations aggregating over 15,000 persons. Each service was impressive, especially in the filent communion when the entire congregation knelt. At each service the rei ders of the First church, the directors and other members of prominence had seats on the platform. Professor Herman S. Hering, formerly of Johns Hopkins university, officiated as first reader, and Mrs. Ella E. Williams was second reader. There was no departure, from the order of service followed at previous annual communions of the Chicago, June 29 .- "I am no advocate of lynching or of mob law, but I would rather see a community wrought to the highest pitch over crimes that would seem impossible this side of hell than to remain apathetic," was the declaration of Rev. Dr. W. A. Bartlett at the First Congregational church in a prelude on "Lynching from another point of view." Dr. Bartlett said among other things:

"I have seen so many sermons, editorials and resolutions against lynching and mob law that one gets the impression that the citizens who hang or burn the destroyer of life, home and all that is held sacred by womanhood, are the race offenders rather than the monster | tion sick."

whom they destroy. "We seem to be so absorbed with the majesty of the vague term 'law that the notion appears to prevail that the real criminals are those who do not wait for legal processes, and the violator of womanhood is the abused party.

"We shudder at the torture of the criminal who is burned, but apparently forget to shudder for the innocent girl, whose mental and spiritual agony is tenfold greater than that of the fire This is not a race problem, except so far as one race are the offenders. The white man who commits the same crim is just as guilty.

"The indignant uprising of the com munity and some of the pest men in it to avenge a wrong of such awful migritude may be technically lawless, but the spirit which causes the uprising is the reflection of a higher civilization.

"There are crimes so dreadful that the pure and the chivalrous and the strong find it well nigh impossible to endure the thought that such a degenerate should pollute the earth by his presence. It is easy to theorize about the anarchy of mob law, but the same hand which penned the calm editorial might be the first to grasp the torch if it was a mother, wife or daughter who was the victim.

"I say that when you look at a lynch ing from another viewpoint, it is simply the bursting forth of an indignation and loathing that will not be checked. In the old testament days they made short work of such an offender.

"Lynching is certainly a bad method and forms the habit of disorder and makes man bloodthirsty. But if it is to be avoided there certainly is called for a more sure and speedy trial of these wretches, who often brazenly deny crime amid red tape of legal processes, but confess abjectly when confronted with determined men.

"It is useless to bring to trial good men who rise up to protect their firesides. The community will not bear it. If men object to being burned let them cease from crimes which make a na-

Riot at Monument Unveiling

Dublin, June 29.—During the unveiling at Arklow of a monumert to the rebels who fell in the battle of Arklow in 1798, at which ceremony 30,000 Nationalists were present, the latter collided with a band of street preachers, one of whom narrowly escaped death at the hands of the mob. The Louse in which he took refuge was wrecked. Several hundred policemen charged the Nationalists and many persons were in jured before the mob was mastered.

An Excuse For Regicides

Belgrade, June 29.-The official ac count of the recent assassinations is expected to be published shortly. It is understood that it will say that the conspirators did not intend to kill their majesties, but only to deport them. But they were incited to the murders by the attack of the king's secretary, who fired the first shot.

thurches Resume Services Jackson, Ky., June 29. For the first time in many months evening church services were held here last night. Prior to this time the citizens were afraid to leave their homes after dark. A feeling of security is returning to the citizens and every arrest strengthens their assurance. Large Warehouse In Ruins London, June 29 .- The freight depot of the Midland railway was destroyed by fire last night. It was one of the largest warehouse buildings in London and burned fiercely for several hours. The loss will be enormous, His Last Hope Realized. [From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.]

In the first opening of Oklahoma to sets tlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and atterward his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhœa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. Sugar and Tobacco Trusts St. Louis, June 29 .- Former Lieutenant Governor Lee makes the following statement: "Injustice has been done me by the publication of the reports about my having received $1000 from Havemeyer of the Sugar trust and $750 from the American Tobacco company. It is also falsely stated that John H. Carroll offered me $25,000 to keep out of the country until after Folk had left the circuit attorney's office. I am trying to make an honest living and while these stories cannot make matters much worse, it is neither right nor fair that they should be published."

LEE'S STATEMENT

Regarding Checks Received From the

Mr. Lee produced a statement showing that Aug. 19, 1902, he had deposited a check received from the American Sugar Refining company of New York. He also showed a small pamphlet made up of letters from grocers throughout the country relative to the proposition in congress to remove the tariff from raw sugar.

"Not only were the communications printed in both of my papers, but I spent $240 in sending 12,000 copies of them to the newspapers of the country. I had no understanding with Mr. Havemeyer about the amount which I was to receive, but he voluntarily sent me a check for $1000. It was for services rendered and had absolutely nothing to do with any legislation.

"I was nominated for lieutenant governor June 5, 1900. I received a check for $750 from a representative of the American Tobacco company. This money was for campaign expenses and I took it simply as an act of friendship from the dozen or so former St. Louis tobacco men. Another tobacco man gave one of my managers a check for $250 for the same purpose. It was simply an act of friendship on their part and nothing more."

Half a Hundred Years Old

Nashua, N. H., June 29.-The celebration of the semi-centennial of Nashua as a city has commenced and never before in the city's history has there been such a lavish display of flags and bunting as at present. Special services were held yesterday in the parts of the city. churches, and sermons appropriate to the occasion were delivered. A sacred concert was given on the south common, participated in by nearly 1000 schoolchildren. This feature attracted nearly 10,000 people.

Constable Neglected His Duty Napanee, Ont., June 29.-Gideon Burts killed his wife yesterday by battering her head with a stove-lifter. He was insane. A constable had a warrant for his arrest Saturday, but on his earnest entreaties Burts was allowed to retain his liberty. After committing the crime Burts hunted up the constable and invited him to see what he had done.

Burlington's Police Muddle

Montpelier, Vt., June 29.-Mayor Burke of Burlington, who recently suspended Chief of Police Brownell and assumed the duties of that office in that city, has been ordered to appear in court to answer a bill which prays for a temporary injunction to prevent him from interfering with the Burlington police department.

Citadel For Salvationists

Cleveland, June 29 .- A fine new citadel to be used as headquarters for the Salvation Army in this city and vicinity was dedicated Sunday. Senator Hanna was chairman of the occasion. He said if he had time to preach he would help the Salvation Army with his voice.

Tennis Championship Changes Hands Philadelphia, June 29.-Miss Marion Jones has lost the title of national tennis champion to Miss Elizabeth Moore, former champion. The match was the chief feature of the concluding day of the women's tennis tournament for the championship of the United States.

Minnetonka's Long Passage San Francisco, June 29. - The overdue steamer Minnetonka, on which reinsurance was quoted at 18 percent, arrived last evening from New York. The voyage of the big freighter was uneventful. She occupied SS days coming from New York.

POSTOFFICES LOADED DOWN

With Clocks Purchased at High Prices Without Advertisement For Bids-Additional Indictments Against Machen and the Groff Brothers

Washington, June 30 .- Postmaster Jeneral Payne has no news to make ublic regarding the postal investigations. The inspectors are busy and the nd is not yet in sight. Mr. Bristow ays that he can not approximate the late of the completion of the investigaon. Mr. Bristow is going to Maine to spend part of his vacation as soon as the investigation is over, but this may not be until late in the summer. Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden has returned here from Deroit. He was closeted with Payne and Bristow, with whom he discussed his recently published letter to the postmaster general calling for an investigation of the contract held by a manifolding company of Franklin, Pa. Mr. Madden explained his letter to the officials. It is understood that he expressed regret at having acted hastily and repudiated any intention of re flecting on officials of the department in connection with published criticisms of the contract. Mr. Madden has nothing to say for publication.

The grand jury has brought in addiional indictments against August W. Machen and Groff brothers, in the case of Machen for receiving a bribe and in the case of Groff brothers for giving a bribe. These indictments are brought in to cover three additional counts and to put the first indictment on the same footing as the second, which latter involved the Lorenzes of Toledo, O., in the charge of conspiracy to defraud. The defendants will be arraigned this Charges filed by N. K. Baker, agent of the Dey Time Register company of Syracuse, have brought the Bundy l'ime Clock company, George W. Beavers, and others, to the front again in the postal investigation. The charges have been referred to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow for inrestigation. The Bundy company is a concern in which George W. Dunn, chairman of the Republican state committee of New York, and Senator Greene of that state are interested. It tion. made a contract to furnish the postoffice department with time clocks. The usual custom is to make such contracts for a year, but the Bundy company somehow managed to get a fouryear contract. Nor was there any advertisement for bids or any competition whatever, contrary to the department's practice.

The department paid for these clocks from $100 to $125 each. The regular market price runs from $55 to $60 each, and a considerable reduction when the clocks are purchased in lots of a dozen or more. The department was loaded down with so many of these clocks that no more will be needed for a long time, which forestalls any competition for a new contract. Just before the department and the Bundy people came to terms a successful test was made of a similar invention owned by the Dey company. But though Postmaster Merritt of Washington made a favorable report on it, the Dey people were, they allege, put off with excuses until the Bundy contract had been made without their knowledge. Beavers, before leaving the department, asserted that he did not execute the contract with the Bundy people, but threw the blame on John W. Master, then chief clerk to First Assistant Postmaster General Johnson, who signed the contract as acting first assistant. The contract was in the form of a simple letter from Master.

Lying Idle For Fourteen Years Milwaukee, June 30 .- Evidence bearing upon the postal investigation has come to light in the Milwaukee postoffice. Stored away in one corner of the basement is a big pile of Groff fasteners that were sent to Milwaukee for some unknown reason, and without requisition, about 14 years ago. The fasteners, of which there are 2 1-4 tons, will probably never be used unless shipped to Washington. None has been used here since the day they were received. There are 1500 sets and the contract price was $1.25 a set. There is also stored in the basement a lot of Michigan. They were received about two years ago, without requisition.

The Reliance Wins Thirty-Mile Race With the Columbia and the Constitution.

THE BEGINNING OF A TOTAL ECLIPSE.

Newport, R. I., June 30 .- The new | made by his rivals, came about cuickly. cup defender Reliance proved her worth a move that gave Constitution a big as a heavy weather boat when she defeated the Columbia and Constitution in a stiff easterly breeze and lumpy sea over a 30-mile course, 15 miles of which was a beat to windward. The newest Herreshoff creation sailed the caurse in 4:09 less time than did the Columbia and 4:58 less than did the

What surprised the experts the nost was the performance of the Columbia. In the previous races between the three 90-footers the showing made by the older boat has caused people to say that she had gone back and at no time this season has the Constitution had any difficulty in beating her. All the racing in which these boats have participated up to the present has been in light airs and smooth water, but yesterday there | mary; was a smashing good wholesail breeze blowing and considerable jump to the water, conditions that are exactly suited Reliance12:15:24 3:25:17 3:09:53 to the Columbia. On the run home, however, with spinnakers and balloon jibs hoisted, the Reliance pulled away steadily from both her opponents, while the Constitution gained considerably on the Columbia. Captain Barr sailed the new sloop for all there was in her and gave her rigging and spars a thorough testing. Twice he wore ship when maneuvering for the start and on each occasion a gust of wind heeled the craft down until the water was nearly up to the hatches.

The race was the first of a series given by the New York Yacht club. The three 90-footers came down from their moorings in the harbor with their largest clubtopsails set in addition to the three lower sails. A breeze of 15 miles an hour was blowing when the first gun was fired. The committee had hoisted signals showing the course to be a beat of 15 miles to the eastward and a run to the finish.

Reliance plainly outfooted a: d outpointed Columbia while the latter "as getting away from Constitution. The new boat acted well in the choppy seas. At 12.35 Constitution came about and Captain Barr followed suit at once, well ahead and to the weather of Constitution. The two newest 90-footers stood along the cliff shore on the port tack, Reliance crossing the bows of Columbia by a comfortable margin and the latter doing the same trick to Constitution. When up to weather of the latter Columbia came about again. To get his wind clear Captain Rhoades tacked to starboard once more at 12:41 and Reliance went about at 12:46. Columbia, to hold her wind clear, also tacked to the starboard before Reliance had crossed her bow. The newest boat was outpointing Co-

Mrs. J. B. Goddu, mother of the wounded girl, has arrived from Winchester. Together with her other daughter, Alexina, she visited the victims of the shooting at the hospital. A FEW QUESTIONS.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Please permit an interested woman to ask some questions regarding the location of the new Atlantic schoolhouse. Why was there not a larger gathering to consider the matter of the location?

If fifteen cents is a large price to pay or the land on the corner of Faxon road and Squantum street why should the city be called upon to pay it? Is not some of the land low, and will it not have to be filled in with gravel? If so, will it have to be done at the expense of the city? In selecting the site at Faxon road was the matter of the comfort of the present generation of children taken in-Is it not true that the location is on he extreme south-eastern part of the district and joins the land of the Massachusetts Fields District? In that case would it not be as sensible to locate it near Neponset Bridge?

Is it not customary to locate schoolouses as nearly as possible in the centre of school population, that the distances may radiate from them as fairly as possible for the children who attend them, especially the youngest

Should not that matter be taken consideration in the present instance?

In fact, should there not be a conscientious effort made, without regard to whether the building is to be an mprovement to one section of Atlantic or to another, to place it just where it will be of the most advantage to the children who will occupy it?

What is to be done with the present ouilding in the event of a new location? Is not the present site a fine, high gravelly lot of land and was it not selected by Mr. Charles Francis Adams as a sightly spot?

Did not Lawyer Safford present the land to Atlantic for the purpose of erecting a school building? Is it not to be kept for the purpose?

Unless the children are to be benefited by the change why should not the present lot be utilized? To really accommodate the children s not the spot for building near the Woman.

Last Satarday afternoon I saw in the paper that the San Francisco Yacht club was to have a carnival of water sports, races, etc., at its club house at Sausalito on Sunday the 14th. Well I wasn't very enthusiastic about going, but thought it would be a pretty good Hampshire for the summer. way to kill time, so Sunday morning went over to Sausalio, which is just north of the Golden Gate, about seven miles from the city, and marched out to the club house and nailed a fellow at the door to let me in. He wanted to know who I was, and when I said I was a yachtsman from Boston he gave me the glad hand, took me in, and in-The monument stands 72 feet high, the troduced me to the commodore, port Wollaston Congregational church. captain, committee in charge, etc., etc.

I was "it," and fell all over themselves

As soon as the sports were over, the port captain came around with an invi tation for me to go to sail, which I of course accepted, and began to wonder what kind of an old booker he had, as there was only one real good looking boat in the fleet. It turned out that this was his boat, a Crowninshield by the way. I'll tell you more about it noon, covering a good part of the bay, when an attempt was made to launch and pointing out places of interest.

A Novel Plan.

There are many novel things at the Fore River Shipyard and the latest is the way the shavings from the carpenter and joiner shops are carried to the boiler room to be used as fuel. A large galvanized iron pipe runs over every machine in the shops and the shavings are sucked up into a larger pipe which extends to the roof of the boiler room. They are then blown through the pipe by means of a blower.

An Aid to Grace.

Every woman would like to be graceful, but very few woman are by nature as graceful as they might be if they would take a little trouble in the matter. English women, as a rule, are far behind French and Italian ladies probably is that their bodies are not so carefully trained.

In Spain and Italy women of the higher class are generally expert swordswomen, for they esteem fencing as one of the best possible athletic exercises, valuable alike for giving strength and grace to the body and alertness to the mind. Young girls, therefore, are taught to fence as carefully as their brothers and as accurate ly, and there are many schools where ladies practice not only with the foils but with the broadsword.

In America a few women of the "smart set" and a number of the younger actresses delight in fencing, but this form of athletics is by no means as popular as it deserves to be among the girls, and yet those few who take it up not only derive great physical benefit from it, but find it a mos fascinating and exhilarating exercise.

To blow bubbles seriously take a clay pipe, dip it in soapy water and blow as large a bubble as you can while seated. This must be done slowly and gradually or the bubble will burst. Then stand and do the same exercise when it has become quite easy. Now lie flat on your back on the floor, with shoulders well back and chin as high as possible, and blow your bubbles in this position. Another exercise is to lie flat on your face on a small square table, with feet extended and head and shoulders well back, then blow your bubbles. A SUDDEN SUMMONS

To Russian Leaders to Meet For Discussion of Manchurian Question Pekin, June 30 .- The Russian minister, M. Lesser, has been suddenly summoned to a conference with General Kurpatkin, the Russian war minister; Admiral Alexieff, in command of the Russian fleet in the Pacific; M. Pokotiloff, manager of the Russo-Chinese bank at Pekin, and other oificers at Port Arthur regarding Russia's position in Manchuria. M. Lessar leaves here July 1. Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 30.-While President Roosevelt manifested the deepest interest in the dispatch from Pekin announcing a conference of Russian officials at Port Arthur on the Manchurian question, he made no comment upon it for publication. It was the first news of the proposed conference he had received, but he is fully alive to its importance. The president is in close touch by telegraph with the state department and any developments of concern in foreign affairs will be transmitted promptly to him by Secretary

Fine Point Adjudicated

New York, June 30 .- After a long contested law suit brought against Lim by an English manufacturer of woolen goods, James Talcott, a dry goods commission merchant, was given a decision which is of importance to all buyers and sallers of dry goods by samples. By it Talcott is not compelled to pay $17,028 claimed by the foreign house for goods which he says were not "up to sample." "If a merchant purchased goods by sample and finds that they are not equal in quality to sample, he need not return them to the seller in order to recover for breach of warranty." This is the substance of the opinion given by Judge Van of the court of appeals.

More Trouble Brewing In Hayti Port au Prince, Hayti, June 30.-The foreign minister and the minister of the interior have resigned and no successor has yet been appointed to the late minister of finance, who resigned because he was opposed to prosecuting the inquiry into the financial scandal. In an address to soldiers, President Nord vigorously denounced the attitude of the chamber, the senate and the national bank as being hostile to his government. The troops shouted "Down with the chambers."

Figuring on Pope's Death

Rome, June 30 .- Although the health of the pope is improved the Italian government is prepared to reinforce the garrison in the city so that the authorities will have a sufficient force to maintain order and insure the liberty of the conclave should it become 1 ecessary to hold one. If the cardinals decide to meet at the Vatican the government will surround the palace with a cordon of troops to prevent any attempt against the freedom of the conclave.

Servian Statesmen Quarreling Belgrade, June 30 .- At yesterday's sitting the skupshtina demanded that the new government should present itself to the chamber, but the government declined to do so on the ground that the ministry was the same as that previously approved by the skuptshtina. The independent radicals demand a dissolution and an immediate general The situation is not clear and King Peter's troubles have apparently begun.

Evans Scents Trouble

Washington, June 30.-Rear Admiral Evans has again called attention to the necessity of maintaining an adequate force of marines at Olongapo, in the event of an emergency in China. He regards the internal unrest there with apprehension. The marine corps is 500 short of its full quota and an effort will be made to secure the additional 500 in the third degree. Cannon was one of men for dispatch to the Philippines in the autumn.

Slipshod Business Methods

Washington, June 30 .- From an inquiry recently set on foot by District Commissioner West it has developed that there has been practically no auditing of the cash boks and tax ledgers in the offices of the collector, assessor and the auditor for the District of Columbia for a period of five years, although an order to do so was issued several years ago.

Crotians In Rebellious Mood

Vienna, June 30 .- One thousand peasants at Kopreinitz, Croatia, attacked the troops quartered there. The soldiers fired on the mob, killing five persons and wounding several others. So many persons have been arrested at Warasdin, where disturbances also occurred, that the prisons are full and the authorities are using private houses and stables as prisons.

The Beef Trust's Rival Kansas City, June 30.-Representatives of the United States Packing company, organized to compete with retary Martin of the company $1.750,000 has already been subscribed.

No Disturbance at Richmond Richmond, June 30.-Cars were run regularly on all the city lines yesterday and last night the number of militia guards on the cars was diminished and the passenger travel decidedly greater. There are no indications of the strikebeing declared off, however.

QUESTIONS TO POTTER

IS ACCUSED OF IDOLATRY

Anti-Ritualist Says Consecration Oath Has Been Violated by Permitting the "Mass and Bun Worship," Held to Be "Erroneous and Strange"

New York, June 30 .-- Rev. R. C. | Fillingham, vicar of Hexton, Eng., the apostle of anti-Ritualism, who sailed for England today, sent the following letter last night to Bishop Henry C. Potter:

"Before leaving this country to resume my duties in my own parish in England and to conduct my campaign against idolatry in my own church, I desire to address to you a few further remarks.

"I am giving this to the press. You seem to fear the press and dislike publicity, but my experience is that the press of New York is on the side of righteousness and justice and its representatives are courteous gentlemen. with whom it is a pleasure to have to do.

"I had no idea of making a commotion in this city. Traveling for rest, I attended public worship, not the worship of God, but of a senseless bun, at the church of St. Mary the Virgin on Sunday week, and I felt compelled to call your attention and that of the public to the idolatry of which I am the witness. Your reply was not worthy of a Christian or a gentleman, and I have no doubt but that by this time you are heartily ashamed of it. For my part, I condone a letter evidently written in a moment of hot-headed passion.

"I am, if God spares me, to return to this country early in the new year and conduct a campaign against idolatry here and in other cities of the United States. My American friends do not regard me as an impertinent interloper, but are glad to join hands with one of the Anglo-Saxon race, from v hichever side of the ocean he may happen to come.

"I wish to remind you of one thing before I leave. When you were consecrated to the high office of bishop, you were asked: Are you ready with all faithful diligence to banish and drive away from the church all erroneous and strange doctrines contrary to God's word and both privately and openly to call upon and encourage others to do the same?' Solemnly, in the presence of God and the congregation, at the most serious moment of your life, you replied: 'I am ready, the lord being my helper.

"I merely want to ask you now, was that a lie or the truth? Were you lying to God when you were consecrated bishop of New York? You know as well as I do that the blasphemous memories, the mass and the bun-worship are held by our common church to be 'erroneous and strange doctrine.' Will you do what you promised, calling upon God to help you, or will you not? "That is all I have to ask you. I hope the American public will find by your answer that you are a true man, a man resolved to do his duty and Leep his word.'

Illegal Arrests In Raid

New York, June 30 .- Warrants bave been asked for the arrest of Police Inspectors Smith and Wiegand, Police Captain Hogan and Detectives Lynch and McAleese, on the affidavits of James W. Cannon, who charges assault the many arrested in a raid on an alleged gambling house. He says no charge was preferred against him and that after a certain time he was liberated. District Attorney Jerome admits that most of these arrests were illegally made, but says Inspector Smith acted in good faith.

To Face Serious Accusations

San Francisco, June 30 .- Colonel Howze, who has recently been in command of a Porto Rico regiment, has arrived here enroute to the Philippines. He is going to the Philippines at his own request to appear before a court of inquiry which is to be appointed to investigate certain accusations that he caused the death of two Filipinos who, it is said, he caused to be whipped at the stake so cruelly that they died from their injuries.

Copper Workers Idle

Butte, Mont., June 30 .- The big smelter of the Amalgamated Copper company at Anaconda has shut down for an indefinite period, throwing 1500 men idle. The workmen allege that it is done to forestall a probable strike for higher wages on July 1. The mines at Butte, from which the Anaconda amelter drew its ore supply, also closed today, affecting more than 2000 other

Crowded Elevator Gave Way

Pittsburg, June 30 .- The breaking of shaft on the first floor of the H. J. Heinz company's plant in Allegheny released the ropes supporting a freight elevator on which 23 persons were crowded. The cage fell from the fifth floor into the cellar, a distance of 45 feet, and every one on the elevator was injured. It is thought that at least two will die.

Cut Down by Many Millions New York, June 30.-The executors and trustees of the estate of former Judge Henry Hilton report that it amounts all told to $6,249,509. Its value was computed originally at $20,-1 900,000.

IN FULL OPERATION Help For Harney Factory Supplied by the Knights of Labor

Lynn, Mass., June 30.-There was a demonstration last night when the new lasters from Haverhill who have replaced the Boot and Shoe Workers' union operatives came from their work in Harney Bros.' factory. Some 175 Knights of Labor cutters were waiting in front of the factory, and when the new men emerged took them under escort to their hall. On the opposite side of the street were 150 Boot and Shoe Workers' union men lined, and they hurled jeers and epithets at the strike breakers, but offered no violence.

When the lasters reached the street in front of Knights of Labor hall they were surrounded by B. and S. W. U. men, who pleaded with them to give up their fight, and their arguments became so heated that a large crowd was attracted and traffic was delayed. All seemed to be talking at the same time, and the confusion became so great that a squad of police was sent to clear the street.

Harney Bros. secured a dozen more lasters from Haverhill yesterday and expect others from North Adams today. They already have a larger force at work than they had previous to the strike.

Bride Thought Husband a Bigamist Chicago, June 30.-Lieutenant Mc-Cue. U. S. A., has been confronted with a charge of bigamy. Several days ago he arrived at a Chicago hotel with a bride of two weeks. The bride was nearly prostrated yesterday when she heard that another woman claimed to be the lieutenant's wife. McCue had left the hotel and the bride, believing that she had been deserted, made arrangements to return to her parents in San Francisco. A few minutes before midnight McCue returned, stating that he had spent the day at Fort Sheridan. The bride in the meantime had left the hotel and up to a late hour McCue had not been able to find her. He positively denies the charge of bigamy.

Our Jackies Excel In Sports

Kiel, June 30.-The American menof-war's men won two firsts, a second and a third in the races against the boats of the German fleet. The Americans had five boats entered in four events, while the Germans had 37, and the American crews were not familiar with the course and had not specially trained for the occasion. The jackies | European squadron. of the Kearsarge last night gave a minstrel show and boxing exhibition. Twenty men and four officers from each | dispute in a saloon at Savannah, Ga. of the German ships were present. It German sailors had seen boxing.

Negro Mass Meeting Not Held Wilmington, Del., June 30 .- The proposed mass meeting of negro residents of Wilmington to protest against lynchings and take steps to protect the negro population of this vicinity was not held last night. Chief of Police Black made a request of influential men to use their influence against the holding of a meeting at this time.

To Test Vaccination Law

Washington, June 30.-The case of Heming Jacobson of Cambridge, Mass., vs. the commonwealth of Massachu-States supreme court. The point in- are the largest in the south. volved is the constitutionality of the Massachusetts law making vaccination compulsory. The law was upheld by the state courts.

A Crazy Farmer's Deed

Altoona, Pa., June 30 .- John Claas, an aged farmer, while temporarily insane, stabbed his wife four times, killing her. He then attacked his son with an axe, but the son overpowered him. The son left the house to summon assistance and upon returning found the man had hanged himself.

Progress on Irish Land Bill

London, June 30 .- The house of commons yesterday devoted about six hours to the Irish land bill, accepting clauses IV to X, with scarcely any alteration. A number of amendments were offered and withdrawn later. Progress was reported at midnight and the house adjourned.

New Record In Golf Milwaukee, June 30 .-- L. T. Boyd of this city established a new amateur golf record on the links of the Milwaukee Country club, making the nine holes in 34. There is no authentic record of any other such score over a regulation course in America, [From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.] In the first opening of Oklahoma to sets tlers in 1389, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterward his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhæa which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of OF FIRST - CLASS Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.
